

FOREWORD

Being an agriculturally diversified country Canada has developed an agricultural machinery industry that is serving a wide base of crop and livestock producers at home and abroad.

Guided by the changing needs of the world's farming community Canada's agricultural machinery industry is constantly seeking to improve and expand its product line.

Thousands of visitors originating in Canada and abroad come and visit the annual Western Canada Farm Progress Show held in Regina, Saskatchewan to view and test the latest technology applied to agricultural machinery.

The opportunity to be included in this Directory was offered to all Canadian manufacturers of agricultural machinery known to us.

In order to make sure that the company presentations in this Directory would reflect the spirit of the individual approach to international marketing each manufacturer was asked to write its own.
