Like a Waterfall After the Grip

Tremendous Roaring in the Head
Pain in the Stomach.

"To C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Two years ago I had a severe attack of the Grip, which left me in a terrible weak and debilitated condition. Last winter I had another attack and was again very badly off, my health being completely wrecked. All the disintegrating effects of the Grip and cold, I am free from pains and aches, and believe in my stomach. I took medicines without benefit, until having heard so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I concluded to try it, and the result is very gratifying. All the disintegrating effects of the Grip and cold, I am free from pains and aches, and believe

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is surely giving me my health. I recommend it to all. Geo. W. Cook, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

EASY WITH THE BABIES!

So Say the Doctors!

"Yes, I am very busy just now; I have a large number of infants to attend who are suffering from the usual summer troubles. I can truly say that many other doctors here are as busy as I am, with the little ones."

A well-known city physician spoke in this way the other day. Ordinary individuals do not fully realize the terrible amount of sickness that exists among young infants just now. Honest physicians say that a poor quality of cow's milk and unsuitable infant food is the prime cause of nearly every case of infant sickness. Infant digestion is weak and requires a special food—a diet easily assimilated and digested, and one that will not cause irritation or inflammation of any organ. Lactated Food meets every want and emergency. It is always retained on the weakest stomach, and causes the infant to sleep and rest well. Lactated Food puts the little one in condition to successfully resist all summer sickness. Lactated Food is a flesh, muscle and bone producer, and keeps the baby happy and contented night and day. Mother, do not keep this food from your little one; its use at this season may save its life.

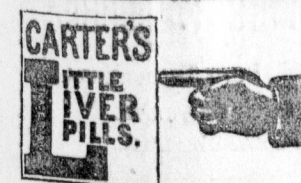

Roche Was Too Late.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22.—A man named Roche, who formerly lived in Hamilton, deserted his wife and three children from here nine years ago and went to Chicago. Since then Mrs. Roche has not heard from her husband. About eighteen months ago Mrs. Roche was married to H. Geiger, being assured by a prominent lawyer that if she had not heard from Roche for seven years, and had no knowledge that he was alive, she was acting within the law in marrying a second time. This morning Roche turned up and wanted to make trouble, but it is probable the woman will stick to Geiger.

Agon, Sages and Wages.

If you have a wife and a half a dozen daughters, you can keep them all well by very simple means. Let them use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is good for women of all ages. You will not need to spend all your money for it. Those ancient sages, the M.D.s of a century since, did nothing but dose and bleed their patients. We do better to-day: We use Dr. Pierce's remedies. For womanhood, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is simply indispensable. The young girl needs its strengthening help at that critical period when she is blossoming into womanhood. The matron and mother find in it invigorating and relief from the numerous ills which beset their existence. And ladies well advanced in years universally acknowledge the revivifying and restorative effects of this favorite and standard remedy.

GROWTH OF THE CHURCH.

Mr. R. Shaw-Wood moved that a committee be appointed to learn the causes which hinder the growth of the Anglican Church. The committee named included Messrs. W. J. Imlach, H. Macklin, Ferguson, R. S. Strong and Rev. Alfred Brown, Canon Hineke and R. S. Gurd. Mackenzie, the parish officials, a staff of the committee all the assistance possible. The committee was also asked to suggest some means of furthering the aggressive work of the church.

Dean Mackenzie supported the resolution. He said the great hindrance to the growth of the Anglican Church in the diocese was the excessive expenditure of money by the various congregations in behalf of foreign missions. Of the 110,000 people in the diocese 51,000 were not provided for by the English Church. This was not right. In Brantford it had been found impossible to get the people in the suburbs to attend the parish church, yet two mission congregations had been established. He maintained that this was purely a missionary work as such being carried on in the most distant field of the diocese. He spoke of the lack of interest taken by the diocesan people in missions. There were rich people who gave nothing whatever in this direction. He spoke of the great work being carried on by the Presbyterians in the South Seas, where they had three converts to every one made by the English Church. He believed the reason for this would be found in the practical view taken of this question by Anglicans generally. The Church of England did not bring common sense business methods to bear upon their missionary enterprise.

Rev. Principal Millar took exception to some of these remarks. He thought that the dean's principles should better accord with his practice. The dean had said there was a deficit of $700 in the Brantford parishes' finances last year, and that during the same time $800 had been contributed to foreign missions. And yet, while Dean Mackenzie's parish was disclaiming the principles he had enunciated, when Huron College (an institution established for the purpose of preparing young men for the work of Christian ministry in the Diocese of Huron) wanted funds, no contribution could be made.

Rev. J. C. Farthing said that the system of clergy obsequence to rich men—which was altogether too prevalent—was a cause of the church's non-prosperity in the diocese. The question was always being asked, How can this man and how can that man be conciliated? "If they do not want the work of God to go on," asserted the speaker, with vehemence, "they are not worth conciliating at all." The curse of new rents, said Mr. Farthing, also injured the church. The Church of England would never be a missionary church until she swept away the bars of gold with which the rich had barricaded the pews. The church was also too conservative. There was too much cold respectability prevalent within the fold, and he felt that the church would never be strong and vigorous as long as it was on this high pedestal of cold respectability, dangerously bordering on indifference.

Rev. A. E. Whatham, who has been sent from England to pursue missionary work, and who is now located in the St. Clair district, made a vigorous speech. It pleased him to see the Church of England in Canada on the retrograde. Forty-five years ago the body stood first among the denominations, now it was third. The fact that large numbers were still leaving the church could not be denied. How was this? One reason was because the people were not fully instructed in the history of the church. The Methodist and Presbyterian churches had not very much history, and had not consequently very much reason to go into such researches.

Rural Dean Cooper said that it would be well if steps were taken to ferret out the 110,000 people who were alleged to exist in the diocese. He thought they would be found rather intangible. One of the chief reasons for the church's lack of progress was the serimony engendered by the high and low church contentions. Some people, he said, were too hard to please in people, he said, if you spoke of the pains of hell they would not put in an appearance at church; whereas, if Ingersoll lectured on the non-existence of eternal punishment they looked to hear him bid them to heaven on "flowery beds of ease."

Rev. G. W. Wye, of Amherstburg, averred that there was too much selectness about the Anglican Church. Five new families had recently come into his parish. Every one of these had been called upon by the Presbyterians and Methodists, but no member of his congregation had apparently dreamed of extending the courtesy.

The motion was finally carried. Adjourned till 8 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

When the bishop took the chair he read a telegram couched in the following terms: "The Bishop of Montreal is deeply grateful to Almighty God in being able to say that he is gradually approaching convalescence. He is warmly grateful to the Synod of Huron for their hearty sympathy, and prays that the blessing of God will abundantly rest upon their labors on behalf of the Church of Christ."

The Rev. Mr. Thomas, who had been canvassing for the Synod of Huron College, rose to a question of privilege. During the speech of Mr. Mackenzie, that gentleman had led the Synod to believe that, after having been advised by the rector of Grace Church parish, Brantford, not to canvass within its bounds, he had proceeded, disregarding the injunction to do so. This was erroneous. He had not done so.

PAROCHIAL REPORTS.
Mr. R. Shaw-Wood moved that additional columns be added to the tabulated form of the parochial reports, giving the average attendance, also the number of celebrations during the year and the number of eligible communicants in each parish. Canon Young seconded. Carried.

AMENDING A CANON.
Rev. J. C. Farthing's amendment to canon 26, relative to the episcopal and archdeacon's fund, was carried. This was to provide that whenever the Ven. Archdeacon Sandys should cease to be entitled to draw the sum of $400 per annum at present paid to him from the episcopal and archdeacon's fund the sum should no longer be paid to an archdeacon. Whenever, though, the present Diocese of Huron shall be divided, the said sum of $400 shall be divided, the said sum of $400 per annum shall be paid to the bishop of the diocese then formed. In the event of the present recipient ceasing to draw the aforesaid sum of $400 per annum before such new diocese is formed, then the sum, it was provided, shall be paid each year towards a new diocese. The very reverend the dean, the chancellor and Mr. Matthew Wilson, Q.C., were appointed a committee to take such action as might be necessary to legalize the change in the disposition of the fund.

WAYS AND MEANS OF THE INCOME.
A petition from incumbent and wardens of Church of the Holy Trinity, Hyde Park, and Grace Church, Ilford, applying for share of London rectory surplus income, was referred to the committee.

AN EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE WANTED.
A memorial was presented from the alumni of Huron College asking that a sub-committee of the executive committee be appointed to make annual reports to the Synod on the educational work, and devise means by which such work may be promoted.

Principal English said the college work had been retarded by lack of funds and lack of diocesan interest.

Rev. G. W. Ball was glad to see two of Huron College alumni, at least, had awakened from the inattention and lethargy which had enveloped them for 35 years. He thought it wrong that part of the endowment of the college had been so unnecessarily idle. However, if only necessary, Huron had a little life infused into its being at this meeting of the Synod he would be contented.

Mr. Charles Jenkins held that the executive committee was no place from which to make a selection for a committee on education. He suggested that the selection be made direct from the membership of the Synod.

Rev. R. McCosh moved, seconded by Rev. W. Craig, that the bishop submit the necessary canon.

A DIOCESAN DIVISION.
Mr. Charles Jenkins moved that a committee be appointed, composed of an equal number of laymen and clergymen, to discuss the advisability and practicality of a division of the diocese. He said the diocese had an area of 12,000 square miles, containing 250 stations. Each of these had to receive annually episcopal visitation. Such arduous duties, he thought, were altogether beyond the abilities of one man. Adopted.

EXPENSES TO BE MET.
On motion of Rev. Canon Young, seconded by Rev. Mr. Craig, it was decided to pay the traveling expenses of delegates to the General Synod.

A resolution thanking the citizens of London for the hospitality which had uniformly been extended to the visiting delegates was passed.

COMMITTEES.
Diocesan Committee on Finance—Dean of Huron, Archdeacon of Huron, Canon Smith, Canon Young, Rev. Robert McCosh, Rev. Thomas Davis, Rev. William Craig, Rev. John Ridley, Rev. Alfred Browne, Chancellor Cronyn, Henry Macklin, W. J. Imlach, R. S. Gurd, Charles Jenkins, A. H. Dymond, Matthew Wilson.

Committee on Extension of the Episcopate—Dean of Huron, Archdeacon of London, Canon Young, Rev. Alfred Browne, Rev. T. R. Davis, Rev. R. McCosh, Rev. R. S. Cooper, Rev. John Downie, Chancellor Cronyn, Rev. John Charles Jenkins, Judge Ermainger, M. Wilson, Philip Holt, A. H. Dymond, James Wood.

The committee on Sunday schools, the committee on temperance, and the committee on prison aid were reappointed. The only amendment was the substitution of the name of Mr. R. S. Gurd for that of Mr. McAden.

The bishop then brought the proceedings of the Synod to a close by a short address.
