WHAT TO WEAR AT PRINCE'S RECEPTION.

"I wonder what the correct thing to wear?" is the question which has been bothering the minds of mothers and daughters ever since it was announced that the big social function at the time of the prince's visit would not be a ball, but a democratic reception in the armories.

Indeed, some nebulous ball dresses are being reconsidered today with consternation, and gowns which for some time have been hanging fresh in perished closets, are beginning to sink to doubt.

Not a bit of doubt need they have, nor the little mistress who is to do them. The prince's reception, which is to take place from 10 to 12 o'clock on the evening of October 22, will call for full evening dress. Of course, the rumor that there will be no informal dancing on this occasion is absurd and entirely without foundation.

The reception is to be a brilliant and a formal drawing-room as possible, of the style of the opening of parliament at Ottawa. The prince of Wales and his staff will be seated in a carpeted inclosure, roped off and decorated with palms and tall armchairs. The whole of the reception scheme, characterized by beauty and dignity.

The armories will permit of as many as 1,000 people attending this reception. Each guest will have to present a card on which his name has been properly inscribed. It has not been definitely decided as yet whether invitations will be issued or distributed on application.

But whatever the method employed, there is to be no admission charge. The citizens who attend this reception are expected to help preserve the dignity of the occasion. There has been no such function in London for many years, and the whole city is looking forward to the event.

COMMUNITY KITCHENS

REALLY FACILE

Yes! Community kitchens are really being tried out in the United States with great success. In the state of Illinois Evanston already possesses a successful kitchen, where meals are cooked and then sent out to the various homes to be served and eaten. Inspired by the success here, the Women's Club of Winnetka has completed plans for a community kitchen in that place.

The fact that these institutions are really working successfully predicts an easier time for the housewife of the future, even though domestic help is not forthcoming. They will also act as a check on the extremely high wages now asked by domestic help.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

On the evening of the Prince's arrival in the city, the mayor is to be the host of an official dinner to be given at "The Kennels," in honor of His Royal Highness.

On Thursday noon, October 23, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will lunch at officers' mess, Wolseley Barracks. Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown is in charge of arrangements for this function.

A drawing-room reception in honor of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will be held in the armories from 10 to 12 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 22. As many as 1,000 guests are expected to be present.

Mrs. Frank Ball of London spent the week-end with Mrs. J. R. Kohler of Cayuga.

Mrs. C. W. Leonard leaves the city shortly for the south, where she will remain for a year.

Miss Loveday Campeau and Miss Lyons of Windsor were guests in the city over the week-end.

Miss Marjorie Ross and Mr. Gordon Ross have returned after a very pleasant motor trip through the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Bruce, Hayman Court, have returned to the city after a pleasant visit at Toronto and other points east.

Miss Margaret Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid, will return to Toronto next week to continue her studies at the Toronto University.

Miss Dorothy Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reid, has returned from Labrador, after spending the summer nursing at the Grenfell Mission.

Mr. Chester Clarke, manager of the Prince George Hotel, Toronto, has returned to that city, after visiting his mother, Mrs. J. Clarke, of Wharfedale road.

Miss Winifred Thomas, national girls' work secretary for the Y. W. C. A., will arrive in the city Saturday to be present at the big conference to be held here on Monday.

MARKHAM-BRISSETTE.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday, September 22, in the Roman Catholic Church at Stony Point, when Corinne Brissette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brissette, was united in marriage to Mr. Leo Markham, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Markham.

The church was prettily decorated for the occasion, the Rev. P. Pire officiating.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white georgette, trimmed with pearls, and wore a tulle veil with bandeau of pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley.

The groom was in a tuxedo, and was attended by Miss P. Sylvestre, a friend of the bride. The bridesmaid was Miss L. Leblanc, and the flower girl was Miss M. Leblanc.

The best man was Mr. J. B. Brissette, and the groomsmen were Mr. L. Markham and Mr. J. B. Brissette. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. Pire.

The wedding was a very pretty affair, and was attended by many guests. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

WICKIE-LEIBOLD.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, Sept. 20, at 4 p.m., in Zion Lutheran Church, when Esther J. Leibold, 66 McNab street, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank F. Wickie of Sebringville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. C. D. Klein, pastor of the church, and the wedding march played by Mr. Herbert Howard.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in white georgette, trimmed with pearls, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and pink roses.

The groom was in a tuxedo, and was attended by Mr. A. Monch of Walkerton. The bridesmaid was Miss Adeline Monch of Walkerton.

The wedding was a very pretty affair, and was attended by many guests. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

BOSWORTH-BEEK.

An interesting wedding was that which took place on Wednesday, September 24, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. G. Bosworth, of Maple street, when her youngest daughter, Blanche Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Albert G. Bosworth of Windsor.

Promptly at 1 o'clock the bride entered the drawing-room in the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. William Kemp, and took her place beneath an arch of maple leaves and carnations.

The bride was gowned in white georgette, trimmed with pearls, and carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was in a tuxedo, and was attended by Mr. A. Monch of Walkerton.

The wedding was a very pretty affair, and was attended by many guests. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

KINGSVILLE W. C. T. U.

The eighteenth annual tea given by the W. C. T. U. was held at the Methodist parsonage, the home of Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard.

There were nearly fifty present, and amongst them was Mrs. E. M. Bosworth, Leamington, whom many of the members were pleased to meet.

Miss Ritchie, the president of the union, led a short devotional service. The referendum was then discussed, and directions given how to vote.

The suggestion was likewise made that it would be well to have some "Referendum Tea," at which the ballot might be further explained.

Rev. J. E. J. Millyard gave a reading from one of Walt Mason's articles on "Growing Old Gracefully," and Mrs. E. C. Gosnell rendered a solo in a very pleasing manner. Miss Allan, being pianist, while Miss Adams delighted the company with a recitation, "He Never Blamed the Boogie."

Mrs. W. H. Helms and Mrs. Alex. Brown spoke on the work, the W. C. T. U. was accomplishing.

and Mrs. Bosworth left for Belding, Michigan, the bride travelling in a navy blue poplin suit with grey and rose hat. On their return they will reside in Windsor. Guests were present from Melville, Saskatchewan, St. Marys, Anderson and Windsor.

COVENY-BENN.

St. Michael's Church, London, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Katherine I. Benn of London was united in marriage to Joseph E. Coveny of Wallaceburg, Rev. Father Hanlon performing the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Thomas Benn, was prettily gowned in ivory French georgette, and satin with pearl trimmings. She wore a bridal cap and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was in a tuxedo, and was attended by Mr. M. J. Coveny of Wallaceburg, who assisted the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's mother at Lucan, where a dainty wedding dinner was partaken of. The bride was the recipient of many pretty and handsome gifts, among them several substantial checks. The groom's gift to the bride was a crescent of pearls, to the bridesmaid an onyx and pearl ring, and to the groomsmen a military toilet set.

In the afternoon the bridal party motored to London, where amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left via C. P. R. for Toronto, Buffalo and other eastern points. The bride travelled in a suit of navy broadcloth, wearing a black ostrich-trimmed hat.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Coveny will reside at Wallaceburg, and will be at home to their friends after Oct. 18.

Women's Meetings For Today

The formation of a Y. W. C. A. Club at the Normal School will take place this afternoon at 3:30, when Miss Velma Hamill, national student secretary for the Y. W. C. A., will speak before a mass meeting of the students.

Sure Death To Fleas.

Dear Miss Grey—I see where Worried is having trouble with fleas. Here is something easy to try, and I believe it will be a success. Get your druggist to weigh up a small quantity of corrosive sublimate (and if he is a real nice druggist looking for more business) ask him how many powders it should divide into. I think 15 cents worth should be sufficient. In the old days before the war I cents done the trick. Put a powder or small quantity in an ordinary pail of water, stir until dissolved, use a clean sprayer, and apply liberally all over the house. This is one of the most easily-applied, cheap, safe, and most effective disinfectants known. It is sure death to bed bugs and all germs. The one great feature about it, it hurts nothing. Just throw your spray around the place and don't be stingy with it. It won't hurt wall paper or anything else. It's just like clean, cold water.

Here is a washing fluid I wish some of the readers would try and tell us about it, it hurts nothing. Just throw your spray around the place and don't be stingy with it. It won't hurt wall paper or anything else. It's just like clean, cold water.

quarts of cold soft water, stir until dissolved, bottles for use, and keep away from children. Directions: Put three pails of water in your boiler, cut in required amount of soap, add ½ cup of lye, but your clothes into the water mixture, bring to boil and let boil for fifteen or twenty minutes. Take out, rub a little, rinse well. Always wear any clothes to be put in the second boiling in cold water before putting into the hot suds. Any clothes with stains, such as table cloths or tray cloths, I always wet in cold water first.

When baking, when you grease your pans, put some flour on the tin and shake it well around, emptying out all that don't stick, and you will find your cake comes out much nicer.

When beating up the whites of eggs for frosting, if you add one tablespoon of cold water for each white, beaten you will find they stand up much better.

Well, Miss Grey, I think I have taken up quite enough of your space for the first call. In the meantime if I hear any other little stunts that I consider helps I will pass them along.

Ans.—You should have signed "Flashy-body." I think it would really be more appropriate in view of all your excellent hints. I hope that Worried notes your flea exterminator, that some of our homemakers tries your washing fluid, and thirdly, that you will call on me.

RE SHORT STORIES.

Bessie, H.: (1) So you wish to send short stories to newspapers? With all my heart I wish you luck, Bessie. The way you suggest is correct, only in addition to the name at the top and be sure and include your full address. Some story-writers also put their correct name and address at the top right corner of the first page. You need not fear the publication of your own name.

(2) The paper you write on is rather too heavy for mailing, especially if there are several pages, and one must write on one side only, you know, advance, folks.

Lemon or Peach.

Some time ago, during the epidemic of lemon pie recipes, a recipe appeared for "a lemon pie that is a peach."
