

The Liberal Banner.

Unfurl the Liberal Banner, let it sway upon the air,
The records of our honest men so plainly written there.
From east to west, from north to south, our trumpets will resound,
And eyes grow bright and hearts throb light when the victory
we will sound.

CHORUS.

Unfurl the Liberal Banner, let it sway upon the air,
The records of our honest men so plainly written there;
In the battle it shall lead us,
And our Banner it shall be,
A beacon light to glory and a guide to Victory—
A beacon light to glory and a guide to Victory!

The Tory banner is a gem, so precious and so rare,
The record of dishonest men, so plainly written there.
They say that we are prosperous, but it would make you sigh
To hear them say, "Don't leave us, boys—good times come
by-and-by;"
To hear them say, "Don't leave us, boys—good times come
by-and-by."

CHORUS.

Unfurl the Liberal Banner, let it sway upon the air,
The records of our honest men so plainly written there;
In the battle it shall lead us,
And our Banner it shall be
A beacon light to glory and a guide to Victory—
A beacon light to glory and a guide to Victory.
