When the Door Opens.
Sometimes it's early, partly Or over the farmhouse fire, I see the sunbeams gaily And the birds in the meadows are lying still.
And the old wheel-dreams in the shadows behind the mill.
Then in the hush of the dawn, in the silver mist and dew.
God opens the door a little way, and the little feet go through.

Like A Miracle.
THE WONDERFUL RECOVERY OF A NIPISSING MAN.
Stricken With Partial Paralysis He Was Unable to Use Either Right Arm or Right Leg.
Mr. John Craig, a well known farmer living near Kells, Nipissing district, Ont., is another of the many paralytics, who owes his present good health and ability to go about if not life itself—to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Craig gives his experience as follows:—But for the blessing of God and the use of Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills I do not believe that I should be alive to-day. I was stricken with that terrible affliction partial paralysis, I had absolutely no power in my right arm or leg. I was not able to sit up—in fact if I tried to do so I would fall over. I had to be lifted like a child and my family and friends believed death was very near.
The doctor told me that he could do nothing for me and that I was liable at any moment to have a second stroke which would carry me off. I was in this deplorable condition when I was advised to use Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I sent for three boxes and before they were all used I could move the fingers on my hand, which had hitherto been absolutely number and powerless. You can scarcely imagine my joy at this convincing proof that the pills were helping me.
From this on I kept getting stronger and the control of my paralyzed limbs gradually came back until I was able to walk about and eventually do my work. To my neighbors my cure seems like a miracle, as not one of them ever expected to see me out of bed again. I gladly gave permission to publish the story of my cure with the means that it may bring life and health and activity to other sufferers.
The cure of Mr. Craig gives additional evidence that Dr. Williams Pink Pills are not an ordinary medicine, and that their power to cure in all troubles of the blood or nerves places them beyond all other medicines.
You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. See that the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box.

Public Ownership the Natural Thing.
In some quarters a proposal looking to the nationalization of our entire railway service would be a startling proposition—as something altogether out of the regular order.
As a matter of fact public ownership is the most natural thing in the world. If one could come here from another sphere altogether and inquire into existing conditions, he would certainly look upon it as an extraordinary thing that our people were ever foolish enough to allow the control of the carriage of their products (control which carries with it the power to largely fix the selling price of those products) to pass into private hands. Even have been wiser than to allow the ordinary highways of the country to pass under the control of private corporations.
It would seem an intolerable thing to do if a farmer if the wagon road which leads to his nearest market town were wholly in the hands of a company operating the same for personal profit. And yet that would be less objectionable than the present system under which highways leading to foreign markets—where the price of everything we have to sell is fixed—are in the hands of railway companies.
There is one very obvious objection to a system which places the control of railway lines in private hands. In such cases the primary object is to make a profit out of the operation of the lines. Under public ownership the primary object would be the development of the country, and this should be the purpose of all transportation facilities. This fact is clearly realized in Russia. J. D. Allen, Vice-President of the Toronto Board of Trade, when in the Empire of the Car some time ago, asked the Minister of Transportation there if the State-owned railways of that country made a profit as railways. "I am," was the reply, "not concerned regarding the question as to whether they pay as railways or not, but I do know they pay and pay handsomely, as a means of developing the country." That the Russian Minister spoke truly is evident to any one at all familiar with the remarkable progress which Russia has made in developing her export butter trade by means of the control of the great routes of transportation.
The real purpose of a railway is not served unless it is operated with the development of a country's resources as its main object, and this is possible only under public ownership.—Toronto Sun.

A Dead Tired Feeling And utter weariness are due to the blood being weakened through faulty action of the kidneys and liver. It's a surplus of energy, lots of red vitalizing blood you need and it can be acquired quickly by using Ferrosulfate, the greatest strengthening tonic made. "No tonic equals Ferro-sulfate," writes H. E. Jennings of Westport.
"Last spring I was tired and depressed had backache and lacked strength.
Ferro-sulfate soon brought me to good health and made me well." Price 50c

Sparkin's Little Deception.
It was quite by accident that Cyrus Sparkin happened to see the notice in the "Lost and Found" column. He was, in fact, just turning the paper when the address caught his eye. The address was 8296 Wistaria avenue, third flat. The reason that Sparkin's pulse beat a little faster was that he had recently called at 8296 Wistaria avenue and had there spent a half hour of mingled torment and ecstasy. In torment because he imagined that Miss Chelby regarded his visit in the light of an infliction, and ecstasy because it was a privilege to be near Miss Chelby on any terms.
The advertisement said that a lady's purse, containing $15 in currency, had been dropped between Kelo and Ogle streets, on Drelnicourt avenue, and appealed to the finder to return it and receive a suitable reward. The purse was described as seal leather.
"Well," exclaimed Sparkin, as he read the advertisement over for the fifth time to be sure he was not mistaking, "it's her purse, sure enough.
Poor little girl! Now, that's what I call tough."
He turned it over in his mind again. He knew that Miss Chelby passed along Drelnicourt avenue on her way home, because, well, because he had noticed that she did.
He knew that she carried a seal-leather purse—rather worn and not bulky—because one morning he had happened to get on the same car with her, and when she dipped into the purse for her car fare before he had a chance to stop her; he also noticed that her gloves had been very neatly mended at the finger tips. First and last, Sparkin had noticed a good many things about Miss Chelby. He had had opportunities, for she was a stenographer in the office of which he was the assistant manager.
For another thing, he knew that Miss Chelby's salary was $15 a week.
"Poor little girl!" he repeated. "I'll bet that's a mighty serious matter for her, with that invalid sister to support."

Brutality to Horses.
The brutal driver is so principally because he conceives of his horse merely as a machine, a means to an end, and for that reason the animal is not treated as if it were a thing of flesh and blood. The animal is to him a machine capable of reaching a certain place at a certain time, and beating it the means to that end. If a dog is beaten or kicked, he yelps and runs away to avoid further blows. It is not a horse's nature to make a noise; if it were, he would probably be treated with much greater consideration.
The world at large does not perceive silent suffering. If all the horses on the street would create a hubbub whenever they are hurt, their sufferings would undoubtedly decrease at once. Neither can a horse run away to escape blows; being tied down, he is entirely at his owner's mercy to be starved, beaten or forced to go until he drops in the harness. Perhaps this absolute power of the driver over the horse has also something to do with his cruelty. But it would seem as if the recent marked improvement of the French and of other nations in this matter would go to prove that the cruelty is largely the result of traditional mental attitude. And the apparent dawning of some gleams of humanity in this hitherto unpromising quarter seems to show that there will be a brighter future for the horse when his owner has learned not to think of him as a mere machine. And if the horse owner is also made to appreciate the fact that his horse can serve him better when it is properly cared for, self-interest will make the case still stronger.

Try to Prevent Lung Trouble.
It's the dried sputum floating around in the air that gets into your lungs and causes consumption. A sure preventative is fragrant healing Catarrhose, which is inhaled right into the lungs, kills every germ, heals the sore membranes and cures thoroughly every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung trouble.
I caught a severe cold which developed into catarrh and finally settled on my lungs," writes Mr. A. Northrop of Bedford, "Catarrhose relieved quickly and cured me. I recommend Catarrhose highly." Two months treatment $1.00; trial size 25c.
