Refuge in Legation.

Royalists then attacked the house of M. Kalopthekis, translator for the American legation. He took refuge in the American legation, where the minister is protecting him. But the house occupied by his sister and servants had been besieged for two days.

A neutral diplomat, who saw the removal of Gen. Corakas, head of the Vemizelos recruiting bureau, and the former chief of police, Maroudas, from the parliament house, described their condition as pitiable. General Corakas looked as tho he had been almost killed. According to the description, blood poured from his head. His clothes had been torn, his eyes were blackened and swollen from blows received during his examination before the magistrate. His companions were in even worse condition. Photographs now in the hands of the British were taken of these men.

Shot in Cold Blood.

Another prominent Venizelist was shot down in cold blood, while Mr. Rendel, a British diplomat, whose house was attacked, says he saw another prominent man named Descali repeatedly clubbed with 'rifles in the hands of regulars and kicked in the hody until he fell unconsclous. Mr. Rendel also reports that while he was in jail he saw a number of Venizelists kicked and clubbed.

The despatches state that the correspondents have impartial testimony to the 'effect that no shots were fired from Mr. Rendel's house, which was not only fired into by regular soldiers, but that the soldiers farced their way into the house to the room of Mr. Rendel's sister, who was ill in bel,

The railway service between Athens and Piraeus is not interrupted, but the telegraph and telephone lines have been cut by Royalists.

Rome. Dec. 6.—The allies do not desire to force Greece into war, nor do they support any anti-dynastic movement in Greece, asserted Premier Boselli in his report on the war, delivered before the chamber of deputies yesterday. Premier Boselli reiterated the demand of Italy to maintain the war with her allies until the restoration of Belgium, Serbia and Montenegro was accomplished. He termed this "the noble and essential objecthe war." At the close of his speech he sent a message of greeting to "our valorous Latin sister, Roumania," trusting for her final success.

As a proof that Italy was prepared to push her operations vigorously, the premier announced that there were now 2100 factories working on war material, the workers being one-fifth women, whose participation both in industries and agriculture was increasing daily. The premier declared that victory would ensure the equilibrium on the eastern Mediterranean, which he termed one of the chief foundations of Italian policy.

He said that Valona would be Italy's strategic post on the Adriatic, from which would radiate her future commercial expansion in the Balkans.

Record Crowd Visits Guelph for Third Day of Show.

By a Staff Reporter.
Guelph, Dec. 6.—Favored by fair weather the winter fair today was at-tended by the largest crowd of the week. Incoming trains were crowded with farmers who came from far and near. As usual the judging ring attracted the larger number and the judging of the Canadian bred Clydescales was the event of first import-snce. Several new features drew many visitors. The exhibition of dressed bacon and butcher hogs and sheep which had been killed the day before was interesting. The display of dressed poultry and eggs was opened and many congregated in the seed room when sales of grain and seed were conducted during both the morning and afternoon.

Weird Effects. A battle in the fog—and nearly every detached engagement in this struggle on the Somme could be classed as a battle by ordinary standards, is a welrdly mysterious and uncanny affair. A roar, a flash of rer flame, and out into the leaden mist shrieks a shell on its well intended mission of death and destruction. "This is where it should fall," remarks the gunner as he points to a map with a pair of compasses. "We will put another its passes. "We will put another just over here," and bang goes the gun again. In the deepness of the fog the battery seems to shoot into a little drab world all its own.

The Germans, however, have been bombarding one of their recently lost positions. It is a favorite occupation of the German gunners—this shelling a position they know so well, after they had been driven from it. And such "strafing" calls for a reply, even if the enveloping fog permits one to see scarcely beyond the grim muzzle of the giant gun itself.

Guelph, Ont., Dec. 6.—Seed and grain were sold by auction today. The morning was devoted to the selling of grain grown on fields which were entered in the field crop competition and in the afternoon the sale was open to all classes. It was noticeable that the afternoon prices were uniformly higher, and much prices were uniformly higher, and much the sale was open to all classes.

Sadly alone and detached the little party seemed, and all the while they reverently toiled cross currents of shells were swishing and whining thru the overhanging mist in the strangest of requiem chants.

Oddly enough, foggy and misty days are generally succeeded by beautiful starlit frosty nights and the clearest possible atmosphere, and the guns are always heard grumbling and barking thru the crystal darkness. With the coming of dawn, however, the mists sweep in again from the sea and limit the Vatteries once more to "firing by the map." Aerial Mastery.

The British gunners, particularly the heavies, are longing to have their "syes" again—the aeroplanes. The cooperation of the air craft with the great guns has been one triumph of the new British armies and a factor in which the Reynolds, Elora, is the champion officers of the higher commands cannot be over-estimated. The allies feel they have complete mastery of the air on the western front, and that mastery of the air means mastery of the ar-

Guelph, Dec. 6 .- The fine display of the arious classes in the different breeds of wine came to the close this afternoon, as regards the awarding of prizes: In the dressed carcasses the order is I. J. U. Featherstone, Streetsville; 2, Charles Boynton, Dollar; 3. J. E. Breth-our & Nephews, Burford. In the butcher hogs, dressed carcasses: 1. P. J. McEwen, Wyoming; 2. John S. Cowan, Atwood; 3, William Boynton,

There were seven prizes awarded among the 14 contestants.

The bacon hogs living numbered 24 pairs. The four prizes won in the order named: J. E. Brethour & Nephews, Burford; John Duck. Port Credit; Charles Boynton, Dollar, and J. K. Featherstone, Streetsville. It is worthy of remark that John Duck won all the championships in the Yorkshires and Yorkshire herds. One of the ambittions of the late Joseph Featherstone, who contested each year to reach first place in the class of bacon hogs (dressed), was represented by his son, following in his steps. Bacon hogs thrive on the farms around Toronto, as revealed by the judge's awards at Guelph Fair.

ONLY ONE WAYTO GET IT

Lawrence's Bread is Not Sold in Stores. It is Delivered Privately and Only on Individual Order---By Mail or by Phone

Thousands of people have been to the stores for Lawrence's Bread, and have had some sort of bread handed to them as filling the order. Lawrence's Bread is not sold in stores. One grocer was honorable enough to say to his customer: "YOU CAN'T BUY LAWRENCE'S BREAD IN STORES; YOU CAN ONLY BUY IT DIRECT; GO AND TELEPHONE YOUR ORDER, FOR HE OUGHT TO BE PATRONIZED. IF LAWRENCE SOLD BREAD TO STORES, I WOULD NOT BUY ANY OTHER." The fact is Lawrence's Bread is sold at the lowest price to the customer. If good bread could be sold to the stores for 7 cents, it could be sold to the private customer for that price. Lawrence's Bread is the only bread baked in Canada that sells as low to private trade as to stores, and is the only bread that cannot be reduced below 8 cents a loaf on account of its quality. If other bakers can sell bread wholesale for 7 cents, why can't they sell it to private customers for that price? The answer is plain. If they sell for 7 cents, they can not give the quality they did at 8 and 9 cents. When a baker rails against Lawrence's big campaign for 8-cent bread by saying that he is making "cheap" bread to sell at 8 cents, how do they cover up their own policy of selling bread for 7

Quality in Bread is for the Public to judge. Whether you pay 7 cents, 8 cents or 9 cents, decide for yourself as to Quality.

All I ever asked the public was that they should give my bread a fair trial. There are thousands of families in Toronto who will testify that for over twenty years they have found Lawrence's Bread of a far superior quality to any other. In asking you to SEND YOUR ORDER TO "THE MAN WHO PUT DOWN THE PRICE OF BREAD," I am really asking you to take better bread at a lower price than you could get if you were to stay on indefinitely patronizing high-priced bakers. It is necessary for me to secure 6,000 more customers to make up the 10,000 I originally aimed to get. Have you done your part in this good work of helping the cause of bread-price-reduction by sending your order? MANY HAVE VOL. UNTEERED TO HELP AND HAVE URGED THEIR FRIENDS AND NEIGH BORS TO SEND THEIR ORDERS TO LAWRENCE'S BAKERY. WILL YOU DO THE SAME? LET EVERY MAN AND WOMAN WHO WANT TO SEE 8-CENT BREAD A PERMANENT PRICE INSTEAD OF 9 CENTS OR EVEN 10 CENTS, JOIN ENTHUSIASTICALLY IN TRYING TO BRING IN THE 6,000 MORE CUSTOMERS.

I want to thank the scores who have already given me such co-operation. I appreciate the help and the loyalty to a cause every man and woman can justly feel is his or her own.
