THE RUSH FOR GOLD

FRANKLIN CAMP THE ATTRAC-TION FOR MANY WEALTH-SEEKERS.

SUPPLIES ARE SCARCE AND PRICES NEAR FAMINE LEVEL.

Grand Forks, June 5.—(Special.)—The first authentic news of the gold excitement in Franklin camp reached here to day, when Ed Couture, who succeeded in locating the fifth claim above discovery arrived in the city for the purpose of re-cording. He says that the strike is not yet of sufficient size to warrant any great weitement, but as vet almost nothing has been done toward developing the find. He showed your correspondent some fine looking dust which he had himself taken out of the sluice box put in by McDonald and Bartlett, and this after they had cleaned up. The gold is rather coarse and is very easy to save, it being possible to wash the black sand entirely away from it. Forty or 50 men had arrived by the time Mr. Couture left camp, and he sav the trail was lined up with eager gold hunters on their way to the new field. He reports that Harry Sheads, ex-chief lice of this city, had an extremely narrow escape from drowning on Monday night as he was crossing the ford. His horse got off the ford and fell with him, ing him into the swift current. He ed to swim out after a hard strug 1000 at 29 1-2c., 1500 at 29 1-4c.; Giant, throwing him into the swift current. He

Three thousand shares were sold at 30 yesterday. Giant was the only other stock time, and came to town to get supplies for operating their claim. They showed their dust, which is coarse and sharp, tons. showing that it has not travelled far.

Then the rush started. By daylight a steady stream of prospective millionaires was flying up the trail, and as the day progressed the excitement increased and tonight a horse cannot be had in the city for love or money, while many are start-ing for the new fields on foot. It is expected that several of those who joined n the first rush will return within week for supplies, and then the extent of the had can be more definitely known.
