If They Break Law, They Have to Get Out of Business-Street Railway Sued.

HAMILTON, Dec. 8.—(Special.)—The license commissioners decided this afternoon to take drastic steps to see that the after-hour business is cut out. They will warn all license-holders that if they break the law they will have to ternoon to take drastic steps to see that the after-hour business is cut out. They will warn all license-holders that Union Hotel, was before the board and was given a warning. Complaints against E. Duffy were also considered ton. and a warning issued. The commissigners say they will act on authenticated reports from any source as to indications that the law is being violated. They will also ask the police to co-operate with License Inspector Birrell in seeing that the law is enforced.

To Sue Street Railway.

The board of works this evening in

The board of works this evening in-structed the city solicitor to sue the street railway for an account amount-ing to $2148 for repairs to pavements adjoining the company's tracks. The members resented the statements of company's officials that they were blocking the reconstruction of the street railway and said they would deal with the matter just as soon as the company renewed its application.

No Place for Cripple.

Thomas O'Neill, a cripple, 80 years of age, belonging to Dundas, was dumped on the city. After being cared for in the jail for three weeks, the civic authorities agreed that he should be taken back to Dundas. The old man was placed in the ambulance and taken to Dundas this afternoon. W. A. H. Duff, solicitor for Barton Township, has begun another action against the city to collect boll for the construction of cement sidewalks in the newly-annexted district. Edward Sheldrick was zned $10 in police court this morning for shooting crap last Sunday, and the following have been summoned on a similar charge: Harry Lucas, James Fischer, David Purvis, R. Hill and P. Porter. This morning Judge Monck dealt with ten criminal charges, disposing of them as follows: Charles Jamieson was found guilty of trying to obtain money by threats for a pair of damaged trousers and was allowed to go on deferred sentence; W. J. Boylan, a driver, pleaded guilty to collecting money by false pretences, and was allowed to go on deferred sentence; John Nevills was fined $10 for escaping from custody; George and Edward Near were fined $5 for assault; Herbert Robinson was allowed out on deferred sentence for obtaining $1 by fraud; Fred Pearson went down for two months for receiving stolen property.

A committee representing the finance committee and the charitable societies decided this afternoon to ask the city pay the cost of establishing a lodg-house. The initial cost is estimatat $2471.

he grand jury brought in true bills

Myer's property is said to have been lars in diamonds his wife managed to secrete. While on steamship for England Myer read of the diamond fields of Brazil and made his way to Rio de Janiero. Then he walked 600 miles in-land, to where it is made to appear the country is as full of diamonds as Cobalt is of silver. No foreigner can own land in Brazil, but he managed to secure leases of immense tracts of land. At least, this is one story. He is said to be about 60 years of age. His office on Broadway, according to one who has been there, was permeated with his presence. A big table, strewn with maps, charts and documents, gave the place an air of sincere

Steamboat schedules of South Amerian steamship lines adorned the walls 1808 QUEEN WEST. J. P. McAVAY and a dozen men were continually holding conference with Mr. Myer. He was a difficult man to see. He gave all callers a big black cigar, which he probably calculated would induce good humor and a passive disposition. From this office Mr. Myer generaled rias Geras, Brazil, to Broadway. It just takes 23 days for a steamer sailing out of Brooklyn harbor to drop anchor in the most beautiful port in the world, that of Rio de Janeiro. But that's the romance of the whole story. Brazil was the Land of Prom ise, of tropical extravagance where nuge fortunes could eb made in d quick time, and Mr. Myer had a huge slice of that favored land. He told his sisters that he practiowned the Jequitinhoula River that runs from the southwest to the northwest thru a series of hills.

tossed here and there, into pot-holes, up on the banks and into creepy swamps, diamonds and gold in limitly quantities. A year or so ago Mr. Myer charitably decided to let the citizens of Toronto have a first and glorious opportunity. From the office in Broadway there issued a gentleman by the name of R. Lewis Morris, one of the missionaries to pave the way for the Big Chief. Neglected Bronchitis is one of the Unlike Caesar, his methods were no severe. He went to Hamilton first and by pouring out plenty of libations, both Cure it at once by the use of Dr. Wood's from tongue and bottle, he secured $300 from the proprietor of a well-known hotel.

He also induced a haberdasher, twobank employes, a popular and wise insurance man, and a poor wandering journalist to part with sundry of their shekels. One doctor gave up $5000.

He had a similar experience in Toronto and persuaded a large number of ambitious small fry.

His efforts on the whole were amply rewarded in Toronto, and he did double service by laying down and tacking out a velvet carpet for "the Diamond
