A dense fog shut in, and of the eight none returned. When the schooner reached this port toing Captain Ruden learned that two of the men had been rescued by the schooner Sylvester Whalen and brought here Iterated. The four above named men are probably lost, as they were caught in the recent southwesterly gale, although there is a possibility that they may have been picked up by some vessel.

Captain Barnes says that after making Libby Island the fog shut in so thickly that nothing was made until Shot Island came up dead shead. With a strong southerly gale, it was impossible to prevent the heavy sea from forcing the schooner upon the rocks, and had it not been that the tide was too hours ebb when the vessel struck, all on board would have been lost. THE WEEKLY SUN $1 a Year.

HAWAII, ENGLAND, JAPAN.

(New York Herald.) It is with pleasure that we note that ur English friends do not object to the annexation of Hawaii by the United States. Their readiness to see these valuable islands adopted into out autonomy proves the common English sense of the English nation, They know very well that Hawaii must come to us, if to anybody. Mr. Curzon, under secretary for foreign affairs, in reply to a question by Ernest Beckett—a question which begged the question—said that her majesty's government do not feel called upon to express an opinion on the circumstances. They will content themselves with seeing that whatever rights according to international law belong to Great Britain and to British subjects shall be fully maintained. No government could say less. No government could manifest more distinctly its settled purpose to refrain from any op-position to the project of annexation. Public opinion in England is on the All this proves not only English common sense but English good woll. They have taken note of our appreciation, our veneration for their Queen, of our sympathy with them in their celebration of her diamond jubilee, of the general feeling of sympathy that we Americans—always excepting the anti-English jingoes—have for them. After all, we are Anglo-Saxons and we are of the mother race. If the younger brother sometimes makes himself disagreeable he none the less respects his elder brother. And the elder brother is now showing himself respectful of the younger and quite willing to let him have his own way in the matter of Hawaii. Every Englishman, except Ernest

Beckett, who thinks a government four years old has no title and no right to speak for Hawaii, knows that annexation is in the air. The rulers of Hawaii know that the ultimate fate of the islands is not for themselves to determine. They cannot permanently maintain their independence. They are at present able to choose to whom they will belong, and they choose to belong to us. They might go round begging somebody else to take them if we would not. Were it not the United States it might be Japan, or it is even conceivable that England, if we stood aside, might once more consider Hawaii a coaling station too valuable to reject, and so paint one more red spot on the globe.

But Japan and her far reaching policy is what we have really to consider. If Japan were to come with out consent to Hawaii we should have the Mongolian race looking eastward instead of westward. Neither we nor ingland should like that. Every Englishman would rather see Hawaii belong to American descendants of the Anglo-Saxon race than to Mongolian descendants, or Mongolians mixed with other blood, as the Japanese probably are. Those enterprising people, having whipped their Mongolian neighbors in China, may be looking for new worlds to conquer, or to try conclusions with some nation not Mongolian. Hence, perhaps, the objections of Jaran, if she really have any, to our annexation of islands which lie to us in cannot really oppose it if we meet her objections honestly and squarely. She says herself it is not to annexation but to certain provisions of the present treaty that she objects.

When we made laws against Chinese cheap labor it was because we were in danger of being overrun by Chinese. But the Japanese are not an overrunning race; on the contrary, they are patriotic and self-respecting, and their emigration to Hawaii has been carefully restricted. find it to our interest, and for our reputation as well, to observe and carry ut the treaties between Japan and Hawaii. That will be rendering a service to Japan and to civilization. It was the United States, under Commodore Perry, that opened Japan to the rest of the world. Why should we not continue our friendship and recipro-slands. The inhabitants are a hardy race of Mongolian or Mongoloid descent, yet still, like ourselves, with northern characteristics—northern men in all essential respects. They proved it in their war with China. They will prove it again when the occasion arises. It is for our advantage to be friends with Japan, and Japan may be trusted to see that, given the fair and equitable dealing under existing treaties which we propose, it is for her advantage that Hawaii should belong to the United States.

ANOTHER GOLD CRAZE.

Seattle, Washington, July 18.—The reitement over the Klondyke mines on the increase and hundreds of ecole are preparing to sail for Aluska. The steamer Portland, which would be a steamer to the steamer of the sail of the s ter return trip, will be crowded to the utmost capacity.

BROKE.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

"That boat," said the old vessel owner, "I bought on Friday, the 12th day of the month, and in the dark of the moon. She was as slick a craft as you ever see and without a weak spot in her. I made a payment down of $13,000, and the first crew I put on her consisted of just thirteen men. The only pet they had aboard was a green-eyed black cat that slept in day time and tore around the riggin at night.

"I loaded the barge at Grand Havon for Tonawanda with a cargo of green lamber. The shovers began at five in the morning and was just thirteen hours gettin her ready to clear. Friday morning she encountered a fearful blow in upper Lake Michigan. Every one of the crew of thirteen was swept overboard, ship and cargo being left to the wind and waves. The cat was the only live thing aboard. "Terrible, wasn't it?"

board, sing and cargo being left to the wind and waves. The cat was the only live thing aboard.

"Terrible, wasn't it?"

"Might have been worse. The thirteen people were picked up alive. When the storm subsided we found the ship tossing around in a dead sea, but not very seriously damaged. The cat was sitting on top of the deckload washing his face, and there wasn't enough lumber lost to build a hencoop. She made the trip and fifty others without an accident. I never allowed her to clear except on Friday, the crew remaining at thirteen, and the cat was the mascot.

"But one night the captain got smart. He left the harbor before midnight on Thursday. One of the men had falled to appear and the cat was foraging ashore. The weather was fine, no collisions was reported, but I've never heard from her since."
