Canada's catch during the season of 1915-16 was 112½ lbs. per person. This means all kinds of fish within the Dominion, including the Pacific and Atlantic.

One of the great industries of Canada in the fish, and her exports of fish is very important. If the people conform to the food controller's desire and eat, each person, 52 lbs. fish this year, it will mean that Canada will not have as much to export. The export of fish is important inasmuch as Canada must import so many things, such as coal and other commodities, so it is necessary to keep up this exportation of fish.

The Adventure

A maxim manufacturer once retired to his workshop, got down his lexicon, book of synonyms and other tools, and proceeded to hammer together one to this general effect, nemely, that the chief end of life in this world is the gaining of health, wealth and happiness.

What extravagance! Now had I made that maxim I should have expressed it like this: The ultimate goal of our mindane existence is the attainment of health, health and health. I certainly regret to see anything wasted, especially words.

Heaven is a place where everybody enjoys perfect health. One of these days heaven is going to have some branch offices established around the earth.

Nobody has yet discovered a way to sin and be healthy. Venial and mortal sin, like sanitary sins bring sure purishment.

We would not be successful to the same respectable diseases. But when the other closes, smallpox and other respectable diseases. But when the question of preventing the spread of diphtheria, tuberculosis, smallpox and other respectable diseases. But when the question of preventing the spread of diphtheria, tuberculosis, smallpox and other respectable diseases. But when the question of preventing the spread of diseases a hundred times more destructive arises, the so-called veneral diseases, we suddenly assume a cloak of false modesty and pretend that these diseases, we suddenly assume a cloak of false modesty and pretend that these diseases, we suddenly assume a cloak of false modesty and pretend that these diseases do not concern respectable people.

Syphilis and gonorrhea, terribly destructive diseases, are far more prevalued that these diseases of people than tuberculosis, smallpox and diphtheria. The black plague destroys infinitely more lives than tuberculosis does. It wrecks the happiness and insures lifelong invalidism of an appalling number of invalidism of an appa Words.

is because in our smug complacency we have endorsed the double standard. The like sanitary sins, bring sure purishment upon the innocent and guilty alike. I am not my neighbor's keeper, but sometimes when he is careless about the way he peddles his infection I wish I were. If he conceals a mild or doubtful case of "scarlet rash" or "scarletina" in his home, there is always a chance that I may have a fatal case of scarlet fever in my home, and then I should feel tempted to shoot my neighbor. A citizen who has contempt for sanitary regulations is a dangerous element in any community and ought to be harshly dealt with.

The laws governing the prevention of diseases are excellent as far as they go. other reason is that apparently we haven't the courage to demand a health certificate before consenting to the engagement—and right there is where we prove false to our trust
