The Indiana Bicycle Works Clese Bown
Till After the Election.

Indianapolis, Aug. 15.—The Indiana bicycle works, employing 1500 men when running full handed, shut down when running full handed, shut down to-day until after the election. Chas. E. Smith, President of the company, said, in giving his reasons for the clossing: "The uncertainty of the future is one sufficient cause. We have a half million dollars out now, and we want to know what we are to realize on that before we put more money at the present value into stock. It is ordinary business sense and not political causes us to suspend, work until we know what the result of the election is to be. We cannot risk in further manufacture until our monetary contest is settled. If it is determined to maintain the soundness of present value of our money at the polls the people who are hoarding it will let it go again into trade.

constructing other dams further up the river, but 12,000 is the amount said to be obtainable from the two lower dams. The volume of water that flows shown the valley in summer forms no criteriou for arriving at the average daily power that may be obtained by storing up the water that a preservoirs collect and retain the greater part of the water that comes down the river during the whole year. The water thus stored away can be used as required, it is contended that the water stored in these two reservoirs, if discharged in a steady, unvariable stream for 10 hours a day, and 385 days a year, would create 12,000 horse-power during that time. The water stored in the upper reservoir does double duty. It generates power while falling over the upper dam, and also while descending over the lower one. A third dam, in turn, would add, in geometrical proportion, to the power-producing properties of the stream.

The following extract is from the last Isue of The Canadian Mining Review, the official organ of the mining associations of Eastern Canada:

"Occasionally there is lucky mining as the owners of the Mayflower found out when the graders of the Trail Creek tramway uncovered a three-foot chute of $90 ore. Float from this vein had been found last summer, but the vein had been found last summer, but the vein had been found last summer, but the vein have a force of men at work driving a tunnel on this body of ore; and the showing in the breast is all that could be desired. The mouth of the tunnel is right at the track of the Trail Creek tramway, thus facilitating the hauling of supplies and the shipping of ore. Returns from two carloads shipped (at the time of writing this) give an average value of $90 per ton. The vein has been stripped for two hundred feet and has been found strong and true. The Mayflower may safely be considered a mine."

that applications continue to come in for Dominion Developing & Mining Co. stock. Recent reports just received from British Columbia confirm all that has been said about the property of the company; in fact, developments are beyond the most sanguine expectations. The properties are exceedingly rich. Mr. Cornell will be at the Palmer House on Aug. 17, 18 and 19, to show intending purchasers samples, information, etc., and show what Canadian brains, pluck and energy, when awakened, can do in gold mining in British ened, can do in gold mining in British Columbia. He claims that more has been accomplished in four months of the company's operations than ever was known in mining. Intending investors would do well to see him on those dates.

THE PROPOSED HUMBER DAMS.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 15.—The mutiliated and decomposed body of a woman about 35 years of age was found mear New Richmond last night. The hands were missing, having been torn off by dogs. The head, with scalp half torn off, was lying a foot from the neck. The coroner's jury viewed the body, but could not decide whether it was a case of accidental death, suicide or murder. The body was buried in Watkins' Cemetery this morning. A careful examination failed to show any marks of violence.

On Attaining His Majority.

On Saturday afternoon an interesting event took place in the City Treasurer's office. Mr. David E. Robertson, who has been for upwards of five years a junior clerk in the department, on the occasion of completing his 21st year, was presented by the City Treasurer and the staff with a very handsome Bible, on the fly leaf of which was the following inscription: "Presented to Mr. David E. Robertson by the City Treasurer and the staff of the Treasury Department of the Corporation of the City of Toronto on the occasion of his attaining his 21st birthday, as a slight memento of the kindly feelings held for him and appreciation of his prompt, efficient and faithful performance of duty, and conveying their sincere wishes for his future success, and also their carnest desire that he may peruse the contents of this good book and faithfully follow its precepts through life." The signatures of the City Treasurer and the staff were appended. The City Treasurer's policy has been to appoint youths, who are trained to take responsible positions as vacancies occur in the staff. Mr. Robertson is the first of those appointed under this system to attain his majority in the office. The Treasurer made the presentation in a graceful address. Mr. Robertson is deservedly popular, in the office and was heartly congratulated by the staff.
