NEWFOUNDLAND.

Matters respecting the attitude of New foundland as regards Canada remain unchanged. That province seems deter mined to remain in bad humor with this dominion, and obstinately refuses to accept the olive branch held out by our peo ple. On Tuesday a reply was received to the despatch sent some time ago in which Canada proposed a conference and suggested that in the meantime Newfoundland suspend her unfriendly action and Canada would again allow Newfoundland fish to enter Canada free. The answer is unfortunately not made in a friendly or and distinct. Gossip says the happy conconcilliatory spirit, but is simply an intimation that no concession can be made unless Canada first agrees to withdraw all opposition to the ratifiaction of the Bond-Blaine treaty. This leaves matters as they were, and for the moment there does not seem much immediate hope of any change in the unfriendly attitude of our

The trouble appears to be that Canada would not grant certain concessions to Newfoundland, as for instance, the free importation of her fish into this country. The sister province had then to seek elsewhere for concessions and made a treaty with the United States. This treaty does not suit Canada, and so the endeavor is made to get the island to withdraw from the articles of the treaty, even if her fish have to be allowed admittance free of the pleasures of his new location, being

There are, of course, complications on account of the French having certain rights in the island that must be respected. but it is very plain that the dominion government made a mistake in trying to force a tribute from Newfoundland, and that now seeing their mistake they are trying to secure the country's favor even by granting the concession which caused the trouble. All despatches show that the Newfoundland government is a little suspicious of the intentions of our executive, and will not assent to any condition unless specially prepared by themselves. The trouble can have but one termination. If satisfaction is not got from Canada the sister province will throw its sympathy and trade into the scale with the United

Now that the dominion parliament is in session, it would be well should the friends of Mr. Temple urge him strongly to press on the executive the necessity of making a large grant for navigation purposes between this city and Woodstock. Five thousand dollars carefully and wisely expended would allow the Florenceville to run most of the summer. Only a few obstructions would have to be removed to enable her to do so. It is only justice to the residents of the river parishes that this should be done. It would be a great help to this city also as much of the freight that now finds its way by McAdam, would then pass through the city, and where the freight goes there is always increased passenger traffic. If the same steamboat accommodation is afforded the people this year as last, there will be reason for an increased exodus from up river.

As a result of the unsatisfactory showing of the census, Queens and Sunbury have been merged into one constituency. whether for the purpose of lessening the expense by curtailing the number of members or of ensuring a seat at the next general election to a conservative. Matters political in Queens for some time have not been just as the dominant party would wish, and this may be intended to teach electors there that they must do as desired or feel the whip. York has been left severely alone, whether because at present it is so represented that it does not count on either side, or because no scheme could be devised to hold it as a conservative constituency.

REPORTS from the sections visited by W. W. Hubbard, dairy agent for district No. have been well attended and the people are eager for information respecting the best plans for building and equipping dairy factories. No wiser step has ever been taken by any government than this and it would appear at present as though the scheme will meet with unlimited success. The aim of a good government is to improve the welfare of the farmers especially and our local government by its horse and cattle importation, as well as by this plan for stimulating dairy enterprise must receive the hearty and cordial support of

HOT SHOT The Caron Charges in the Dominion

After the impeachment of Judge Elliott for misconduct in connection with the London election case in the dominion parliament on Thursday, Sir Richard Cartwright resumed the debate on the Caron charges and ridiculed Thompson's pretense that the charges were not specific and that the house had no right to investigate the allegation, that $100,-000 of public money had been used to purchase constituencies. What troubled ministers was not the vagueness of the charges but their directness. He quoted the declarations of Messrs. Thompson and Abbott, promising full investigation of all charges of wrong doing. Now that the charges were brought forward the ministers repudiated their pledges. The conduct of Messrs. Thompson and Abbott was more calculated to degrade the country and parliament than even the conduct of which Caron stood accused. Those who expected better things of Sir John Thompson had been much disappointed; the argument meant that if cabinet ministers could cover up their tracks till the election courts had discharged their long time, is still very low. functions they should escape exposure a punishment. The opposition proposed to try Caron's case before the committee on which his supporters and colleagues had a large majority, yet the government were afraid to go before such a tribunal. If an investigation be had the people would see that never had such a system of organized corruption existed, as that by which the tory party had been maintained in office for | Florenceville on the river again. ten years.
