Just Arrived From Paris--Billows of Exquisite Hand-sewn Lingerie

Embroidered and Scalloped in Characteristically Charming Fashion--With That Simplicity of Cut Which is So Effective, and That Daintiness of Stitch for Which the French Needle-woman is Far-famed

DELAY IN MANY AND DIVERSE FORMS has attended its coming, but here it is at last—lingerie filmy, and lovely as dainty woman expects from Paris, the great stronghold of fine furbeles. Corset-covers, night gowns, petticoats, combinations—all are included in the shipment, charmingly designed and exquisitely hand-embroidered, the edges scalloped in the usual Frenchy manner. The following items give some idea of variety and values:

Corset Covers

In French linen embroidered in solid floral style, with invisible tape at neck, at $1.00, or with eyelet embroidery and ribbon run through eyelets, at $1.25; in fine nainsook with ribbon at neck, embroidered with bow knots at $2.00, and increasing in fineness and beauty of embroidery, at $2.50, $3.00 and $3.25, an exquisite little cover with a short slashed sleeve being $5.00.

Smart Gowns From New York

In Georgette Crepe, Voile, Crepe de Chine, and Linen--Many of Them Appropriate for All-the-year-round Wearing--Prices Running From $11.50 to $35.00

WARM OR COLD, WET OR DRY, whatever the vagaries of the weather, the soft, smart little frock claims a place in the wardrobe. And here is a group of models full of daintiness and New York chic—delightful for afternoons, Sundays, and informal evenings, whether indoor or out. To describe a few of them:

Charming model in white georgette crepe, the graceful coat-bodice bordered and collared with navy blue silk patterned with white coin dots. Price, $32.50.

Wonderfully smart gown in white handkerchief lawn, the wide skirt showing a deep shaped flounce of primrose yellow linen, the loose blouse being banded with the same. Price, $30.

Dainty little frock in white voile, the two tiers of the skirt finished in deep scallops, the frill at the neck which cascades gracefully down the front being similarly treated, a girle of turquoise blue silk completing a very winsome little gown. Price, $13.50.

Most attractive, too, a white voile model in fashionable Russian blouse style, bordered and belted with apricot voile. Price, $28.00. Likewise in coat style, a modish dress in apricot voile. Price, $11.50. Smart as can be, a model in crepe de chine finely striped in black and white with sleeves of georgette crepe. Price, $35.00.

And in white butchers' linen, a very clever, picturesque gown, having a deep cape collar of apricot linen, glimpses of beige and of this pinkish-yellow linen between the box pleats in the skirt. Price, $30.00.

Silk Dresses Reduced to $15.00 for Wednesday
Most of them are individual models cleverly designed in crepe de chine, taffeta and silk marquisette, the skirts fashionably wide with collars and chemisettes of organdy, lace or Georgette. Included in the offering is a wonderfully smart sports dress in fine jersey silk in a most artistic jade green, also another coat-model in wool jersey cloth in old rose shade. A charming gown with quaint bouffant skirt is in shot taffeta in apple green tones. These will be reduced for Wednesday selling to $15.00—some of them half-price.

Drawers—In French linen in straight style with scalloped edge and embroidery at $1.00 and $1.25, with side slashed and finished with bow of ribbon at $1.50, and in nainsook at $2.00, $2.50 and $4.00, those at the latter price being lace-edged; in umbrella style with embroidered frill in French linen at $1.25 and $2.50; and in straight style in beautiful fine nainsook embroidered and lace-edged at $7.50.

Combinations (Corset-Covers and Straight Drawer)—In French linen embroidered at neck and at knees of drawer, at $3.00 and $4.00, and in semi-fitting princess style at $2.75; in fine nainsook with heading and ribbon at waistline, attractive models at $4.50, $5.00 and $7.50, one in surplice style, delightfully embroidered, being $10.00.

Night-Gowns—In French linen, in slip-over kimona style embroidered in solid effect, at $2.00 and $2.50; in fine nainsook with round yoke delicately embroidered in eyelet design, at $2.00, also at the same price one with open front and high neck; with V-shape neck and eyelet embroidery, at $3.50 and $4.50; with deep yoke and kimona shoulder at $5.00; a particular beauty in Empire style, the high waist run with ribbon, at $5.50; and other exquisite slip-over models at $7.50 and $8.75.

Petticoats—All are in fine flaring style, one with deep shaped flounce with button-hole edge at $2.25, or with scallops and dots, at $2.75; others with gathered flounce scalloped at edge with embroidery above, with dust frill underneath, at $4.50; a lovely little straight skirt embroidered exquisitely with square scallops, at $6.25, and many others of exceptional beauty, the embroidering in bowknot and floral designs, at $7.50 and $10.50.

Such Fascinating French Neckties
In Antique Gilt and Silver Effects Combined With Barbaric Beads, Some Beautifully Carved

JADE, AMBER, coral, ivory and precious gems have been imitated in that magic way that Paris knows how to imitate for her novelty jewelry. And these set into chains of antique gilt or pewter-like silver, constitute some of the most artistic neckties you could imagine. Tassels of gay rich silk serve by way of pendant to some of them, others show silk cord intertwined with the gems and metal. Charming for wear with Summer costumes, they are moderately priced at $1.75 and $2.75, with similar neckties more elaborately carved and jeweled at $4.50 and $5.00.

Also most attractive and colorful are the shorter neckties of New York make, likewise in gilt and oxidized finish, in green, deep blue, purple and dark green beads, prices running from 75c to $5.00.

Bloomer Dresses for Little Girls
The Bloomers Detachable and in No Way Detracting From the Smart Appearance of the Frock.

DIGGING IN THE SAND, scrambling over the rocks or romping in the garden, little Miss Four-Year-Old and her smaller sister are surely neater and completer in bloomer dresses such as that our artist has sketched than in any other you could select for them.

It is made of pink or blue chambray, the skirt fastening to the waist in quaint Oliver Twist effect, the collar and cuffs being of white muslin. The bloomers beneath are also of the chambray, buttoned to the waist. It may be had in sizes 2, 3 and 4—price, $3.95.

A very cunning little dress in pink or blue chambray, smocked in black, is likewise equipped with bloomers. It is in one-piece, long-waisted French style, the belt, collar and cuffs featherstitched in black. This, too, may be had in sizes 2, 3 and 4, price, $4.95.

You were Inquiring?

High School Girl—You might as well expect apples to remain on the branches of a tree overhanging the road as to fancy that any of those special sports skirts might be left the week after they were shown. But there are others like them at $2.50—in tan crash with awning stripes of blue, tan, pink or black. They are 2 1/4 yards wide around the ankles, and boast the fashionable patch pocket.

Brownie—And you, too, cherish the same ambition for stripes. Well, if the crash skirt described for High School Girl above does not meet your wishes, there is a smart model in Palm Beach cloth, with green and natural awning effect, at $6.75. It is a very smartly tailored garment, in the universal flare style with belt and two shirred pockets. In the way of a dainty, inexpensive little frock, mention might be made of one in green or rose and white striped voile with vest, collar and cuffs of embroidered batiste, the gathered skirt having tucks to hoop it out modestly. The price is $5.00. And at the surprising sum of $2.95 is a pretty little model in green and white striped voile with collar and vest of white batiste. This, likewise, has a full gathered skirt.

Rose Mary—Any room "in constant, happy use" doesn't deserve to be infested with a gaudy gilt wall-paper. Once try a beautiful background in some soft self-tone or plain coloring, and you will never go back to those fireworks effects again. With all that cheerful southern sunlight pouring into the room, you might use tan, grey, Deft blue, wood green—any of these cool, soothing shades. And not a cent more will it cost you, for all can be had in the much-quoted oatmeal papers at 17 cents a roll, which are, furthermore, 20 inches wide. Next little band borders to top off the same are 10 to 20 cents a yard.

Your idea of the linoleum is good. One would suggest an inlaid wood effect, such being available in splendid quality at $1.00 per square yard. This makes a remarkably good foundation for small rugs.

Then as to the raincoat, a raglan model with loose back, slash pockets and convertible collar can be had in black silk at $17.50. Another, with raglan sleeves and a belt across the back, is featured in a black rain-proof material with silk finish, at $8.50. A third model in black silk with set-in sleeves, convertible collar and slash pockets is $10.00.

Inez—That black dye for colored boot-tops takes for granted that the dye is applied to the shoes with the cloth tops would have to go to the dyer.

DEFEAT OF ROOSEVELT PLEASING TO GERMANS
Cologne Gazette Comments With Satisfaction on Hughes' Nomination.

THINK HIM NEUTRAL
Roosevelt Regarded as 'Extremely Anti-German and Chauvinistic.'

LONDON, June 19.—The Cologne Gazette, in an editorial article which has reached London, says: "The decision of the Republicans is of a character which will cause undisputed satisfaction to all friends of a sensible and pacific policy on the part of the German nation. The fight raged around the personalities of Roosevelt and Hughes."

They want a truly neutral president in the White House, and if Hughes furnishes guarantees that he will judge all belligerents by the same standard, the large majority of German-American votes will certainly be given to him. It may be remarked in passing that Hughes needs these German-American votes to insure his defeat of Wilson."

CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER
Railway Gateman at London, Ont. Appears in Court.

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—Joseph Premo, watchman at Ridout street crossing of the Grand Trunk, who raised the gates yesterday and let Fire Truck No. 2 onto the tracks in the path of an outboard freight train, one man being killed, appeared before Magistrate Judd today on a charge of manslaughter. The case was enlarged until June 27th, the prisoner being released on $2000 bail. A large reward will likely be offered for the detection of the party who turned in the false alarm.
