MRS. W. E. HODGINS AGAIN NAMED REGENT OF MUNICIPAL CHAPTER

Some rather animated discussion marked the annual meeting of the Municipal Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held yesterday afternoon in the Manor tea rooms, when the regent, Mrs. W. E. Hodgins, called for suggestions and a motion regarding the future status of the chapter.

Many suggestions were advanced. Mrs. T. H. Smallman finally made a motion to the effect that the Municipal Chapter be merely a consultative and executive body for the primary chapters, and should not enter into any scheme for raising money.

In amendment to this, Mrs. A. A. Campbell moved that the Municipal Chapter hold one entertainment a year for the sake of replenishing the treasury. A further amendment was voiced by Mrs. Johnston, who advocated the holding of a large entertainment, preferably a rose ball, each year, all chapters to lend their united efforts, and the proceeds to be equally divided amongst them.

Both amendments were finally lost, and Mrs. Smallman's motion carried.

Other business of the meeting included receiving of reports from the officers of the Municipal Chapter, all of which were very satisfactory. Representatives from the Lord Roberts Chapter, Seventh Regiment Chapter, Lord Elgin Chapter, Princess Patricia Chapter and Trafalgar Chapter were also present, and gave brief reports of the year's work.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Honorary regent, Mrs. Boomer; regent, Mrs. Hodgins, 1st vice-regent, Mrs. Niven, 2nd vice-regent, Mrs. Whitman; secretary, Mrs. R. M. Graham; treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Campbell; standard bearer, Mrs. McCrimmon; councillors, Mesdames T. H. Smallman; R. W. Puddicombe, Beddome, W. T. Edge, Tooley, Scatcherd, Geo. Gann, J. C. Duffell, Tucker and Young.

Afternoon tea was served at the close of the meeting.

Perseparation Spots On Silk.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me anything that will remove perspiration spots from a navy blue silk waist? The waist is new and the spots are of good quality. I think it would stand rubbing. I have sponged it with chloroform, but the dark stains linger. Can you tell me what will restore the color? ANXIOUS.

Ans.—White wine vinegar is highly recommended for removing the unpleasant combination of salt, acid and oil that make up perspiration stains. Those who have tried it assert it does the work well. If you had tried it before applying anything else, it would be a more likely derivative. Should it change the color of the silk, touch with ammonia after drying the spots.

Dear Miss Grey:

1. Please tell me the meaning of the following names: Alice, Jean, Florence, Emma, Ina, Edith, Ethel, Evelyn, Thelma, Bessie, Zillah, Ella, Stella, Eusebia, Yella and Velma.
2. I am 12 years of age. Am 5 feet 4 inches tall. How much should I weigh?
3. I have auburn hair, hazel eyes and pink complexion. What are my colors?
4. I'm almost afraid to ask, "What think you of my penmanship?"
Thinking you, I am, "GOLDENROD."

A.—1. Alice, of noble birth; Jean, gift of God; Florence, blooming; Emma, industrious; Ina, pure; Edith, happiness; Ethel, noble; Evelyn, life; Thelma, lovely; Bessie, consecrated; Zillah, hand-maiden; Ella, light; Stella, a star. I do not know the meaning of the last three names.
2. About 112 pounds.
3. Gray would no doubt be very becoming; so would brown, blue and green, I think.
4. Tremble no longer, little "Goldenrod."

Thanking you in advance, A. L. L.

A.—After all the nice compliments which you offer me, it seems as though that selection should be forthcoming. From what you quote I am sure it is amusing in the extreme. If any reader chances to possess it, and will be good enough to forward it, I shall have pleasure in sending it on at once to A. L. L.

Sisters Want Help.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you kindly help us as you have many others by answering the following questions:

1. What is good for removing a grease spot from an old rose dress?
2. What is good for freckles?
3. Would like very much to get the song, "I Wonder If You Miss Me As I Miss You?" and oblige.

EAGLE SISTERS.

A.—1. You might try this way. Around "No" outside of the spot rub a ring of magnesia or French chalk; then apply gasoline to the grease. The object of the chalk is to prevent a ring being formed on the material.
2. Application of lemon juice will be found helpful, or why not inquire for a preparation at a drug store?
3. I am not familiar with the piece you mention, but refer the request to readers of this column.

St. Patrick's Day in the Dining-Room

BY CAROLINE COE.

St. Patrick's day in our house for years has been a fete day.

When my youngest hopeful had been in school about two years he came home one day with a strained, tired look on his little face.

I said, "What's the trouble, dear?" "Well," said he, "I've had a fearful day! Teacher gave us such big words to talk about."

"What were some of them?" I asked. He said: "One was nationality. Teacher asked us each to tell our nationality and I had to tell her 'Irish,' and I was never so ashamed in my life—all the others were German, you see!"

I took the lesson to heart and a few days later I said:

"Sunshine, I want to tell you about this nationality question. I'll give your German father credit for your thrift and health, but do you notice you can always give back everyone a quick answer? Well, son, that's the Irish in you!"

He looked up into my face and said, "Oh, is it? Well, Irish isn't so bad after all!"

Ever since that time we have tried to keep our "nationally green" in the minds of the children by having a little dinner for them with Irish decorations.

Last year I served a dinner to six of them. While they were waiting for the meal I let them play two little games.

One of them was "The Shamrock Hunt." I hid a lot of paper shamrocks all over the house and sent the children on a hunt for the four-leaf ones. The child that found the most of them was given a green bonbon box filled with green candy.

Just before the children sat down at table I carried about a tray with twelve green things upon it—green leaves, green thread, green pickles, green candy, and told them to look them over carefully. After dinner, when they had forgotten all about it, I gave them pencil and paper and told them to write the names of the things they had seen on the tray.

The dinner table must be kept as a surprise and it can be set in this fashion.

For the cover use plain white crepe paper top with an Irish flag crepe flourish. The centre piece is a small wheelbarrow made of gold cardboard and filled with green and white paper carnations. Small wheelbarrows at each place hold salted pistachio nuts. Place cards of shamrock made from green paper with tiny clay pipes tied across them. Green paper hats to hold the candy are at each place, the crystal candle holders rest on green lace paper doilies and the white candles are covered with green shades made of tiny Irish flags. Inside each paper napkin is placed a typical Irish cap, made of green paper. Tiny ribbons, run from the wheelbarrow to each place, when pulled, give to each guest a tiny Irish flag.

Here follows a simple St. Patrick's day dinner:

Cream of Spinach Soup.
Pork Tenderloin Cut in Round Slices.
Peas.
Potato Balls with Parsley.
Parker House Rolls with Bits of Citron Stuck on the Top.
Green Grape Salad on Lettuce.
Mint Jelly with Whipped Cream.
Angel Food Broken Into Irregular Pieces and Dipped in Green Marshmallow Icing.

Green and White Mint Wafers.
To make the green marshmallow icing mix together one cup of granulated sugar and two tablespoons cold water. Place over fire and boil until it spins a hair when dropped from a fork. Beat the white of one egg to a dry froth. Pull three marshmallows into small pieces and put with the eggs just as the sugar is being turned in very slowly. The hot sugar will melt the marshmallow. Beat until cool and smooth. Color bright green with spinach juice. Dip the torn pieces of angel food into this and set aside to cool.

its way during this configuration for postmen, messengers, expressmen and all who carry communications between persons or places.
Next year is in a place ready as of happy augury for all who travel by water, or deal in liquids of any sort. The good aspects of this planet are said to bring success through dealing in choice foodstuffs, canned fruits, and delicacies intended to please the palate. The King of Sweden is under a malefic away of the stars. The seers declare that the transit of Saturn next summer will cause him to suffer greatly not only in health, but in prestige.

Saturn will also affect the President of the United States, it is predicted, causing him many anxieties, among which will be certain trade complications with foreign powers. Visits from royalty will be more numerous than in previous years, it is prophesied. The spring and summer will bring many distinguished visitors to America.

Speculators in the West are subject to an adverse rule. San Francisco businessmen may suffer severe losses. Floods will be unusually widespread. While those prophesied for California proved to be destructive, the East will suffer much more than the West.

This stars, which presaged a disaster for New York city, still repeat warning of loss of life and property which will shock the nation. Persons whose birth date it is have the prognostication of an average year in which they will be moderately successful. Lawsuits will be disappointing.

Children born on this day have lucky stars to guide them. They probably will enjoy wealth and opportunities which come to the few. They are warned to be cautious in marrying.

"SO EGOTISTICAL."
(National Monthly.)

Miss Kit—See Miss Upper, over there! She thinks she's beautiful, evidently. But, my dear, that serene poise of her is merely pose.

Miss Kat—I know it. Strange that the elimination of an "it" should leave a trait so egotistical!

Satisfied I'd been robbed, they allowed my departure. Tho', of course, I'd to settle my fare the next day.

And now I wish to counsel young men from the country. Let them should get served in a similar way:

Beware of young widows you meet on the railway.

Who lean on your shoulder—whose tears fall like rain—

Look out for your pockets in case she resemble

That charming young widow I met on the train.

Songs We Used to Whistle and Sing

The Charming Young Widow I Met on the Train.

I live in Vermont, and one morning last summer

A letter informed me my uncle was dead.

And also requested I'd come down to Boston.

As he'd left me a large sum of money, it said

Of course, I determined on making the journey.

And to book myself by the first class I was fain,

Tho' had I gone second I would never encountered

The charming young widow I met on the train.

Yet scarce was I seated within the compartment

Before a fresh passenger entered the door.

'Twas a female, a young one, and dressed in deep mourning;

An infant in long clothes she gracefully bore.

A white cap surrounded her face oh so lovely;

I never shall look on one like it again;

I fell in deep love, overhead in a moment.

With the charming young widow I met on the train.

The widow and I side by side sat together.

The carriage containing ourselves and no more.

When silence was broken by my fair companion,

Who inquired the time by the watch that I wore.

I, of course, satisfied her, and then conversation

Was freely indulged in by both till my brain

Fairly reeled with excitement, I grew so enchanted

With the charming young widow I met on the train.

We became so familiar I ventured to ask her

How old was the child that she held at her breast.

"Ah, sir," she responded and into tears burst.

Her infant still closer convulsively pressed.

When I think of my child I am well-nigh distracted.

Its father—my husband—oh, my heart breaks with pain."

She, choking with sobs leaned her head on my waistcoat.
