The Pittsburgh Dispatch publishes the following from a member of its staff, John O'Donnell, who is evidently much impressed by the high opinion of Canada prevalent in Great Britain:

"How are times? Well, I don't know the noo. They're not so bad over here. The war kind of hurt things in Scotland like it did in England, too; but, mon, there's a powerful lot o' poor people sailing fr' Canada these days, a powerful lot."

The speaker was an intelligent young barber, who shaved me in the North British Hotel in Edinburgh. I know Scotland pretty well, like its people, am interested in their prosperity, and naturally put questions wherever I go. His observation on the British exodus to Canada was not new. I heard about it in London, where organized agencies, working more or less under the direction of the British and Canadian governments, have become quite active in relieving the United Kingdom of her surplus humanity and placing it on the broad bosom of the Canadian Northwest, where it has a better chance to live and regenerate.

But, submerged though it be, few Americans will deny the superior quality of these immigrants to the sun and sea of the south and western Europe — the stunted, demoralized horde that finds its way to Ellis Island from foreign lands, speech and custom, anarchistic, ecclesiastical, diseased and cheap; most of it but one or two grades better than the despised Chinese, against whom we have raised the bars and for whom I hope they will never be lowered.

"Ah Canada! Ah you going there?" A polished toff in a high hat and frock coat hands me this from the other side of a Strand omnibus in London. He notes that I am looking over some Canadian literature. "No," says I.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier uttered his famous phrase, "The twentieth century belongs to Canada," his country and his people, Canada and thinking a few notes might be of interest to the Times and its many readers I send you the following:

This church is at Barrington, and was built in 1765, being the third oldest in the province. It is an almost square building with pitch roof, the building being 33 feet long and 27 feet wide, and standing today as plumb as the day it was raised. The early settlers brought the frame from the United States. It is a masterpiece of the interior of the church presents a finer appearance than the outside and contains the old-fashioned high pulpit gallery on either side of the altar. The interior of the church and nineteen in the galleries with the swinging door to each pew. On each end is a painted clock, set in an oak frame, and on the year 1765. The old cemetery is in the same enclosure and there you can find headstones bearing date as far back as 1706, the stones being of slate.

Head stones record the burial of two of the early ministers that officiated here. Rev. Thomas Crowell and the Rev. Edward Reynolds. The former has a sister, Mrs. Ann Crowell, now residing at Barrington Passage, 94 years old, hale and hearty. The Rev. Mr. Reynolds, formerly of the English army, and was an Irishman by birth, was particularly noted as an ardent temperance worker. Both the ministers were Free Will Baptists.

A week ago today (Sunday) we had a terrible lightning storm. It struck the steeple of a Baptist church at Doctor's Cove and about ruined it. At Barrington most of the house of Dr. Wilson, working through four rooms: office, dining room, parlor and bedroom in which they slept. Wherever it would strike any glass, picture frame or wall paper, it would clean it off nearer than you could do it with a knife."

FRED WILLIAMS IN CHARGE
(Toronto Globe.)

The chief Canadian offices of Canada, the illustrated weekly published in London, England, for the promotion of Canadian interests in Great Britain, have been removed from Montreal to Toronto. For the present the headquarters will be in room 35 of the Young street, later on permanent offices will be opened. The Canadian management of the paper has been assumed by Fred G. H. Williams, for twenty-five years actively identified with the Canadian daily press and for the past three and a half years as a member of the staff of The News. The policy of the new management will be largely the diversion to British manufacturers of trade in goods which are at present almost entirely imported from the United States and other foreign countries. Special attention will also be paid to Canadian industrial and financial interests, with a view of developing trade between the Dominion and the mother country, while the halcyon illustrations will be continued on a lavish scale. Canadians who have been in England this summer speak in the warmest praise of the work which the new weekly is doing to interest people in the Dominion and its development.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the cause is removed, deafness will be permanent. It is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by inflammation) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by Druggists. See F. J. CHENEY &amp; CO., Toledo, O. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Entries close August 20th, after which date an additional charge is made for entries.

THE DOCTORS MAKE PROTEST

Sensational Onslaught on Religious Pilgrimages to Lourdes.

The prospect of the annual pilgrimage to Lourdes, beginning Aug. 15, has, says Paris cable, awakened strong protests from hygienists against the perpetuation of the medieval practice, which, they declare, is not only harmful to the pilgrims themselves, but dangerous to the public health. Prof. Jean de Bonferron invited opinions from the pathologists of France on the subject, and received 11,221 replies. Of this number an infinitesimal minority, which significantly included the doctors at Lourdes itself, defended the pilgrimage. The remainder, including many eminent and avowed Catholics, denounced the maintenance of the custom as a serious danger to the pilgrims and the community generally.

Among the chief objects of denunciation was the fact, in which sufferers are bled. The water, which is supposed to have healing efficacy, is not changed throughout the pilgrimage, and the community generally. No matter what kind of virulent sores there are on a devotee's body, he is plunged into the water regardless of spreading contagion. If a medical practitioner did such a thing he would be immediately prosecuted. Furthermore, the trains conveying thousands of diseased persons, on which the most elementary rules of hygiene are violated, constitute a perpetual danger to the pilgrims, subsequent travelers and the residents of the districts through which they pass.

OBITUARY*James V. Brown

James V. Brown, of Fairfield, St. John county, died Monday morning about 5 o'clock. A report of his death by drowning was published some days ago, but, though he was in the water, he was rescued. He had been ill for some time and a few weeks ago was in the hospital for treatment, but obtained no permanent relief. Deceased was the defendant in six years in the lumber cutting case of Ingram vs. Brown and last winter Mrs. Ingram got a verdict for $800. Mr. Brown had expected against the decision and the hearing was to commence soon.

Mr. Brown is survived by his second wife, who before marriage was Miss Mary Ann Ellis. Mrs. Floyd, who is a daughter by his first wife, lives in the western part of the State. Mr. Brown's funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. D. G. Mayes

Alexander G. Mayes, an employee of the street railway company, Monday night received a telephone message from his brother, Duncan G. Mayes, of Queens town, Queens county, conveying the intelligence of the death of the latter's wife Monday, Mrs. Mayes before marriage was Miss Fanny Davidson, of Truro. She was thirty-six years of age and besides her husband is survived by four children. The interior of the church and there are several sisters and brothers in the States. Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Mayes lived several years in Boston. Some years ago they returned to Queens town, where Mr. Mayes conducted a general store business. Mrs. Mayes' funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

A POPULAR AMUSEMENT

Comic opera has been growing on American and Canadian theatre goers as a popular form of amusement for many years. At present the opera craze seems to be at its height and it is satisfying to "opera fanciers" in this city to know that Manager Skinner has secured the Robinson Opera Company for an engagement in the Opera House at an early date. This company is one of the highest salaried aggregations that has ever come this way, and numbers among its members many artists of the highest standing. There are twelve operas in the repertoire; among them Paul Jones, Fra Diavolo, Bohemian Girl, Bandit of Bassville, Rip Van Winkle, Robin Hood, Said Pasha, The Mikado and Carmen.
