

and was sent to labour in London, England. His next station was Brotherton, where he laboured successfully two years. Two years were also spent on the Malton Circuit, where he had fruit. He was then sent to Grimsby Circuit. The first year was one of success. The second year he was attacked by Asiatic cholera, and nearly died. A sea voyage being likely to restore his health, he was sent to labor in Canada. He arrived in Toronto in the year 1833, and from that time till his superannuation, he labored with acceptability and great success on the following stations: Toronto four times, Markham twice, Brampton twice, Etobicoke twice, and Laskay once. After spending 37 years in the Christian Ministry, having labored hard and endured much for Christ's sake, he was superannuated by the Conference of 1858. He settled at Smithfield, Etobicoke Circuit. A few years afterward he removed to Yorkville, where he spent the closing part of his life, and from which he went to his last, and best home—heaven. He was a laborious minister, a faithful pastor, a true friend, a most indulgent father, a kind husband, a wise counsellor, and a devoted Christian. And now he has left the Church below for that above.

2. Rev. James S. Boyes was born in Montreal, April 4th, 1840. In 1853 he, with his parents, removed to near Chatham. Sometime afterwards he was, through the agency of the Wesleyan Methodists, brought to the experience of saving religion. At the age of seventeen he became a local preacher, and was useful in this position. While attending the Normal School in Toronto, and afterwards while engaged as a school teacher, he became convinced that he ought to enter the ministry. Ultimately his way was opened to a place in the ranks of the Primitive Methodist Conference. He commenced his labor in this sphere at Paris, in connection with the Rev. J. R. Swift. He labored two years in Caradoc station, three years in Toronto, and three years in Etobicoke circuit. In all these stations he labored with acceptance and success. At the Conference of 1870, being somewhat unwell, and feeling some difficulty arising from a sore throat, he requested a year's rest, which was granted; but his work in the active ministry was done. Other diseases developed themselves, and on Nov. 5th, 1873, in the thirty-third year of his age, he passed away to the Home of Saints. He was an able minister of Jesus Christ, possessed good business ability, and was fully in earnest in his efforts to do good, and now reaps his reward.

3. Rev. George Lewis, B.A., was born in Markham, on the 3rd May, 1842. When about 19 years of age he was brought to God at a protracted meeting held in the Church near his home. Soon after his name was placed on the local preacher's plan, and two years later he came to Toronto city as a student. Here he not only studied, but worked for God, preached Christ, and tried to win souls.
