KILLING FLIES.

New York Press Flies are hateful insects. One has to write about them. Where are all the chemists in the world, that we are not informed of some method of keeping the pestiferous creatures out of houses? There is a gummy paper which tangles up their feet so that they cannot get away. They linger and die. Sometimes you sit down on that paper and lose the seat of your trousers, as Colonel Higginbotham did. There is another paper which you immerse in water. It poisons the flies. They get sick in a short time and die. They fall all around. They drop into plates, cups, glasses, etc. Mrs. Jones put a dish of this poisoned water on her dressing table, forgot it, laid her new silk dress over it and now is heartbroken. The dress is eternally ruined, for the stain will never come out. There are sundry fly traps, but they are disagreeable things to look at when filled with hapless prisoners. I have been told that the canstow plant in a room will drive out all flies, but we are not obliged to believe all we hear.

LABOR LEADERS JAILED.

Chicago, July 3.—Jail sentences have been imposed on two labor leaders by Judge Jesse Hoffman. One of the men required to pay fines. The men were adjudged in contempt of court for failure to respect the injunction restraining them from interfering with the business of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Company. Arthur A. Hopkins, business agent of the Brass Moulders' Union, was sent to the county jail for three months and fined $100. William Lynch, who was fined $100, was ordered to serve thirty days. John O'Brien and Thomas Queenan were fined $100 each. The court gave eleven women strikers until July 20 to prove by their conduct that there will be no further violation of the injunction on their part.

HIG MAY DIE.

Tilbury, July 3.—While returning home from Fletcher this afternoon, Mr. John Richardson of Tilbury East met with a serious accident near here. His horse became frightened, running away and completely demolishing his rig. Mr. Richardson was thrown out on his head and shoulders. The physicians report him as doing favorably, but on account of his advanced age they fear he may not stand the shock.

IT WOULD BE BETTER.

Bob, Ind.—The spectacle of a quarrel between a Christian congregation, and the pastor who has served for 20 years, is not a pretty one. True, that age gets cranky, and you quickly give evidence of an age limit for compulsory retirement on an allowance, would be a better ending for cases that linger too long in the centre of life's little plays.

Poisoned by Green Goods.

Detroit, July 3.—Charles Alger, postmaster of Hammbal, Mo., lies at the residence of his brother, United States Senator Alger, in a semi-conscious condition, and physicians are unable to determine whether he is suffering from excessive heat or from poison administered by enemies. It is said that Mr. Alger has been instrumental in suppressing the work of "green goods" men in Missouri, and it is believed he came into contact with a representative of green-goods men in Cleveland.

Not All Golden Sunshine.

Circulars have been received by local union organizations from "the warning Canadians and others to stay away from that street and not be lured there by the specious promises and captivating tales of certain capitalists. 'Don't be deceived,' says the circular. 'California is over run with people unable to secure work unless they work for starvation wages.'

Grasshopper Raida Kill Cattle.

Burke, Mont., July 3.—Prof. Coolidge of the State Agricultural College, at Bozeman, has returned from an investigation of the grasshopper ridden district about Forsyth. He says that the insects have devoured everything in a strip seventy miles long and five miles wide, and that as a consequence of their raids, range conditions are very serious. He says that the plains are dotted with cattle that have starved to death as a result of the grasshopper raids.

VETERINARY HAD TROUBLES.

Quarantined for Scarlet Fever, The Doctor Disagreed.

Editor World: I feel it my duty to inform the public of my isolation for scarlet fever, which is generally believed to be a mistaken diagnosis by M.H.O.; also to show the weakness of the Health Act and how we are helpless and strangers to fair play when the M.H.O. and Board of Health are armed to the teeth with authority. They may make mistakes to the extreme and are protected, but there are no provisions of protection or any remuneration for the victim. I am practicing veterinary medicine and surgery, and on May 28 I called Dr. Hounel, M.H.O., to take my temperature. He said I had bronchitis and gave me a poultice bottle for the cough. This was the last and only medicine I took and on the 30th he diagnosed scarlet fever. He then reported to the Board of Health that I had a dangerous form of scarlet fever. All symptoms, sore throat, red as a lobster, (I was head to foot, and that I had slept in a house where scarlet fever was once at least.

June 1 the M.H.O. left my room and went on a large excursion among children of all ages. In the afternoon two medical doctors examined me thoroughly and found me scarlet fever. The Board of Health met in the evening and gave no attention to the opinion of my two doctors, and did not give them a chance to meet the board, and placarded my boarding house.

June 2 my constipated Provincial Secretary of the Board of Health and Inspector Hodgekiss said I must have scarlet fever, but the other doctors, including the M.H.O. However, he would see me, which he did next day, the 3rd, and reported to the board his diagnosis of scarlet fever. He then ordered me to the local Medical Health Office and that he did not recognize the other doctors.

June 4, I was taken in a grocery wagon to spend the balance of six weeks alone in quarantine in an isolation hospital, which was a frame structure with shanty top, not water proof and open walls, making a play house for squirrels and cats, and mosquitoes, a stink of timber to lean against, and a lot of dirt. A couple of benches and bedstead of rough lumber, with a large box stove comprised the furniture. To bed water on the wall nearest to step outside or roast beside. On June 10 after four days of cold hunger, I started a fire and a quart from the stove, which extended about 15 inches above the roof, burned the shanty down.

They set up a small tent, only large enough for my bed. The night turned wet and cold, rain coming thru the holes in the tent, and I had wet clothes to wear next day, with no change of drying them, which was very uncomfortable. The weather continued more or less damp and cold for the balance of quarantine, and for the next 18 days I preferred to sleep with my clothes on to the damp bed. June 18 M.H.O. set up a camp stove in another tent, which was so small that I could not sit; 15 inches from the stove.

June 23, after five days of cold, the wind and rain woke me, to find everything in the tent soaking. I left the tent and went to a log barn. Returning, I met the veterinary inspector, who took me to my horse stable, where I got dry clothes, and they were agreeable to leave me in the stable till the 30th. My time would not expire till the 30th. My time being left in the tent, and wet, they gave me a sleep robe as a substitute for one on for the next four nights.

During my isolation weeks letters and papers were carried to and fro by men, women and children. My visitors came in, closed range, shoes, hands, and the iron pipe, slept on my bed, etc., and on five days numbered from 14 to 20. They were common, consisting of families. When they were here, they would allow me to build a stable and bring my horse and trunk there, and to busi-ness with the public. He would allow me to take my horse to hotel stable and meet the public, with the exception of the but would not allow me to go to my stable under the same conditions. These offers I refused.

After I left the boarding house the M.H.O. attempted to fumigate and in some hunting manner set fire to the floor and burnt the wooden in the room. I was sleeping in a house where scarlet fever existed, which I can prove. I did not come in contact with any person who had scarlet fever, and I had no sore throat, and out of six medical doctors who examined me, the M.H.O. was the only one to positively say I had scarlet fever, and he did not swear to it. With all due respect for his health, Ontario Public Health Act is most unfair.

POINTS ABOUT PEOPLE.

Gen. Joubert's chair, made of ebony, oak horns and hides, and captured from his hanger at Lisabon, near Lydenberg, is now treasured by Lieut.-Col. Strimston at Glenmoyne, Sound of Mull.

A marble bust of George Stephenson was unveiled at the railway station at Rome recently. The bust was presided by the Institution of Civil Engineers to the municipality of Rome as a supplement to the tablet placed in the vestibule of the railway station at Rome in 1881 to commemorate the centenary of the birth of the father of the railways system.

Senators Blackburn and Lindsay of Kentucky were once traveling together thru the Alleghany Mountains. Blackburn went into the smoking room and returned in a few minutes looking so much depressed that Lindsay asked: "What's the matter, Joe?" "Why, I've lost the better part of my baggage," said Blackburn, in heartbroken tones. "Was it stolen or did you leave it behind?" "Worse than either—the cork came out."

Arthur Barclay, the newly elected president of Liberia, is of pure African stock, born in Jamaica, where his parents emigrated to the African Republic when he was still a child. He has already held several government positions there, among them those of post-master-general and secretary of the treasury. At his inauguration, which takes place in December, Mr. Barclay will become the thirteenth president since Liberia became independent in 1847.

A seaman on board the Discovery of the English Antarctic expedition says that for 12 months they had lived on seal all the time, except Sundays, when they had mutton. The problem of eating in the presence of the seal's achievement. No wonder the sailor wrote: "I reckon if they turned the ship's company out in a field with plenty of grass these would not be much left."

H. H. Judger, President J. Wood, Manager THE ROBERT SIMPSON COMPANY, LIMITED Saturday, July 4 STORE CLOSÉS AT 5.30.

Twenty Good Substantial Reasons Why You Should Shop Early Monday Morning.

You know why we are making an unusually earnest effort to "crowd" business just now. We want to make this a bigger and a better store. We want to increase our selling space by one-sixth. We want to add a whole flat to the active business part of the store. That's the whole effort of the store on Monday. The stock-room must first be cleared, then we'll all "move up one" and breathe afresh. That explains why prices have such little relation to values in the following extraordinary list:

- 1 Ladies' 1.25 Kid Gloves, 25c
