"LET HIM HAVE HIS SQUAW!"

The "Wild Flower" Who Nearly Eloped With Red Skin Chief Two Years Ago Wants Pale-Face Husband Now

MISS MALELINE SULLIVAN

The romance of the sheepskin chap, the sombrero and a swarthy-skinned North American redskin is all over for beautiful Miss Madeline Sullivan, Chicago society girl, who made the eyes of "wildflower" bulge two years ago when she tried to run away with an Indian.

The fact was made patent when Miss Sullivan laughingly commented on the news that her schoolgirl ideal was about to marry a square—Miss Medicine Pop.

Not two years ago it took the combined forces of her mother and the federal authorities to prevent her from running away with and marrying Chief Plenty Hawk, richest of all the Crow Indians. She was in earnest all right then, she admits. But now it looks like a great big, foolish girl's prank.

Slipping her tea and looking the proverbial society maid, Miss Sullivan, who has just returned after a plunge in eastern society and its round of gaiety, read the announcement of Plenty Hawk's proposed marriage at Sheridan, Wyo.

"Really I had forgotten all about that childish escapade," she said. "So Plenty Hawk is to be married. I am glad of it. He was a good Indian! But he can have his squaw."

"Poor old Plenty Hawk. I was a wild flower then. I thought his hills and forests, his horses and blankets were all there was in the world. I liked to sit on a horse and gallop away, make the dust fly and shoot in the air."

"Now I am a hot-house plant!"

DOCTORS SAID HE WOULD DIE

A Friend's Advice Saves Life

I wish to speak of the wonderful cure that I have received from your noted Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder cure. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back and sides. I could not breathe without difficulty. I tried all the different doctors from far and near, but they said it was no use to doctor as I would die anyway. I was at the end of my rope and was so miserable with pain and the thought that I must die that words cannot tell how I felt. One day a friend told me of the wonderful help she had received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. She gave me one of your pamphlets which I read and determined to try Swamp-Root. After taking half a bottle I felt better. Have now taken ten bottles and am well as I ever was, thanks to Swamp-Root. I wish to tell all suffering people that have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the best medicine on the market.

All persons doubting this statement can write to me and I will answer them directly.

Yours very truly,
CLYDE F. CAMERON

H. L. SPENGER RECEIVES POEM AS BIRTHDAY REMEMBRANCE

Among the birthday greetings which H. L. Spenger, who was 84 years old on Monday, received was a copy of Gleaming, a missionary publication in Japan, with a poem written by an old friend, Dr. C. K. Harrington, of Tokyo, Japan, on the occasion of his own birthday last March.

THE IDES OF MARCH.

The idea of March are come, and with their coming,
Add one unto my years,
A year of song and sunshine, love and laughter,
Unspoiled by secret tears.

The four fair seasons as their guest received me,
Their hands my board have spread
From field and orchard, and from purple vineyard,
And cheered with oil my head.

To pleasure me blithe Spring, in girlhood slender,
Hath woven her fairy dance;
Summer's sweet face to mine hath leaped contented,
In love's soft touch and glance.

In radiant charms, beyond the Queen of Sheba,
Hath Autumn vent her bowd;
And white-robed Winter, in the freight blushing,
In beauty like a bride.

To me the rosy Morn hath waved her greeting,
In gold and crimson light;
The fair, blue Day hath blessed me, and the Even,
And the cool hands of Night.

For me the moon hath hung her shield of silver
Upon the darling sky,
The stars have smiled on me thro purple twilight,
When one I love was nigh.

The forest birds, for me their parts rehearsing,
The groves with song have filled;
And in the hearts of summer, all unweary,
Locust and cricket shrilled.

For me the brooks have laughed, the rivers chanted,
In cadence deep and strong,
The untamed oceans raised their myriad voices
In wild, majestic song.

In fields for me have donned their gay apparel,
Their gowns of brocaded green;
The woods have decked themselves like noble ladies
Who wait upon a queen.

Strength have the hills bestowed, to urge my journey
Still from the common sod;
And day by day tall Fuji's holy lily
Hath lured my soul to God.

Their lips to mine have sweet-faced children lifted,
With eyes that knew no guile;
And dimpling mouths, from golden love-dreams waking,
Have lent me smiles for a while.

Of men of ripened strength, and women saintly,
The friendship true I've won;
And they whom God hath crowned with silver halo
Have given me benison.

And all the shining days and nights of splendor
Hath been His Presence near
Who gives to earth its joy, its bliss to the Friend, of all, most dear.

His smile it was that filled the world with beauty,
That lit the leafy's above;
Forest and field were gay with joyous music
All for His word of love.

The friends joy, the peace of friendship treasured,
Love's tender clasp and kiss,
Are of His gentlest the dear reflection
Who fills all hearts with bliss.

The eyes may dim to beauty, and to laughter
And song the ear may die,
Till earth shall fade to silence, and to shadow
The blue or starry sky.

To coasts remote, of yonder death's dim portals,
May pass each much loved friend,
Until I stand alone, as one forsaken—
No soul with mine to blend.

But Thou beside, with footfall ever closer,
With bliss each hour thy place,
Until in yon fair Spring and happy Morning
I shall behold Thy Face.
C. K. HARRINGTON.

MORE OUT-DOOR LIVING

And Death Rate Will Be Lowered

Statistics prove that the death rate is very much greater in the winter months than in summer, and that the lack of fresh air is largely responsible for this condition.

If the system becomes run down, blood thin and watery, circulation poor, no appetite, don't dose with drugs, but take our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol, not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on every package and if it does not give you a hearty appetite, enrich the blood and create strength, we will return your money; that shows our faith in Vinol.

A case has just come to our attention from Albany, N. Y. Mrs. H. Hartman says: "I was in a run-down condition for about five years until this spring, when I learned what a good tonic and strengthener Vinol is. It is certainly the best tonic I have ever used and it has done wonders for me."

Try a bottle of Vinol, on our guarantee.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Daily Hints For the Cook

SOUR MILK CHOCOLATE CAKE.
One cup sour milk, one teaspoon saleratus dissolved in milk, one cup sugar, one and a half cups bread flour, pinch of salt, one egg. Last of all pour in two squares of melted chocolate. Bake thirty or forty minutes.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING.
Have boiling three cups water. Mix together three tablespoons cornstarch, two-thirds cup sugar, three-quarters teaspoon salt, three small tablespoons cocoa. Wet with a little cold water and turn into the boiling water, stirring constantly till smooth. Cook slowly about fifteen minutes.

THE DELIGHTS OF "MOVING"

To move or never to move, is not the question now, for we had to move. Unlike the leopard, we've changed our spot, and its good or ill it is ours to prove. Well, here is the house and there is the van.

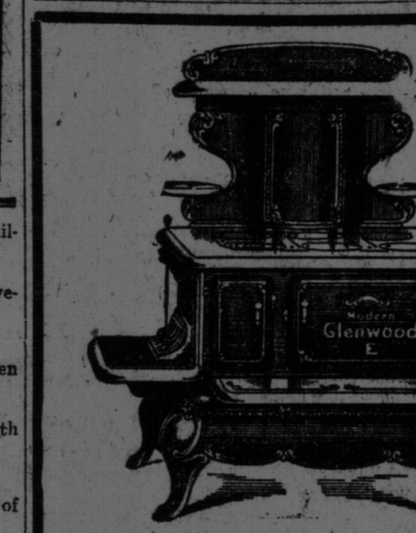

A rumbling slowly along the road,
In care of Thompson, a careful man,
But what a chaotic, unsightly load!
Of all the objects yet seen or heard,
Exposed to view in the public mart,
The most ridiculous and absurd
Are your household goods on a dray-man's cart.

All wrong side out, what a shock to pride!
And fastened around with ropes and page;
The grand piano turned on its side,
With pots and kettles strung on its legs.

Unloaded now. The guitar is broke,
The baby carriage has lost a wheel,
With oil the carpet is all soot,
And the coal-hod's found in a tub of meal.

Shivered to bits are the antique bowls,
The clock has a pointer and pendule
lost,
Your grandmother's portrait is punched
with holes,
And the desk with scratches is crissed
and crossed.

A chair leg punctures the looking-glass,
The stovepipe scatters the soot about
And now, of all things that should come to pass,
The pickle jar's spilling the pickles out.
