The many friends of Mr. Wm. Allan of Holstein, who was in charge of Mildmay Presbyterian Church during the past six months were shocked to hear of his sudden death, which took place on April 24th. This is the third injury that "Misch" has received, and it looks as though he will be able to come back at the enemy again. His numerous friends and admirers earnestly hope for his speedy recovery.

The entire proceeds will go to help the boys who are doing their part so valiantly—Will you do yours? You can do so by helping the committee to make the affair a success. A very pleasing feature will be the school children's parade, drills, songs, etc. A hearty response has been received by the committee from the teachers. Let every teacher in Carrick endeavor to have his or her school out on full strength. We would ask the co-operation of the trustee boards along this line. A good program of sports is being arranged, that will provide entertainment in the afternoon. The decorated automobile parade in the evening provides to be an interesting event. Suitable prizes will be awarded. Let every automobile owner turn out to this parade. In the evening a grand concert will be given. The very best soloist is being secured. Corporal Keelan Missing.—Killed.

Mr. Henry Keelan of Mildmay received a telegram on Sunday, informing him that his son, Corporal Ray Keelan, had been missing since April 9th. Ray enlisted eighteen months ago, and went into the trenches for the first time last Christmas eve. He wrote cheerful letters home, and always appeared to be contented with his condition, and anxious to serve his country to the best of his ability. Previous to enlisting he was a student at the Harriston High School. He trained at Galt and Woodstock with the 71st Battalion, and was not long in winning promotion. In England he spent another seven months in training, and finally was sent into the trenches at Christmas. Ray was a splendid type of Young Canadian, and was beloved by all who knew him. Now comes the news that he has been missing since the 9th of April, and his family here are in an agony of suspense over the uncertainty of his fate. It is the sincerest wish of his many friends here that he may soon be located.—LATER. On Wednesday morning a telegram was received by Mr. Keelan, which read as follows:—"Corp. R. Keelan, previously reported missing, now officially reported killed in action on April 9th." Deceased was 21 years of age, and was born and brought up at Mildmay. Before he enlisted he gave the matter careful thought and finally decided that it was his duty and privilege to offer his services to the Empire.

The Food Crisis.

The Organization of Resources Committee in this province is carrying on with increasing energy its patriotic campaign in behalf of increased food production. Its endeavor is to enlist a great force Canadian workers to win from the soil the largest crop it is capable of yielding under the efforts of so many hands. Every man who joins that force enrolls himself in an auxiliary army fighting the enemy, especially those forces of the enemy engaged in the piratical submarine service. Everybody should read the appeal that is made by the Organization of Resources Committee on one of the advertising pages of this issue. The facts graphically set forth there cannot but even the most careless of our people thinking seriously. The least brave of us can go to the rescue of our country and Empire by joining the ranks of the farm workers. We can at least help to keep in rations those of our brethren who have the valor to face the enemy on the battlefield. The time of seeking has come. The committee is effecting junctions between farmers who need help and men in the towns and cities who are ready to give help. Many farmers are straining a point and putting themselves to much inconvenience in order to put in a bigger crop than they intended to put in. Many men in the towns and cities are, from the same patriotic motives, willing to leave their regular and remunerative employment to go to the help of the farmer a few weeks. The Ontario Organization of Resources Committee is bringing about this co-operation on a large scale. May it have the happiness of seeing the agricultural output of last year doubled this year!

Locked in the Church.

There was no service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening.—And thereby hangs a tale. Two young ladies of the village entered the church shortly before seven, to attend the service, and before they became aware of the fact that the service had been cancelled, the caretaker came along and locked the church door and went away. The two prisoners, becoming aware of their predicament, tried the various doors and windows of the church but all were secure. Nearly half an hour elapsed before they were able to attract the attention of by-passers, and they were finally liberated.

Pte. F. M. Renwick Killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Renwick of the Howick townline received a telegram last Friday, apprising them of the death of their third son, Frank Melvin Renwick. The telegram read as follows:—Regret to inform you that Pte. Frank M. Renwick officially reported died at No. 6 Casualty Clearing Station on April 18th. It was quite evident that Frank had been injured in action, and had succumbed before reaching the hospital. Pte. Renwick enlisted in the 161st (Huron) Battalion in March, 1916, and after spending the summer drilling at London and Camp Borden, went overseas in October. He spent just one week in England, when he was drafted to go to France. During his period of service, Frank was decorated for conspicuous bravery. It appears that Pte. Meahan, a son of Mr. Anthony Meahan, formerly of Carrick, had been buried by the explosion of an enemy shell, and when all the other soldiers made good their escape, Frank returned and dug out his friend Meahan, under shell fire, and succeeded in saving his life. Pte. Renwick was 21 years of age and was a strapping, well-built chap, possessed a happy disposition, and was a general favourite with all his acquaintances. His death is universally mourned, and the bereaved family have the sincerest sympathy of all their friends in their bereavement. A memorial service will be held in McIntosh church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, to be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Sinclair.

The attention of our readers is directed to the announcement on the fifth page of this issue.
