THE TURF.

DATE FOR HAMILTON MEET. Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 20. - It was practically settled at a meeting held yesterday that the Hamilton Jockey Club will hold a spring meeting in 1904 from June 7 to 11, inclusive, the week following the Ontario Jockey Club's races. Samuel Barker retired from the presidency owing to the stress of other business. The following officers were elected: William Hendrie, jun., president; F. C. Bruce, first vicevice-president. The other directors are J. M. Harry, S. B. Barker, P. D. of the directorate will be held shortly to arrange for the spring meeting. HAMILTON BOY DOING WELL.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Pat Civill has a very high opinion of his jockey, Crawford, and thinks he is one of the coming lights of the turf in the riding department. He was almost certain that his filly Applause would win yesterday with Crawford up, and the only reason he did not bet on her was that he has made a resolve to do no more wagering during the year, but he told all his friends who asked him that the filly had a royal chance, and advised them to get down. Crawford, he says. has all the attributes of a good jockey. I He is alert at the post and quick to get away, knows the shortest way around, and can put up a strong finish. He comes from Hamilton, Ont., and Hendrie, president of the Ontario Jockey Club.

YESTERDAY'S TURF WINNERS. At Bennings — Judith Campbell O'Neil), 1 to 2 and out; Master Prim (Romanelli), 30 to 1 and 10 to 1; Holdsby (Rodrick), 40 to 1 and 10 to 1; Alpaca (Reinheimer), 30 to 1 and even; Merry England (T. Burns), 4 to 5; Pompano (H. Calalhan), 6 to 1 and 2 to 1.

BEGUILE DISCOVERED. Mr. Joe Duggan's well-known performer Beguile, who was stolen from his stable at the Woodbine on Wednesday of last week, has been located on the farm of William Shunk, lot 11, concession 5, of Vaughan, and he will be returned to his owner today. Last Thursday the horse galloped down Mr. Shunk's lane, and after some trouble he managed to capture him. Constable Eurns was immediately notified Murphy, featherweights. The former by Mr. Shunk, who suspected that the was the missing Eeguile. is surmised that the son of Julien-Miss Deceiver was allowed to escape by the parties who stole him, as they feared detection, the country having been flooded with descriptions of the crack race horse. The day Beguile was stolen a horse looking much like him in every particular was seen tied behind a rig going towards York Mills.

TWO MORE APPLICANTS. Testerday saw two additions to the list of prospective candidates for the secretaryship of the Ontario Hockey Association-W. J. Hanley and George R. Simpson, both good men, with experience on the O. H. A. executive and in other positions of importance in the world of sport, and with all the neces-sary qualifications to fill the office satisfactorily. With the other four already out the delegates may have the opportunity to decide among six candidates, and it is not every organizaion that has the choice of so many really eligible and capable prospects. PROPOSED O. H. A. AMENDMENT, Former Secretary A. H. Beaton, of the O. H. A. has forwarded a notice of amendment to Secretary W. A. Bu-chanan, at St. Thomas, to be considered at the annual meeting, on Saturday, Dec. 5. The amendment is to the effect that no O. H. A. team shall play exhibition games with clubs outside the association before their series has been finished, without permission, each case, from the O. H. A.

GOLF. MISS ADAIR AT QUEBEC.

Quebec, Nov. 20 .- Miss Rhona Adair, the champion lady golfer, arrived in the city Wednesday night, accompanied by her sister, Miss Adair, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin, of the Lambton Golf Club. Toronto, and registered at the Chateau. She was called upon yesterday afternoon, after which a drive around the city was taken. On arrival at the Cove Fields to have a look over the golf links, which unfortunately were covered with snow, Miss Adair was met by Miss Turner, Misses Scott, ter being cordially greeted the fair J. Though elsewhere the surface of our college territory may be full of her telegge before the time to go to rock, hummocky, dotted with burs and autumnal weeds, fringed by jungle, there is one smoother spot down by the bishop's fence. Dr. Pocock used to call this place "Sykes' Folly," for once upon a time the former professor of English spent time and money in constructing a cinder tennis court. The court was not preferred to its grass rivals on the lawn, was not kept up, especially after the departure of Dr. One has to excavate to find the cinders. Yet even now there is a comparative level amidst the surrounding wild. The other day two thick-set fellows found spades and were seen to pick
