

THE REPORTER

COUNTY NEWS.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Gardiner, of North Winchester, returned to her home last week after spending some weeks with her brother, Mr. George Ward.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Gordon and wife are residing at their villa. Mr. E. Keyes, sr., visited Mr. Kavanagh last week.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. P. Hickey will lecture in the college on the 24th inst. on "Deicide".

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Haskins is on the sick bed. Miss Sophia McCreedy and Miss Etta Moorhead, of Dundalk, were last week visiting at Brookville.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Grand entertainment in Columbus hall at McIntosh Mills on Thursday 29th Nov.—the last before advent. Admission fee only 80c. per couple.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. E. Kelly, of Montreal, is visiting at the rectory. Mr. McNamee is a guest Mr. P. Flood's.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. J. Kelly was a guest at Mr. R. J. Leeder's last week.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. J. Dixie is doing the plastering on Mr. J. Bolger's house.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. Felix Beaumont is a guest at Frog Hollow.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Messrs. Shaver, Thorpe and Leeder are men of indomitable zeal.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. M. Roman will deliver a discourse on the 26th inst. in Columbus hall.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—John Clair is awfully proud. It's a boy.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. T. Flood's nice dog was lost last week.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. J. Leeder is home from England.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Misses C. Blanchard, of Greenbush, and A. Willes, of Athens, were guests at the island yesterday.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—W. W. Robinson and family have returned to their winter residence here, after spending the summer at Munster, where he has been stationed as chessmaster for a consecutive number of seasons.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss Cora wing returned Sunday from a week's visit at Chantry, where she was a guest of Miss Edith Chamberlain.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss Ordella Robeson is spending a few days at Athens.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss H. Bullis has decided to abandon her present occupation as teacher of the public school with the expiration of the year, which vacancy will be filled by Geo. Taylor.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The Gilt Edge cheese and butter factory will commence the manufacture of butter next Tuesday.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The factory purposes making skinner milk cheese also. The prices for making up the milk has been placed at 8c per lb. for butter and 1 1/2 cts. per lb. for cheese.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Since the weather has turned warm the farmers are busy pulling their turnips.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Geo. Moore is burning a large kiln of brick this week.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Thos. Hamilton, an old resident of this place, died last Monday of cholera morbus, after a short illness.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. E. F. Gilbert is still in poor health.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—F. W. Young has his bakery completed and will commence making bread on Monday next.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—He has engaged Mr. F. A. Paajan as baker, which is a guarantee that a first-class article will be produced.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The express stage has been newly covered which will add much to the comfort of the travelling public.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—On Saturday evening, 10th inst., three persons from Lake Street were on their way home from Athens, all in one rig.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—They turned in at Morrison's Corner to take a short cut over to Lake Street.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Tanglefoot said to the "Tinker" "turn up this way" but the "Horse Jockey" said, "No! I am going this way," and turned the horse's head up hill, but in his haste to have his own way he pulled the wrong line and over went the buggy, and the three occupants rolled over and over to the bottom of the hill, closely followed by the old mare and carriage.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The horse jockey struck out for a light in the distance (which as usual proved to be in the wrong direction), closely followed by the tinker, who managed to crawl onto the horse's back.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—"This said they wandered around through the valley until nearly daylight. The tanglefoot was spilled out when the carriage rolled over and was quietly swallowed up by mother earth.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The friendship of the tinker and horse jockey remains unabated.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Wedding bells are expected to ring on Lake St. in the near future.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Through pure neglect in not turning the key on the hen pen and hen house, the wedding announced to take place on a certain Monday will be postponed until after the sale.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Jas. T. Sexton is buying up stock, sheep and cattle. Prices are low this fall.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Jabez sold a fine team of bay mares to F. Rockwood and a black mare to Wm. Knapp to be delivered in the near future.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Wm. Bullard and wife have returned from a very pleasant visit to friends in Toledo and Lombardy.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Wm. T. is living on sackrunt this fall. He says he will branch off and die on salmon later on.

FRONTENAC. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The Frankville baker purchased a bay mare from J. O. Bullis a few days ago, which he will use on his wagon distributing bread. He will not need a hitching post, as she is a good stander.

DUNDALK.

FRIDAY, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Gardner, of North Winchester, returned to her home last week after spending some weeks with her brother, Mr. George Ward.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss S. Deir, has returned as teacher in our college.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. E. Keyes and wife drove down main street last Sunday.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Messrs. J. Kavanagh and Jas. Cox shot six coons and three foxes. Jas. Keyes held a swell ball last week—76 couples were present.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss M. Shea has opened a music store in Toledo.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. E. Keyes, sr., will open a tailor's shop in Athens.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The snow has disappeared and we are now enjoying our Indian summer.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. S. Horton, of Brookville, formerly of this place, was visiting his son this week.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Geo. Haskins is on the sick bed. Miss Sophia McCreedy and Miss Etta Moorhead, of Dundalk, were last week visiting at Brookville.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I arrived at George Andrews'—Larue's old mills—on the evening of the 18th. He is a well known boat builder, also runs a boat livery, and, as had been arranged by Mr. Wm. Poole, he took me to Grenadier Island, our course south-east, with an odd white cap cresting the waves.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—We had a large, firm skiff, a good sheet of canvas, and we went bounding and skipping over that rille and a half in almost a few minutes as it takes to pencil this note. Mr. Andrea is a very skilful man in a boat.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I have been accustomed to the water from childhood and can say without fear of contradiction that he is an expert in skiffing. Neither cars nor horseback boat ever afford me the delightful, delicious, sensation that a swift sailing skiff does.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—There is a wild thrill as the tiny shell of a boat is tossed and toyed about on the foam crested waves.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I walked across the island to Mr. Poole's residence, a half a mile. In doing so, as I ascended to the central elevation of the island, I passed a very extensive second-growth white oak grove.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—An odd jump of dots the masses of brown leaves with here and there a patch of green, and as I looked down on his comfortable farm buildings, orchard and shore-line, the star of light beaming in the light-house, struggling for supremacy with the setting sun, hurled around me gems flashing gold and silver, mingled with purple and crimson.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. Poole's farm is a beautiful location to which he has just joined another farm lying on the north-west shore of the island.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Grenadier is five and a half miles long and much of it is half a mile wide. At one point it is nearly one and a half miles wide.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The bays, inlets and points are so numerous that the coast line may be twenty-five miles long. It includes over 1000 acres. There are 12 farms, 12 fine orchards with good fruit, and the buildings will compare well with good localities on the mainland.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The land is fertile, adapted to gardening, and the water is excellent. The population is 62—28 on the school roll—an average attendance of 14; school open all year. Religious service in the school house every two weeks by the well known Rev. Mr. Short, who also officiates on Larue, Well, and Grindstone Islands; also sometimes at Rockport.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—He is conversant with his appointments in a very nice little steam yacht, which will carry about 20 of his friends. He also uses a wheel of his island.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—We may suppose he could not do well on the islands. But Mr. Poole's Hunt's large apiary, of Larue Island gives a good account of itself. Mr. Poole's bees here struck a bonanza on the 7th of June when the Ocean colided with the coal barge Kent. Part of the Ocean's cargo was granulated sugar.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—As soon as they began raising and drying it, the detective bees soon raided the sun-kissed ship. They marshalled a host without delay, and seized the find to the dismay of the sailors. The bees had all they wanted and there is enough left to supply them with next spring. Four years ago a swarm of bees came to him, probably from New York.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—He tried to inform himself on bee culture and the advice he has received from various parties is truly amusing. He is satisfied that he can see enough asble clover and buckwheat to make the bees pay. Eight or ten farmers have told me this season that all things considered, buckwheat paid them as well as any crop, aside from bees. Not all, but some farmers, think if they could, they thought, help themselves to a good crop of buckwheat or hay and also greatly help their bees. Mr. Poole proposes to thus keep his bees at home and so prevent their crossing the water.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The customs and mode of life among the Islanders, in some respects, is quite as foreign to Mainland folks as life in Italy. Boats are solely employed to make calls for visiting, for business and pleasure, and the purpose that a horse and buggy are employed for on the mainland, and the term "boat livery" has a meaning quite unknown to us. There is a good road running in the centre from end to end of the island. The production of Grenadier is great.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—On Saturday, in the snow storm, we sailed to Poole's Resort, which has done a splendid business this season, as it well merits.

DUNDALK. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I noticed on leaving the mouth of the creek at Larue's old mills an old boat stranded on the rocks in a way to invite sympathy, and as the eye follows the curve to the remains of the massive old dam in ruin, the mind reverts to The Mill on the Floss. The Broken Water Wheel, a dozen other and pathetic reminiscences sweep down the vista of the past—the mind—the brain—the genius—that formed so much on this beautiful earth which now lies in desolation and ruin, must live in some other grand sphere of love, joy. W. S. HOGAN, 20c; children, 16c.

SHEARSTOWN.

SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss S. Deir, has returned as teacher in our college.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. E. Keyes and wife drove down main street last Sunday.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Messrs. J. Kavanagh and Jas. Cox shot six coons and three foxes. Jas. Keyes held a swell ball last week—76 couples were present.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Miss M. Shea has opened a music store in Toledo.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. E. Keyes, sr., will open a tailor's shop in Athens.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The snow has disappeared and we are now enjoying our Indian summer.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. S. Horton, of Brookville, formerly of this place, was visiting his son this week.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Geo. Haskins is on the sick bed. Miss Sophia McCreedy and Miss Etta Moorhead, of Dundalk, were last week visiting at Brookville.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I arrived at George Andrews'—Larue's old mills—on the evening of the 18th. He is a well known boat builder, also runs a boat livery, and, as had been arranged by Mr. Wm. Poole, he took me to Grenadier Island, our course south-east, with an odd white cap cresting the waves.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—We had a large, firm skiff, a good sheet of canvas, and we went bounding and skipping over that rille and a half in almost a few minutes as it takes to pencil this note. Mr. Andrea is a very skilful man in a boat.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I have been accustomed to the water from childhood and can say without fear of contradiction that he is an expert in skiffing. Neither cars nor horseback boat ever afford me the delightful, delicious, sensation that a swift sailing skiff does.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—There is a wild thrill as the tiny shell of a boat is tossed and toyed about on the foam crested waves.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I walked across the island to Mr. Poole's residence, a half a mile. In doing so, as I ascended to the central elevation of the island, I passed a very extensive second-growth white oak grove.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—An odd jump of dots the masses of brown leaves with here and there a patch of green, and as I looked down on his comfortable farm buildings, orchard and shore-line, the star of light beaming in the light-house, struggling for supremacy with the setting sun, hurled around me gems flashing gold and silver, mingled with purple and crimson.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Mr. Poole's farm is a beautiful location to which he has just joined another farm lying on the north-west shore of the island.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—Grenadier is five and a half miles long and much of it is half a mile wide. At one point it is nearly one and a half miles wide.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The bays, inlets and points are so numerous that the coast line may be twenty-five miles long. It includes over 1000 acres. There are 12 farms, 12 fine orchards with good fruit, and the buildings will compare well with good localities on the mainland.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The land is fertile, adapted to gardening, and the water is excellent. The population is 62—28 on the school roll—an average attendance of 14; school open all year. Religious service in the school house every two weeks by the well known Rev. Mr. Short, who also officiates on Larue, Well, and Grindstone Islands; also sometimes at Rockport.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—He is conversant with his appointments in a very nice little steam yacht, which will carry about 20 of his friends. He also uses a wheel of his island.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—We may suppose he could not do well on the islands. But Mr. Poole's Hunt's large apiary, of Larue Island gives a good account of itself. Mr. Poole's bees here struck a bonanza on the 7th of June when the Ocean colided with the coal barge Kent. Part of the Ocean's cargo was granulated sugar.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—As soon as they began raising and drying it, the detective bees soon raided the sun-kissed ship. They marshalled a host without delay, and seized the find to the dismay of the sailors. The bees had all they wanted and there is enough left to supply them with next spring. Four years ago a swarm of bees came to him, probably from New York.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—He tried to inform himself on bee culture and the advice he has received from various parties is truly amusing. He is satisfied that he can see enough asble clover and buckwheat to make the bees pay. Eight or ten farmers have told me this season that all things considered, buckwheat paid them as well as any crop, aside from bees. Not all, but some farmers, think if they could, they thought, help themselves to a good crop of buckwheat or hay and also greatly help their bees. Mr. Poole proposes to thus keep his bees at home and so prevent their crossing the water.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—The customs and mode of life among the Islanders, in some respects, is quite as foreign to Mainland folks as life in Italy. Boats are solely employed to make calls for visiting, for business and pleasure, and the purpose that a horse and buggy are employed for on the mainland, and the term "boat livery" has a meaning quite unknown to us. There is a good road running in the centre from end to end of the island. The production of Grenadier is great.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—On Saturday, in the snow storm, we sailed to Poole's Resort, which has done a splendid business this season, as it well merits.

SHEARSTOWN. SATURDAY, Nov. 17.—I noticed on leaving the mouth of the creek at Larue's old mills an old boat stranded on the rocks in a way to invite sympathy, and as the eye follows the curve to the remains of the massive old dam in ruin, the mind reverts to The Mill on the Floss. The Broken Water Wheel, a dozen other and pathetic reminiscences sweep down the vista of the past—the mind—the brain—the genius—that formed so much on this beautiful earth which now lies in desolation and ruin, must live in some other grand sphere of love, joy. W. S. HOGAN, 20c; children, 16c.

TOLEDO.

MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The annual missionary meeting was held in the Methodist church on Wednesday night last.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—A surprise party was held Monday night, Nov. 12th, at the home of Mrs. J. Stratton. A large number of young people were present and reported themselves as having spent a very enjoyable time.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The trustees of our school have engaged as teachers for next year Miss Ada M. Sexton, of Elgin, as principal teacher, Miss Annie Whelan, of Westport, as teacher for the junior room.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The famous sportsman and horse trader of Mount Pleasant, while returning from Brookville one day last week, was overtaken by a serious mishap when his horse, which stood before him like a ramp, came to the conclusion that for want of sufficient nutritious nourishment the animal had become fatigued and discouraged, and as the result is a beautiful resting place in the woods, he was obliged to dismount.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The sportsman decided to reach home at all hazards. As the best advice and assistance was necessary to accomplish this, he lost no time in enquiring of the foreman of the Galloway Gas Co. who, like all far-seeing men, has come to the conclusion that electricity will be the popular illuminant of the next century and that gas don't pay.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The ever obliging ex-manager of Guno, who consented to what he could for the unfortunate Guno, and as of late he has devoted his time and attention to horse-training, no better help could be secured. The generous voice of the ex-manager commanding Guno to produce the desired effect. His rawhide whip was then called into requisition and a vigorous application of this for about forty minutes, during which about half a ton of coal was brought back some of Guno's old-time ambition and the sportsman was sent on his way rejoicing. The ex-manager returned home well satisfied with his ability as a horse trainer, and in wishing to subsume unmanageable horses could do no better than to call on the ex-manager as he is generally able to quell at a glance the most vicious animals.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—We may suppose he could not do well on the islands. But Mr. Poole's Hunt's large apiary, of Larue Island gives a good account of itself. Mr. Poole's bees here struck a bonanza on the 7th of June when the Ocean colided with the coal barge Kent. Part of the Ocean's cargo was granulated sugar.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—As soon as they began raising and drying it, the detective bees soon raided the sun-kissed ship. They marshalled a host without delay, and seized the find to the dismay of the sailors. The bees had all they wanted and there is enough left to supply them with next spring. Four years ago a swarm of bees came to him, probably from New York.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—He tried to inform himself on bee culture and the advice he has received from various parties is truly amusing. He is satisfied that he can see enough asble clover and buckwheat to make the bees pay. Eight or ten farmers have told me this season that all things considered, buckwheat paid them as well as any crop, aside from bees. Not all, but some farmers, think if they could, they thought, help themselves to a good crop of buckwheat or hay and also greatly help their bees. Mr. Poole proposes to thus keep his bees at home and so prevent their crossing the water.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—The customs and mode of life among the Islanders, in some respects, is quite as foreign to Mainland folks as life in Italy. Boats are solely employed to make calls for visiting, for business and pleasure, and the purpose that a horse and buggy are employed for on the mainland, and the term "boat livery" has a meaning quite unknown to us. There is a good road running in the centre from end to end of the island. The production of Grenadier is great.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—On Saturday, in the snow storm, we sailed to Poole's Resort, which has done a splendid business this season, as it well merits.

TOLEDO. MONDAY, Nov. 19.—I noticed on leaving the mouth of the creek at Larue's old mills an old boat stranded on the rocks in a way to invite sympathy, and as the eye follows the curve to the remains of the massive old dam in ruin, the mind reverts to The Mill on the Floss. The Broken Water Wheel, a dozen other and pathetic reminiscences sweep down the vista of the past—the mind—the brain—the genius—that formed so much on this beautiful earth which now lies in desolation and ruin, must live in some other grand sphere of love, joy. W. S. HOGAN, 20c; children, 16c.

BIG ROBBERY IN MONTREAL.

Thieves Make a Big haul From the Theatre Royal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—When the employees of the Theatre Royal went to work on Saturday morning they were surprised to find the theatre in the hands of the police. On examination it was ascertained that the theatre had been robbed. They also proceeded to examination and found the theatre in the hands of the police. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—The robbery was committed on Saturday night last. The manager of the theatre had been robbed of the sum of $50,000. The robbery was committed on Saturday night last.