The Agreement will not have an impact on the sale of hay because there are no tariff or non-tariff barriers to trade. Current tariffs favour the Canadian dehydrated alfalfa industry.

Tobacco

The reduction of tobacco tariffs over a 10-year period could provide a basis for increased exports to the United States.

Canaryseed

The elimination of the U.S. tariff on canaryseed under the Agreement will have little effect on Canadian exports. Existing tariffs are small and during the last three years exports to the United States have nearly doubled. Since markets are limited, this performance cannot be expected to continue.
