RAIN MUCH NEEDED.

MONCTON, N. B., June 8.—There has been no rain of any account in this section since the tenth of May. Crops are at a standstill for the past two weeks and much of the seed in the ground is not sprouted owing to the lack of moisture. Grass fields, except where clover is growing, are almost bare and pastures hardly started. Owing to the fine spring larger acreage than usual is under plow and rain, of which there is no immediate prospect, will yet save the situation.

STILL MORE OF THEM.

SALONICA, June 7.—A band of Bulgarian revolutionaries was destroyed by Turkish troops on Saturday at Cradobar, near this city. Fifteen Bulgarians were killed. Another insurgent band is reported to have been annihilated on the railway line near Ristovits, Serbia, after a six hours' fight. Surprise is expressed that the band was able to approach so near the town. The insurgents last Wednesday killed ten Greek villagers while the latter were in a church at Selovo, near Monastir.

ALEXANDER SCOTT.

The death occurred suddenly this morning of Alexander Scott an old and respected citizen of St. John. Mr. Scott was in apparently good health up to last night, when he was suddenly stricken down and expired this morning at half-past six. His death comes as a shock to his many friends and relatives.

Mr. Scott was born in the county of Tyrone, Ireland, seventy-four years ago. Coming to this country when twenty-five years of age, he connected himself with the city of St. John, and has continued in that employment to the present time. He has been actively identified with the Orange order all his life, and in his death the lodge will lose a valued member. Mr. Scott is survived by four sons, James, Joseph and William, and one daughter, Mary, all of this city. The son, Joseph, is a member of the city police force.

EXECUTED AT SING SING.

Arthur Flanagan Dies for the Murder of Hugh McGovern.

OSWINGO, N. Y., June 8.—After having twice been reprieved by the governor, Arthur Flanagan, a negro who killed Eriksen Keeper Hugh McGovern in New York, was put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison. After the current had been turned on the second time, Flanagan was pronounced dead. Flanagan killed Keeper McGovern in the prison attached to the West Fifty Fourth Street court building, New York. He and another negro named Frank Emerson in escaping from the prison October 29th, killed McGovern with an iron bar which they sawed from a window. Emerson was letting himself down from the window with a rope when the rope broke and he fell to the ground and was killed. Flanagan, who had preceded Emerson in going down the rope, got away but was captured in the south several months afterwards. He was convicted on Sept. 30, 1901.

FIRES IN MAINE.

BANGOR, Me., June 8.—Fires are smoldering in all parts of northern and eastern Maine. Latest reports from Washington county state that great damage was done near Outler and Cooper. Two dwelling houses and several farm buildings in the latter place were destroyed. The burning of half a dozen bridges between Outler and East Machias cut off communication for a time. Patten, Island Falls and several other towns are surrounded by fire but are in no danger, unless the weather conditions change.

CHARLIE DIGGS GOT HIT.

"Ammonia" Diggs is in trouble again. This time he was struck on the head with a stone and the result was awful. He had to stay at home and put his shirt in soak to get the blood out of it.

In the police court this morning Charlie told his tale of woe. He said that on Saturday night he had come to the door of his mansion to see who was throwing stones. Suddenly a small elated rock hit him on the back of the head and he felt the warm blood trickle down his spine. He knew that Harry Burke had "thrown that rock" and it was up to him to report Harry.

The latter denied the soft impeachment and said that Diggs himself had thrown all the stones. The case was postponed for further evidence.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS MEET.

The Board of Fire Underwriters met this morning and transacted routine business. After the meeting adjourned the agents interested in the recent forest fires met and discussed the situation. The agents so far have only been able to locate $4,200 insurance on the property at Hallowell, Cape, which they consider very strange, as it is all out of proportion with the value of the property destroyed.

WEARY WILLIES.

Eight of the King Street Boarders Are at Work.

They Went to the Park this Morning Handcuffed in Pairs.

Chief Clerk. Sgt. Campbell and Detective Killen. All in the chief's wagon. Guard William A. Becket. Wearing a police helmet and belt. Shaker Sheehan—Jack McGuire. Sgt. Leg. Nicholson—Moses Ramsey. John Cane. Joe Carr—John Tufts. Guard—Mike Collins. Eleven Citizens. Four Newsboys. Two Dogs.

The above was the procession which at twenty minutes to eight o'clock this morning strolled leisurely down Sydney street. The hard labor prisoners were going to work.

Promptly at seven o'clock the eight chosen representatives of the great unwashed lined up in the office of the jail to set out upon what may in the future prove to be a great labor movement. They did not seem to be greatly exercised over their future, but like a band of martyrs or heroes were ready to face fate. The men were happy too and among other remarks announced that if Turkey Marshall were in the park they would all about, "Good day Turkey."

Slowly the minutes passed, Chief Clerk began to grow tired of the waiting, the men shifted from one foot to the other and the guards grunted. The sheriff had not appeared. He was expected to be on hand at seven o'clock but the crowd waited in vain.

At twenty minutes after seven Chairman Lewis drove up and the service was commenced. Chief Clerk warned the men of the results that would follow any insubordination. Aid, Lewis also advised the gang to be good boys and the procession started.

The men were handcuffed in pairs and carried down the street. They laughed and chatted as they moved out to help beautify the park, and evidently took the whole affair as a great joke. The man who walked with Cane had a familiar face, but his name was not known. Slowly the procession started in the order given above, but at the Golden Ball corner all but the chief's wagon and squad dropped off.

During the walk to the park the prisoners attracted much interest along the streets, but they didn't seem to mind. They will work at the park on a new road which is being opened from the lookout towards the Sandy Point Road.

FIGHT WITH A MAD STALLION.

(New York Herald, Friday.)

Early visitors to the Gravesend race track yesterday heard, with many expressions of sympathy, a tale of an encounter between a savage black pacer stallion called Ravensnaad and a well known jockey, John Bullman, which, but for the fortunate presence of a six-footer named Hiram Pierce, might have resulted in the death of the rider.

John W. Schorr, a wealthy Memphis brewer, who annually comes east with a great stable of races, has Bullman under contract at $10,000 a year. The jockey recently formed a great liking for the stallion and purchased him as a driving horse, but when Mr. Schorr became aware of the animal's mad temper he barred the beast from his stables, would not allow the jockey to keep him near his runners and warned Bullman not to trust himself near the animal.

In spite of the warning, however, the jockey went to the stall occupied by Ravensnaad at the Sheepshead Bay track and attempted to rub him down. Suddenly the animal nipped at the jockey, knocked him down and was rapidly making a mat of the prostrate man when Hiram Pierce, who was near by, heard Bullman's cries for help, and, seizing a pitchfork fought the racer back until he was able to lift the jockey from the floor.

An examination showed that the horse's teeth had penetrated the flesh, below the ribs, and also in the chest. The jockey attempted to get upon his feet, determined to ride the mad horse, which his employer had entered.

He was too weak, however, and then the Memphis turfman scratched his horse and wired to E. E. Smathers at Chicago that Bullman will be unable to ride McChesney in the National Handicap at Chicago tomorrow.

ACQUATIC.

FRESHMEN BEAT YALE VARSITY CREW.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 6.—For the second time this week the Yale freshmen eight this afternoon defeated the Varsity crew on the four mile row. The two eights had a four mile row. The freshmen were two lengths to the good at the finish. The time was slow HARVARD MAKES POOR SHOWING.

RED FOX, Gales Ferry, Conn., June 6.—The Harvard Varsity crew this afternoon took its first time rowing on the Thames over a four mile course. The men showed up well during the first two miles but toward the finish several were in a state of collapse, there was considerable splashing and form was very poor. Coach Higgins and Captain McGrew are greatly discouraged, especially in view of the fact that when Yale rowed the course shortly after Harvard's trial, Harvard watches caught the time at 21:10 against Harvard's 22:35.

When the crew started from the float at 8:30 the conditions were ideal for good rowing. McGrew set the stroke at twenty-nine and the start and this was maintained for the first two miles, the men rowing smoothly. The faults which have hitherto been noticeable, strokes were rushing and stopping between strokes, were eliminated. At the navy yard McGrew put the stroke up a point or two and from this point on the men seemed to lose form. When the finish was reached the stroke was thirty-five and thirty six and the rowing ragged. The men were splashing and rushing on the slides and several were well played out.

ATHLETIC.

TO RACE NEXT MONDAY.

Elbridge Eatman, the colored sprinter and Dan Kiley have been matched to race one hundred yards on the Shamrock grounds on Monday evening next. Eatman is allowing Kiley three yards. The race, which is causing considerable speculation among the sports, is for $50 a side.

YACHTING.

WILL BACK RELIANCE.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Since the recent trials of the cup yachts there is only one opinion among the sporting men about there; that is, that the Reliance will win easily from Shamrock III. So firm are they in that belief that a syndicate of wealthy yachtmen has been formed who will contribute $25,000 for a fund to bet that Lipton's yacht will not win a race in the international series. The American yachtmen are prepared to give odds if necessary, to show their confidence in the boat. The personnel of the syndicate is J. P. Morgan, August Belmont, E. D. Morgan and other noted yachtmen are included.

POLICE COURT.

Numerous Drunks—A Teamster Reported for Over-loading His Horse.

Today's receipts were thirty-two dollars and cash, and one dead head brought in for Sam Clifford, Edmond Jellicoe and James Lawlor each left deposits of eight dollars and Fred Lang one of sixteen dollars. These were forfeited. Edward Ferguson was fined four dollars for drunkenness, Albert Kierstead and Frank Collins eight or twenty days, and William Rodgers, Robert Markie and Phoebe Dukeshire eight or two months each for the same offence. Secretary Wetmore, of the S. F. C. A. reported Charles Boone for cruelty to animals by overloading his horse. It appears that Boone is a teamster for A. C. Smith & Co., and on Saturday he hauled from the West Side twenty-three bales of hay, weighing in all over thirty-six hundred pounds. The horse attached to the sleigh had a very hard time in hauling this load up the ferry docks, and later on up the Smith street hill. Mr. Wetmore is determined to put a stop to this habit of overloading, hence the report today.

Mr. Boone pleaded guilty to the charge and a fine of ten dollars was imposed. Upon consent of Mr. Wetmore this was allowed to stand and the driver was dismissed with a warning.
