LOCAL NEWS

No. 1 chemical engine last evening put out a fire in a woodshed at 117 King street east before much damage was done.

Edgar Arsenault, one of the crew of the C. G. S. Laurentian, is in the General Public Hospital with his arm badly wrenched. He was injured while working a winch at Margareville.

At a meeting of the G. W. V. A. executive and fair committee last evening satisfactory reports concerning the recent fair were presented. Another meeting will have to be held before the final report is made.

The acting commissioner of customs has written to the board of trade saying that their request for a change in the law governing clearance of coastwise steamers from ports is being investigated.

A recommendation that a gun, which would be fired at regular intervals during bad weather, be placed on Green Island has been made to Ottawa by J. C. Chesley, agent for the marine and fisheries department. No word has as yet been received from Ottawa. This particular part of the law is a very serious one, giving the scene of the recent disaster to the North Star, and it is felt that some protection is required.

McLean, Kennedy, Limited, are to open an office in St. John this fall for the handling of the winter traffic of the Canadian-French service between the country and St. Nazaire, France. This company will also establish winter headquarters here for the Houston Line, plying between Canadian and South American ports. McLean and Kennedy are also agents of the Head Line.

Newcastle, Aug. 21.—The Red Cross Society of Redbank and vicinity gave a reception to returned soldiers of the parish of South Esk and parts of North Esk in the C. M. B. A. hall, Red Bank, on Monday night. Twenty-nine soldiers, fifteen of whom were present, were honored, each with the presentation of a signet ring. Their names are: Goodfellow, South Esk; Vincent Holland, Wilbur Matchett, Red Bank; James Somers, Hallowell; Harry Toser, Harry Johnston, James Travis, Scitaker; Albert Whitney, Harold Whitney, Morrison Jordan, James McLean, Hiram Allison, James E. Allison, Thomas Allison, Whitelyville; Charles Mullin, Samuel Mullin, Emmor; Walter Burns, Walter Matchett, Sunny Corner; William Murphy, Emmor; Samuel King, Cornelia Kingston, Weldon Dunnett, James C. Allison, Wayerton; Harold Hill, Whitelyville; Edward Warren and Willie Fouchie, Whitneyville, and two others.

The presentations were made by the Misses Georgia and Rose Toser, Stella Power and Bernette Ring. The meeting was addressed by the chairman, Albert Whitney, replying on behalf of the returned soldiers present. After music, led by the choir, games, etc., supper was served and a very happy evening broke up with the national anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke and Mr. Major Robinson, of Boston, are guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. John Robinson, at Miss May Ryan, of Chatham, is spending a few days at her home here. Miss Reta Ullock, of Chatham Head, has accepted a position with the J. D. Creighton Company.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS A SERIOUS BOWEL TROUBLE

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You can't tell when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Allow the profuse diarrhoea, the vomiting and purging to continue for a day or two and you will become weak.

Just as soon as the bowels become loosened up, get a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check the summer complaint movements, and thus prevent the system from becoming weak.

Mrs. L. J. Altman, wife of the well known wholesale and retail Fish Dealer, 44 Hill St., Amherst, N. S., writes: "I have four children, the oldest being eight years old. Every summer they were troubled with Summer Complaint. Doctors' prescriptions did not seem to help them any. One day a friend asked me to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I at once got a bottle, and to my surprise and wonder I saw a change in them. I now keep a bottle of it in the house all the time, and will recommend it to any mother."

"Dr. Fowler's" is 86c a bottle. Get the original which has been put up for the past 74 years by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Ambassadorial Privileges

(New York Sun)

Ambassadors have curious privileges. Most people know that they and their households are immune from arrest, an Embassy being considered a geographical part of the Ambassador's own country.

But there are many privileges less well known. The Ambassador is the only person about a court who has the right to turn his back on the sovereign or ruler at the conclusion of an audience.

And, curiously enough, he always exercises this right, turning to bow after walking three paces. This, of course, refers only to State occasions.

This worked oddly in Queen Victoria's time. To turn one's back on a lady would be rude, to retire backward would be to resign a privilege, so the Ambassadors always compromised by edging sideways.

Another privilege of Ambassadors is the right of having both leaves of the folding doors thrown open when being ushered into the ruler's presence. No one else can claim this privilege.

Another highly prized privilege of the Ambassador—one that sovereigns naturally regret—is that of being able to demand an interview whenever he chooses, at any hour of the day or night.

The sword is the Ambassador's emblem of honor. It is a long rapier with a blunted point. One great diplomatist, the Lord Dufferin, used to say that the only practical use he ever found for it was to poke fires with and file bills on.
