At St. Michael's Church Rosalind Had Stormy

In spite of the terrific storm that aged on the higher levels, St. Michael's Church, Casey Street, had a goodly number of worshippers at the olemn celebration of the Holy Eucharist on Christmas Eve at 11.30. The church was tastefully decorated of the rooms were flooded but beyond for the occasion and a very chaste and this no other damage was done. The attractive Crib was set up at the chancel step which drew many visvice was very fine and consisted of and all were glad when port was Cross Bearer and Acolytes, choir preeded by its banner, students from Queen's College, altar servers and the gers:three sacred ministers all vested in restments recently presented. The elebrant was the Rector, Rev. Edwin Queen's was the Sub-Deacon. They were assisted by a full choir and the Christmas Day, and another high lebration will take place on to-morall concerned for what was certainthe finest and most beautiful serices ever held in this church which already noted for the dignity and votion of its worship.

RADERS

Despite the very stormy weather which prevailed, a large number of worshippers attended Midnight Mass at the R.C. Cathedral. The celebrant was Rt. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, with Rev. Fr. Savin as deacon and Rev. R. J. Greene as sub-deacon. His Grace the Archbishop was on the Throne and was attended by Rev. Dr. arter, as assistant priest at the Throne ,and Revs. M. J. Pennedy and . Sullivan as deacons of honor: Rev. J. Kennedy was Master of Cereonies and was assisted by Rev. R. J. urphy. In the Sanctuary members Archbishop Howley Fourth Degree nights of Columbus acted as a guard f honor. The C.C.C. Band was present and rendered the "Adeste" and the Gloria" before and after Mass.

AT ST. PATRICK'S.

At. St. Patrick's Church. Midnigh Mass, was celebrated by Rev. Mon signor Kitchin, assisted by the pries the parish.

AT ST. JOSEPH'S.

At. St. Joseph's, Rev. Fr. Pippy was lebrant and was assisted by Rev McGettigan. The congregation as large considering the very stormy ather which prevailed.

Xmas Service at Wesley Church

The service at Wesley Church of Christmas Day was well attended and the sermon from Rev. J. G. Joyce was heard with deep interest. The Anhems were well chosen and render with fine precision. The anthem The Heavenly Babe," was a brilliant rendition, Mr. A. Snow taking the bass part in very fine voice. After the service yesterday morning the choir waited on Mr. J. C. Pratt, the Choir Director, and Mr. George E. Turner. L.R.C.M., the organist, and presented each with a suitable Christmas gift. Both recipients, though taken surprise, made very fitting reply. The outstanding feature of the observance of Christmas at Wesley Church was the very fine appearance of the old time decorations of boughs and vergreens. A band of workers had evoted much of their time and skill o this end. Over the Sanctuary are the words "Star of Bethlehem," work ed in white, which adds distinction and joy to the beauty of the festival. At this service the pastor thanked all those who kindly contributed to the radio fund and also to the congregation for their hearty co-operation with his efforts for church advancement. The choir will render the full Christmas music at the evening ser-

SESSION BREEZE 2016年2月1日

Dec. 24th.-- Up betimes and abroad having a list nigh a yarde in length of things that my wife has forg me buy for her. But Lord, how I shall get through the day I know not, since I must sett about the buying of mine own present also, having as yett done no Xtmas shopping. Indeed, I did find it a thing to be thankfull for that the weather was badd, being a great blizzard, and so I hear, the wind blows at the rate of 96 miles an hour. For, the weather was so badd that it was an easy matter to be served in the shoppes, and I did get through with more speed than I did-think possible. Much troubled in my mind about a gift for my wife, and do at last decide upon a baskett for her needlework, which I do trust will please her. But God be praised, I am no sooner done buying for other people when I do discover how if I must get me a paire of gloves for myself, I must do so on credit. Coming home to lunch, do find at my house a fine turkey that is sent me by the Telegram sheet, which was indeed, a kind thought of theirs and a great help to me at this season Abroad again, and at the office, do find in my desk all the Xtmas cardes that I should have sent out yes terday, and must needs neglect all my other work that I may address them and putt them in the noste. Comes Povey to wish me the compliments of the season, and with him to try my luck at the raffles, where I do see him win 3 birds, yett could not win a solitary 1 for myself, and seems how I have no luck in games of chance. Anon to Geo. Kearnev's where some time in discourse and do receive from him a fine pair of wool hose for Xtmas, mighty usefull. Taking a sled to drive home, the horse so tired that he will not go up the hill, and takes me longer to drive than to walk, which putts me in high ill humour, nor is my humour improved when my wife

bidds me tie up divers Xtmas presents that she has neglected to send abroad.

So mighty tired, to bedd, with expectations of a good rest in the morning. being in sore need of it. Dec. 25th. (Xtmas Day)-Waked betimes by noises on the street, and rising, do find my wife busy at her presents, none of which seem to please .00 her and least of all mine own. In-3.00 deed, says she, thou art a mighty mean man, Sam Pepys, knowing full well 2.50 how I would have liked some jewellry and instead you give me this useless .00 basket. Which makes me as madd as .00 a devill that she should so flout my .00 gift, so that I tell her how the cigars 5.00 she gives me stink so that I doubt if 5.00 even the dustman would smoak them .00 if I gave them to him. At this, she .00 falls a-weeping that I should speak so to her on Xtmas Day, and do stopp her 5.00 only by the promise of a fine gold bracelet that she says she has wanted .00 this long time. In much better hum-.00 our after dinner, having a fine turkey, .00 of which methinks I did eat a little 2.00 too much, and the pudding also great-2.00 ly to my liking. So having eaten to .00 allmost more than my content, to .00 sleep most of the day, nor do I go .00 abroad at all, and the Poveys coming Special Evening Telegram, .00 anon, to make merry till nigh on mid-.50 night, when to bedd, well content, yett .00 not without my mind being somewhat Hethpool passed west at 10.30 a.m.,
