NEARLY PINCH IZZY CHASING RUM TRUCK

Police Take Foe of Bootleggers for a Robber as He Dashes Down East Side Street.

New York, Aug. 11.—Mistaken for a hold-up man, Izzie Einstein of Prohibition Director Ralph A. Day's band of agents, just escaped a beating and arrest by police while he was chasing a truckload of whiskey on the lower east side.

"Of course you couldn't blame them," said Einstein, reporting the incident later to his chief at dry headquarters. "They didn't know me and I certainly was after the truck. Two of the police were all ready to go after me, but luckily a third one who did know me appeared and straightened matters out. I got the truck, with six barrels and two prisoners."

Einstein said that he was on his way to report yesterday morning when he saw the truck at Forsyth and Division streets. Something told him, he declared, that it was on no legitimate business, so he called to the driver to halt. Instead, the chauffeur stepped on the gas and the truck shot down the street.

A cab happened along and Izzie commandeered it, soon overtaking the suspected vehicle. Again he yelled for the driver to halt. To his surprise one of the two men jumped from the seat and ran for a policeman, who had noticed the two automobiles racing through the narrow streets. Both of the policemen ordered him to halt.

"When I told them who I was they just laughed at me," Einstein explained. "I didn't have any disguise on except a three-days' growth of beard. They were sure I was a hold-up man. The third fellow came along and fixed things up."

The truck, six barrels of supposed liquor and two prisoners were taken to prohibition headquarters. The men said they were Cohen of 221 Clinton street and Benny Schein of 292 Cherry street.

IS THIS A GOOD OR DOUBTFUL GUESS?

(Forbes Magazine, N. Y.)
Here are some of the important developments we are likely to see in the next few months, or even within a year:
1. Rather acute scarcity of unskilled labor.
2. A rising tendency in wages.
3. Serious congestion on the railroads, with grave delays in the delivery of goods.
4. Sharp rises in not a few industries.
5. A further advance in cotton and cotton goods.
6. Greater expansion in imports than in exports.
7. Some revival in shipping.
8. Distinctly higher money rates, starting very shortly.
9. Less voracious absorption of new security offerings.
10. Increased activity in stocks and decreased activity in bonds, with more bullish excitement in stock speculation.
11. Scarcity of a few classes of merchandise and many instances of clamoring for immediate delivery.
12. Harvesting of satisfactory crops.
13. Further buying throughout the grain-growing states, with somewhat improved conditions also in the south.
14. Cheaper coal.
15. Lowering of rents.
16. November election results which will spur the Republican law-makers to conduct themselves in more businesslike fashion.
17. Pacification of Mexico.
18. An upheaval in Germany, precipitated by the hardships imposed upon the working classes by the collapse of the market's purchasing value.
19. Further abandonment of Soviet policies in Russia.
20. Drastic modification, or cancellation, of Europe's indebtedness to Britain.
21. Readjustment of the German reparations burden, mollification of France, and then a large international German loan.
22. Thereafter, rapid progress in European rehabilitation.
23. Heavy investment by America in foreign enterprises.
24. Further revival of optimism in this country.
25. And, generally, gradually improving times.

SAYS BUSINESS OUT OF SHOALS

Babson, Statistician, Shows Why Fundamentals Finally Justify Optimism.

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Aug. 8.—The high light of the Ninth Annual Wellesley Conference on the business situation was reached when Roger W. Babson announced a definite turn in business and showed why fundamental conditions indicate definite and substantial business recovery.

Standing before a Babson chart twelve feet high and thirty feet long Mr. Babson explained the situation.

"I have been waiting for over two years to be able to announce that the most drastic depression in business history has been spent itself. Fundamental conditions finally indicate that a solid foundation is ready for general and substantial business improvement."

"The white line that I draw today divides the area of depression in the past from the area of recovery in the future. Practically it means that business will pick up in the next few months and will continue to improve for the next two or three years."

"Technically, the business cycle is composed of four periods: Prosperity, Improvement, Depression, and Recession. The average business man experiences all four periods. When sales are increasing and business is fine or they are falling off and he is in deep depression. His attitude changes, not as we pass from a period of prosperity to a period of depression, but as the white line is drawn which divides these areas."

"When we had completed half of the depression in the middle of 1914, business began to improve and business went into a state of psychological prosperity almost overnight. We were running on a high tide. We were again headed in the right direction."

"Early in 1907 the panic set in and business began to decline. We did not enter the actual area of depression until the fall of that same year."

"In April, 1908, another white line marked the turning point and things began to improve. The long swing downward set in about June, 1910. This decline, while not drastic, kept business quiet until the middle of 1914, when things again turned upward."

The war with its feverish activity carried us on until the middle of 1918 when the actual rise began itself. Disinflation and soaring prices put things up for another spurt but actual production and general business activities were suffering.

"The natural and inevitable reaction has kept business in mourning for two and a half years."

"In April, 1920, the fact that the stock market has just been driven back to normal has given us a new confidence. The business man should announce his new product, open his new territory, increase his advertising and go after business now."

"In spite of the fact that the stock market has already discounted the improvement to a large extent the investor can hold his stocks for the top of a bull market which is almost never reached until after the white line is restored. 'I personally believe,' concluded Mr. Babson, 'that the present market is little over half way to the top.'"

General business continues to improve. The index of the Babson chart reflects improvement of two per cent since last week and stands at nine per cent below normal. The highest point since January, 1921.

SMALL CASE REVIVED.

Max Phillips, alias Albert King, was arrested recently at Perce, Gaspe, by a Toronto detective investigating the disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, the missing theatre magnate, on December 2, 1919. The arrest is said to be the sequel to the arrest of a woman in New Brunswick by a private detective working on the case. The arrest is said to have arisen out of a report made by a hotel-keeper at whose house the two stayed. Further developments are expected.

"SIX MONTHS AGO"

"It's hard to realize that six months ago I couldn't walk across the floor and now I am so well!"

"I have never been very strong but the heat last summer was too much for me. This and the fact that my husband was out of work I had to work day and night to keep from starving, left me a physical wreck. Luckily my husband was able to get a good job just when I had to go to bed. I tried everything I could think of to get strong, but each day I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker. I was reduced to a skeleton. I couldn't eat or sleep. In two weeks I was able to get up and walk about the house. My appetite had returned. I was actually hungry. I could sleep when I went to bed, something I had not been able to do for months. I have already taken six bottles of Carnol and I am still taking it. I weigh more today than I ever weighed before in my life. I sleep like a child. I am never tired and my skin is as clear and my cheeks as rosy as a girl's. I bless the day I heard about Carnol." Mrs. K., Toronto.

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conveniently say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money. 5-122

Incidentally MacGowan of the same team played his twelfth straight errorless game at first.

St. George's weathered foggy and rain, but they were not less than three hits.

endeavor to give the fans a real run for their money. "Happy" declared that he would have been perfectly willing to have played St. Peter's last evening, even if they had protested the game, as he considered that he owed that much to the fans who had helped to support the team all season.

Manager Joe Dever's Version.

Manager Dever said that he was insisting on the carrying out of the agreement which was made at the commencement of the season that no importation of players would be permitted for either team. He said that he warned the manager of the St. Johns on Wednesday night that he would not allow Fraser to play against the St. Peter's last night, play against that was not Fraser's ability as a bell player that they feared but that rules should be enforced. He declared that they only needed one or two more games to win the championship and that the balance of the games would have to be played without Fraser or any other imported players on the St. Johns.

Regarding the special permission given the St. Johns to play Fraser, Joe said last evening that Evans was informed that Fraser could line-up with the St. Johns provided he was in the city at the expiration of the time limit for securing players in June. When he was not here then, Joe said, he was not entitled to play on the St. Johns in a championship game.

Alkali in Shampoos

Bad for Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulford's at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply put two or three teaspoonsful of Mulford's in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes the hair soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure you get Mulford's. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

Your Own Complexion Too, May Be Lovely As The Morning Dew

Clara Horton Tells How She Made Hers So Alluring

Los Angeles, Cal.—Clara Horton, the film beauty, spoke interestingly of her success recently. Of her remarkable complexion, she said "Really, there is no secret. An attractive complexion depends upon the wish to have one, and ordinary good care."

"I was ever thankful for anything it is, that early in my career I came to appreciate the great handicap of wrinkles, blackheads, coarse pores, sallowness, and other such imperfections, and that they usually came from neglect."

"A baby-like, soft, rosy-white complexion is every woman's birthright. It is so easy to acquire, that everyone who reads this may have it unless she is past caring."

"Let me tell you what to do. To-night, before retiring, cleanse the face, arms and hands thoroughly with a good cold cream, Liska cold cream, put up in sanitary tubes, is marvelous. Then wipe off the cream with a soft cloth. In the morning wash with warm water, rinse with cold water, and dry well. Then apply Derwillo—and look into your mirror for the transformation this simple treatment has brought."

Derwillo stays on until it is washed off. It takes the place of face powder, although it is much better and it will not rub off on clothing. It defies perspiration, too, and you never need worry over a shiny nose. Derwillo comes in three shades: Flesh, white and brunette.

Over a million of America's loveliest women use it and love it. Derwillo is sold and recommended by leading department stores and druggists. If Derwillo does not satisfy you in every way,
