TO INDUCT REV. C. L. GEGGIE,

The New Pastor of Parkdale Pres byterian Church on November 7

Church yesterday, with Rev. J. McP. Scott in the chair. An expression of the sympathy of the Presbytery is to be sent to Chalmers' Church congregation on account of the loss of their pastor. Rev. R. P. Mackay is now moderator of Chalmers' Church sossion.

thurch session.

The following students have been certical as students in theology to the Senate f Knox College: William Beattle, R. F. iall, F. S. Winch, J. W. McNamara, F. Maxwell, for the third year, and W. A. remner, T. W. Taylor and H. Munro for the second year.

with an increased salary, to visit the nospitals.

As Parkdale Presbyterian Church is practically certain of securing Rev. C. L. &eggie as rector, arrangements for his induction on Nov. 7 were made. The moderator will preside, Rev. Armstrong Black will preach, and Rev. Wh. Patterson and Rev. L. H. Jordan will give addresses.

The afternoon session of the Presbytery was given over to the consideration of the Iwentleth Century Fund. Dr. Campbell, the general agent of the fund, was present and outlined the scheme. He spoke of the interest manifested in this fund wherever he has gone, and he succeeded in arousing the enthusiasm of all present.

HOIST HIGH OUR FLAG. Hoist high our Flag, and let it flaunt Forth on every breeze; Cur friends to cheer, our foes to daunt, The Flag that rules the seas.

That soldiers true, and sailors brave, Made all our foes regard.

The Flag that chased from sunny Spain The hordes of Bonaparte. Victorious on land and main Thou wast, and still thou art.

Upon the Plains of Waterloo, Till that fierce fight was won, Above our soldiers' heads it flew: There fled Napoleon.

The Flag that waved on Alma's hill, Waved, too, at Inkerman; When British bravery sent a thril! Through every pulse of man.

On Balaclava's blood-stained field Its glories did not fade, There British pluck made thousands yiel When charged the Light Brigade. That Flag waved high amidst the hell

That raged in Hindoostan,
When maidens fair and soldiers fell
A prey to treacherous man. In Egypt's mystic land 'tis now Borne on to victory: Before it countless hosts still bow, And cruel tyrants flee.

Where'er that Flag its brilliant folds
Casts forth unto the breeze,
The light of freedom it unfolds;
Ignorance 'fore it flees, The British soldier's still as brave

As were those heroes bold; The British tars still rule the wave, And Britain's rights uphold. Then hoist aloft our colors bright,

And keep them soaring high:
Upheld by British pluck and might,
Our Union Flag shall fly.

The country overlooking the lake, with the petry autumnal tints on the trees, mingled with the balmy air of an exceptionally warm October day, made the trip through the country and the drive to the fair exceedingly interesting and pleasant. It is no wonder, then, that so many Torontonians made the Kingston-road their rendezvous yesterday afternoon and joined with the party of the country with a large ethong of Scirboro and Markham agrid and those of former years. Indeed, they were faily one-third better than last year, over the gate receipts behind those of former years. Indeed, they were faily one-third better than last year, over the protocome of the country of the count standard and fancy varieties. The show of grain was up to the average, and other mothers' meetings, flower mission, Indians and sevention and carrots, was of exceptional merit. Citrons were as large as watermelons and the watermelons, were as large as the imported ones. Portoce were shown in great variety and the mangolds and squashes were of prod'glous sizes. Nor was the product of the farm and garden all that was worth seeing in the telts, for there was a display of ladies' work which reflected most creditably upon of the culture and taste of the female portion of the community.

A Deaconess Ordained.

St. Paul's Church, Bloor-street, was the scene of an interesting and important service last night, when Miss Mary Johnson was ordained as a deaconess of the Anglican Church. Miss Johnson's home is in Montreal, but for the past year she has been attending the missionary training room in the city. She intends leaving soon for Long Sault, Rainy River District, where she will teach in one of the Government Indian schools. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Sweatman, and Principal Sheraton of Wycliffe College preached the sermon. The young lady was presented to the bishop by the chaplain, Mr. Kuhring, Besides the choir, those who took part in the ceremony were: Rev. Septimus Jones, Rev. Mr. Wallis and Prof. Cody. A Deaconess Ordained.

Mrs. Harriet Peart, who died at her late residence, 39 Buchanan-street, was the stepmother of the late George Peart, who was buried in this city last week. Deceased, who was 67 years old, had resided for many years in Pickering. The remains will be taken to Pickering this afternoon for interment in the Methodist Burial grounds.

Married 60 Years Ago. Chancey Lapum and wife of Napanee nave just celebrated their sixtleth wedding anniversary. Both are quite smart.
