no change in the provision market, business having continued quiet owing to the limited demand, and few changes even on jobbing account are recorded. The feeling is, however, steady. Butter rules quiet with a fair jobbing trade at 10 to 13c. The demand for choice new goods continues fair, and the bulk of the offerings are taken by the local trade. The firmness manifested in eggs yesterday continues, but they are not quoted any higher owing to increased quantities coming forward. The demand continues good at 13c.

L QUAL RIGHTS.— THERE IS NO hair-splitting about this question in our business. While the seller of property pays the commission, the buyer has rights that must be respected. A lopsided business cannot prosper nor succeed, because without the buyer the agent can be of no use to the seller, and buyers are slways sensitive about where they deal. They expect good value for their money as well as equal rights. It is a fatal mistake, for a paltry commission, to deceive buyers, or to entrap them into as unprofitable investment.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

Traders, Manufacturers and Owners of Weights, Measures and Weighing Machines generally are specially requested to read carefully the following instructions and act accordingly:

1. The Weights and Measures Act provides for a regular biennial inspection of all Weights and Measures used for trade purposes, as well as for irrogular inspections of the same, which may be made at any time when deemed necessary by the inspector, and it also imposes a heavy penalty on any trader or other person who wiffully obstructs or impedes an inspector or assistant inspector in the performance of his duty under said Act, or who refuses to produce the whole of his weights and measures for inspection when called upon to do so by an inspecting officer.

2. Every Trader, Manufacturer and Owner of Weights, Measures and Weighing Machines when paying moners to Inspectors or Assistant Inspectors of Weights and Measures for verification fees is entitled to, and is specially requested to, demand from the officer who makes the inspection an official certificate ("Form 0.6" with the words "Original for the Trader" printed at the head thereof) properly filled out and stamped, and also at the same time to carefully ascertain whether or not the stamps attached to such certificates or the stamps attached to bear in mind that certificates of verification are of no value whatever unless stamps covering the full amount of fees charged are attached.

2. Owners and holders of these official certificates are specially requested to keep them carefully for two years, and in order to secure their safe keeping it would be advisable to placart them in their places of business in the manner in which ordinary license certificates are done, for it must be distinctly understood that all traders who are unable to produce their properly stamped certificates when asked to do so by an inspector or assistant inspector may, in all probability, have to pay over again their verification fees.
