Bay de Verde Notes.

The fishery up to date is an average one. There are 120 traps used in the prosecution of the fishery here. About 25 traps in Bacallou Tickle have secured good catches, the remainder will average about 50 qts. The trap average on the whole is considerably behind that of last year. Some crews with three traps have only 100 to 150 qts. This time last year they had from 500 to 600 qts. Present prospects are not encouraging for securing much more fish in traps and it is the opinion of the fishermen that the season's trapping is nearly over. The hook and line men have done fairly well and the chances are that the coming of squid will augment their catches.

The oil factories operating here report a poor yield of oil from the livers and as a result there is a great shortage in the quantity of refined oil manufactured. Under the circumstances we do not believe that the decline in price is warranted as there is no doubt that there will not be nearly as much oil manufactured. Mr. W. A. Munn is the man that manufacturers trust to, to give them fair value for their oil and we have no doubt that Mr. Munn will see that manufacturers are fairly treated and that he will not be influenced by other purchasers who are striving to keep the price down. Keep away from the combine, Mr. Munn, the people trust you to do what is right.

Nearly 4,000 Enemy Aeroplanes

SHOT DOWN BY BRITISH AVIATORS DURING THE PAST YEAR

London, July 13.—In one year on the British western front the Royal Air Force has accounted for 3,233 enemy aeroplanes. In the same period the naval airmen shot down 623, a total of 3,856.

An official statement dealing with these operations says: "On the Italian front the Royal Air Force during the year beginning July 1, 1917, on the western front destroyed 2,160 hostile machines and drove down out of control 1,083. In the same period the air force units working in conjunction with the navy shot down 623 hostile machines.

During this period 1,094 of our machines were missing. Ninety-eight of these were working with the navy.

"On the Italian front from April to June, 1918, the British destroyed 165 hostile machines and drove down out of control six. Thirteen of ours were missing.

"On the Salonika front between January and June 21 hostile machines were destroyed and thirteen were driven down out of control.

"From March to June in Egypt and Palestine twenty-six hostile aeroplanes were destroyed and fifteen were driven down out of control. Ten of ours were missing.

"In all the theatres of the war the British air superiority and strength progressed rapidly and continuously. From this it is safe to assume that when the new factor of America's output, both aircraft and personnel, enters the situation in the fighting zones, the aerial ascendancy of the Entente Allies should give them very great advantages."

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. Wm. Smith, carpenter, who is well known here, but who is now working at the new theatre, at St. John's, took a run over last week His visit was a source of pleasure to all his friends.

Private Wm. Hunt was taken to the General Hospital, St. John's, by Wednesday's train, as his wounds received in action are giving him trouble again. He was accompanied to the city by his wife and his father.

Frank Coombs, son of Mr. Eli Coombs, of this town, has just enlisted in a Canadian regiment, and is now in training at Aldershot, Canada.

Rev. A. A. and Mrs. Holmes left yesterday afternoon for their new home at Pouch Cove. They went by carriage, and the trip will, no doubt, be a very pleasant one.

Adj. Stansbury arrived from Bell Island by motor boat on Monday and returned by train via Kelligrews on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mark Sellars, after spending some time in town, returned to Bell Island on Tuesday last.

Word was received in town a few days ago of the death at Boston, of Mrs. James Power, formerly of St. John's. Mr. Power was contemplating a visit to his old home when the call to leave earthly scenes was received. James Power and his brother John kept a shoe store here some years ago. He was about 55 years of age.

Mrs. E. Barnes, of Bell Island, and her two children, Miss Ruby and Master Ralph, came in from Bell Island on Thursday last on a visit to Mrs. Thomas Thistle. They returned home on Tuesday.

Codfish is still very plentiful and of a very large size. Hook and line men are also getting some now.

Market Notes.

CODFISH.—When the quantities being presently loaded have been cleared, there will be but 10,000 quintals left in stores. So far no great purchases of new fish have been made, and what little has been bought, sold at $16.50 talqual. Bad weather hampers curing, which accounts for the slackness in deliveries. No large No. 1 has yet come in. It is probable that the price for this cull will be $12. Foreign markets are holding good.

COD OIL.—Last week's prices were $280 per ton for common, hardwood packages. Refined $2.25 per gallon. Should the current high freight rates to England prevail during the coming months oil prices are not likely to reach the figures of last year. The Inspection Report discloses that more attention is being given to refining than heretofore, all factories taking special pains to turn out a No. 1 article. There will be some risk in holding back cod oil for better prices than above quoted.

HERRING.—The price of split still holds at $7 to $7.50. Nothing new to report.

LOBSTERS.—With no completed returns of the 1918 pack, the price offered at present is $18 per case, pound flats. Salmon (pickled) is quoted at $20.00 for No. 1 per tierce.

PROVISIONS.—As the majority of Canadian mills have closed down for want of wheat, importers here who ordered last month for September delivery are not able to get their requirements. A difference of four cents more per bushel in the price set by the American Food Controller has caused the Canadian farmers to protest to their Food Control Board, and should their protest prevail, we shall likely hear of higher flour. With only Government standard on the local market the price stands at $13.80 to $14. The Pork market is unchanged. Beef holds firm and may go higher. There are large stocks of both Pork and Beef on hand and from packing points, but transportation difficulties will keep deliveries at least a month behind. Supplies of Sugar continue scarce. West India last week advanced one cent per pound. American granulated cannot be had at present. Seven cargoes of molasses are due to arrive during the summer and fall. Prices have not changed since last week.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your paper to express the wish of our daughter Beatrice, who passed peacefully away on the morning of the 19th inst. It was her wish to sincerely thank Dr. Keegan and all the nurses of the General Hospital who did all they could for her and were so very kind to her on the two occasions that she was at the Hospital; and we also beg to thank the kind friends who visited her while there and who conveyed to her many nice things. Our little girl Beatrice entered the Hospital for treatment for hip trouble on or about Oct. 10th, 1915, and came home again March 22nd, 1916. She again went to Hospital on Feb. 14th, 1917, and underwent an operation. We took her home very ill on July 18th, 1918. She was home nearly a year. We also beg to thank the kind friends of Lewisport who brought wreaths and placed on the wreaths were many; and for the messages of sympathy from Hon. John and Mrs. Harrey and Mrs. J. Forsay, and the words of sympathy and cheer from the numerous friends of Lewisport. It will take too much space to name them all. But, my dear friends of Lewisport and St. John's, also the friends on the Clyde and Home, your kindness to us and to our little daughter, both while she was alive and at her death, will live and be cherished in our memories as long as life and memory in us shall last.

Capital and Labor.

This question which looms large in every nation to-day, and is causing such perplexity to statesmen every-where, was the subject on which Evangelist R. A. Hubley preached last night to a crowded and much interested audience.

"It is," said he, "a sign of the end of the world, and the dominating cause of the carnival of lawlessness and violence that make the days so perilous." He quoted 1 Tim. 5: 10 and 2 Tim. 3: 1, 2 in support of this assertion.

He said "The Bible very positively states that this generation would witness an unparalleled accumulation of wealth, a hoarding of riches eclipsing into insignificance the records of past ages," and proved his statement by several texts of Scripture.

To illustrate the wealth now actually possessed by one individual the speaker said: "If Adam had lived during the entire history of the world, and had worked every day of that long period, he would have had to earn more than $460 daily to own what is now within the grasp of one money magnate. If a man born in 1, A. D. had lived ever since, he would have had to earn $1.00 for every minute of the Christian era to hold an equal fortune." "This," said he, "is against God's order, and must end in disaster."

"The history of all great nations constitutes a significant warning in this respect. To illustrate: Persia perished when 1 per cent of the people owned all the land; Egypt went down when 2 per cent of the people held 97 per cent of the wealth; Babylon fell when 2 per cent of the people owned all the wealth; and Rome expired when 1800 men possessed the known world."

The speaker quoted a statement made by Thos. G. Shearman in the Forum in 1889 to the effect that in 39 years the U. S. would be substantially owned by less than one in five hundred of the male population. This showed a prophetic insight fully substantiated by the following statistics given by the speaker: "In 1914, 44 individuals were taxed in U. S. on an income of a million dollars or more. In 1915, the number of such people taxed was 66; in 1916 to 120, and in 1917 to 376."

The speaker plainly showed that these conditions would intensify until the end, and that complete readjustment is hopeless under present conditions.

Saving Russia's Life Line.

(From the New York World.)

The Murman coast of Russia, which American and British troops are said to have occupied and placed under Allied protection, is as far north as King William Land, where Franklin abandoned the Erebus and Terror, to wander to his death in cold darkness. But the Gulf Stream makes it ice-free, while Archangel, much further south, is blocked in winter. For half the year, therefore, so long as Germany harries the Baltic, the Kola or Murman railway is Russia's sole sea outlet to the western world. It is to save that life-line, with its immense value for handling material of war and peaceful reconstruction, that the Allies have acted. The British have apparently occupied the railroad as far as Kem, where it skirts the western angle of the White Sea on its way to Petrograd. The demand of M. Tokaerin, Bolshevik foreign minister, that the British detachments on the Murman coast be withdrawn will cause little surprise. Since Brest-Litovsk, no surrender by that faction to German encroachments has been unexpected. To Finland the Allies' action gives no occasion of legitimate of-

The Czecho-Slovaks.

Among the many names of fighting or non-combatant bodies, armies and rulers in unhappy Russia, the public mind becomes involved in confusion. For instance, one wonders why a body called the Czecho-Slavs should seemingly be fighting in Russia on the side of the Allies. This army consists for the most part of one-time soldiers of Austria. They belong to Bohemia, Galicia and other Slav districts. They hate the Teuton and know the serfdom of his rule. They do not want to fight the Bolsheviks in Siberia, but are trying to reach the Pacific in order to get at grips on the Western Front and battle with the Allies against despotism from which they have suffered. They got away from the Austrian army for that purpose and are held up by the Russian situation and would-be rulers in their desire to fight the common enemy of democracy. German influence is also at the back of their being held in Russia.
