

For the C. P. Herald.

Things and Thoughts in New York.

With your permission, Mr. Editor, I will give you some items that may be interesting to the readers of the Herald, and some thoughts as they occur to my mind.

In the first place I would like to say a few words about Carleton Place. I think that you folks over there less considerably by the name of your town. You will find Carleton Place occurring very seldom on maps, unless it may be a local one, while Franktown with probably half the inhabitants, and certainly with less advantages, is often mentioned. I think that those parties who got up the map do not realize what an important position your little town occupies, from the name it bears.

THE BARNORFEST.

This is a delegation of German singers who arrived here last Monday, from many cities and towns in the North. The delegation from Philadelphia numbered about eight hundred, and from other places in large force. On Tuesday evening there was an immense gathering at the Academy of Music, for the purpose of seeing the concert for several valuable prizes. One of the prizes was a grand piano, and long by four wide, and made of silk fringed with heavy gold bullion, embroidered in gold with figures emblematic of music and poetry. It is valued at $600. A silver goblet is the next prize, and is valued at $350. Wednesday was the greatest day of the whole. In the morning they were in the city, and then took steamers at the foot of eighth street for Jones' Woods where they had a grand picnic. Some idea of the arrangements will be conveyed by the supply of eatables and drinkables furnished; 4,000 quart bottles of wine, 500 barrels and 2,000 kegs of lager beer, 600 cases of fruit, 1,000 chickens and 1,000 large turkeys, 2 bullocks, a dozen calves, 1,000 pounds of butter and 1,000 pounds of cheese, 5,000 loaves of bread, 1,000 pies, 1,000 quarts of ice cream, 50 barrels of potatoes, 50 barrels of cabbage and cauliflowers, with all sorts of other vegetables, and confectionery.

MUSEUM'S MUSEUM.

It is said that "A friend in need is a friend indeed," and Mr. Barum is finding out now who his friends, since he suffered the loss of his Museum. Instead of succumbing to the present state of affairs he now designs to build the finest Museum in America, and already he has received the offer of large sums of money and other tokens of appreciation. Lieutenant General Scott has presented him with a valuable collection of personal relics, and another gentleman will contribute $3,000 worth of beautiful shells which he gives as a gift. Several unimportant prizes in this city have been given Mr. Barum, and that they have instructed their captains to collect every curious and useful article, at their expense, and bring them home for the Museum.

The great showman was absent from the city at the time of the fire. He was in Connecticut attending to the session of the Legislature. When the news of the fire was telegraphed to him he took it coolly and said he would immediately build an iron building on the site of the former. Mr. Barum has been over a quarter of a century catering to the tastes of the public, and his energy and perseverance are duly appreciated.

HONOR TO THE BRAVE.

On Monday last the 79th Regiment (Highlanders) returned to this city, after an absence of about four years. They participated in a great many battles, and took with them some 3,000 men. They now return with about 400 men, who have seen hard service. They had a grand parade and reception on Tuesday, by the Mayor. At twelve o'clock they partook of a dinner at Centre Market, and in the evening proceeded to Hart's Island to be mustered out of service.

The Caravan Legion arrived in this city on Tuesday, about one o'clock, amidst the greatest rejoicing by their friends. Out of over 5,000 men furnished at the beginning of the war, only 400 returned. As the men descended from the cars, the band which was in attendance struck up "The Sweet Home," which fell very pleasantly on the ears of those who never expected to see home again.

And now came the most interesting part of the occasion. Friend shaking hand with friend, in the warmest manner, wife being taken in the arms of her husband, and little ones running to their fathers, and returning father. The scene was truly affecting. Here a friend recognized a soldier and immediately raised a short welcome. "Yonder a clear silver voice is heard crying out, 'Kate, here's Richard!' Quick as lightning a beautiful young girl, who had hitherto every countenance with a critical eye, rushed forward and was clasped in the arms of her own Richard. 'My darling, my own darling,' came up in deep tones from the heart of the soldier, 'still true to your own Dick?' 'Yes, and why not?' was the reply, you know that to our country? The young man, with a child in his arms, whom he was fondly kissing, was accented by a friend who said, 'Well Billy, you reason, how are you? Oh, murder, Pat, you infernal villain, are you alive? Here, Mary, take the child till I speak to my friend. (She took the baby.) Pat, you devil, take that, you rascal.' And in his joy he put 'well,' as he called it, that made his carrying again; but instead of being offended, he warmly wrung the hand off his rough friend, in return.

On Friday a formal reception was given to the Legion. They were escorted by several regiments of soldiers, and about 10,000 of the Fenian Brotherhood. This body were handsome green rosettes, with the letters 'F. B.' in the centre. On Saturday the regiment will be mustered out of service.

Now that the war is over everything is being put on a peace footing. A great many vessels have been sold here, to be converted into merchant vessels again. Provisions have come down considerably since the war ceased, but they are still very high, and great reluctance is evinced by the interested parties in bringing them down.

Just now there is a great deal of agitation about the electric franchise. The question is, Has the right to light? It is contested by the friends of the gas, that as a matter of policy, as well as a matter of justice, he has. Others contend that he is not capable of voting. If he has the right conceded to him it will act as a check to any further extension and will throw considerable influence in favor of the North. The subject is being pretty thoroughly ventilated by both parties.

On Thursday last the District Attorney received information of a somewhat reliable character, that a vessel was being fitted out at the Atlantic dock, Brooklyn, for the purpose of engaging in the slave trade. She was immediately seized and is now in the possession of the authorities.

But I am reminded that my letter is long enough to tire the most of readers. You may hear from me again. Till then, adieu.

Mr. Abraham Day died at Cornish, Me., on the 14th inst., at the extraordinary age of one hundred and nine years and eight months. He is reported as having been the proprietor of the first iron foundry ever established in America.

Township Clerk.

Dr. Pritchard.

The following account of this notorious criminal, who is left for execution on Friday, the 28th instant, will probably be read with some interest at the present time. Edward William Pritchard is the son of Mr. John White Pritchard, a captain in the Royal Navy, and was born in 1825 at Setaux, Hants. After going through the usual preliminary education, he was apprenticed in September, 1840, to Messrs. Edwards, James and Charles Henry, solicitors of considerable practice in Portsmouth. During his apprenticeship he is stated to have assiduously studied the elementary branches of his profession and conducted himself with great propriety. On the completion of his apprenticeship he came to London on an entree upon his home at King's College in October, 1843; these he also prosecuted with great zeal, and his friends being desirous that he should enter the naval service of his country, he memorialized the authorities at the College of Surgeons to be allowed to offer himself for examination at an earlier period than was at that time allowed; his application was granted, he appeared before the Court of Examiners on the 29th of May, 1846, and, after the usual examination, was admitted a member of the College. He then underwent an examination before the Navy Board, and was duly gazetted an assistant-surgeon in Her Majesty's Navy, and on the 1st of June, 1846, he sailed for India, on board the ship "Hibernia," and on the 1st of July, 1846, he arrived at Bombay, and on the 1st of August, 1846, he was appointed to the position of the medical officer in the Royal Navy at that time, and which is not much improved at the present time, will not be surprised that a highly educated and accomplished surgeon should endeavor to accommodate himself from such a position. He, therefore, embraced the first opportunity, and resigned all connection with the Royal Navy, and determined on seeking private practice. Finding it was necessary to possess a double qualification, he presented himself before the Society of Apothecaries, and having passed the examination, was admitted a licentiate of the hall. He had previously obtained (it is believed by purchase) the "M.D." of Erlangen. He then proceeded to Glasgow, where he practiced for a great success, until his apprehension for a crime, secondly in atrocity to the first, and lastly in the nature of the crime, was the atrocious William Palmer.

The Russian government has lately given up the working of its gold mines in the Ural Mountains, and has arranged for them to be worked by private enterprise. The quantity of metal extracted is now increased tenfold.

The Confession of Dr. Pritchard.

The confession of Dr. Pritchard reveals the dark effects of a departure from rectitude. Mary McLeod, described at the trial as a good-looking girl of 17, came to the Doctor's family, and a criminal intimacy commenced with her in 1863, when, consequently, she could only have been 15 years old. When she became pregnant he produced abortion, probably embittered the peace of the family, for it was known in part at least to Mrs. Pritchard, and a criminal intimacy commenced with her in 1863, when, consequently, she could only have been 15 years old.
