

one-seam sleeves are also a novelty; they are gathered at the top and triple-gathered far enough from the wrist edges to form a frill that is deepest back of the arm and reversed at the front of the arm to show the silk lining. The collarette and the wrist edges are bordered with feather trimming.

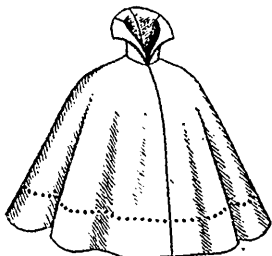

This wrap affords complete protection and may be developed in handsome brocades, velours and fine cloth of all varieties.

We have pattern No. 2067 in five sizes for ladies from thirty to forty-six inches, bust measure. For a lady of medium size, the coat needs six yards and three-fourths of goods fifty-four inches wide, with three yards and a fourth of ribbon four inches wide for the frill. Price of pattern, 1s. 3d. or 30 cents.

LADIES' SINGLE-BREASTED LONG COAT, WITH REMOVABLE HOOD.
(TO HAVE THE SLEEVES GATHERED OR PLAITED) KNOWN AS THE NEW-MARKET COAT.

(For Illustrations see Page 548.)

No. 2111.—Long coats are very much in evidence this season. The Newmarket fashioned on up-to-date lines is a most popular mode; it is represented made of tan broadcloth, with the rolling collar effectively inlaid with brown velvet. A Capuchin hood, the use of which is optional, is a stylish feature; it is lined with silk and has a seam ex-

2081

2081

Back View.

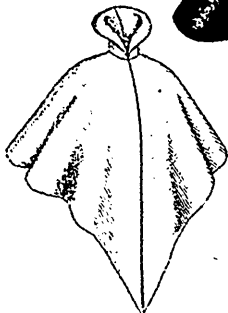

LADIES' CAPE, HAVING TWO BOX-PLAITS AT THE BACK. (TO BE MADE IN EITHER OF TWO LENGTHS.)

(For Description see Page 541.)

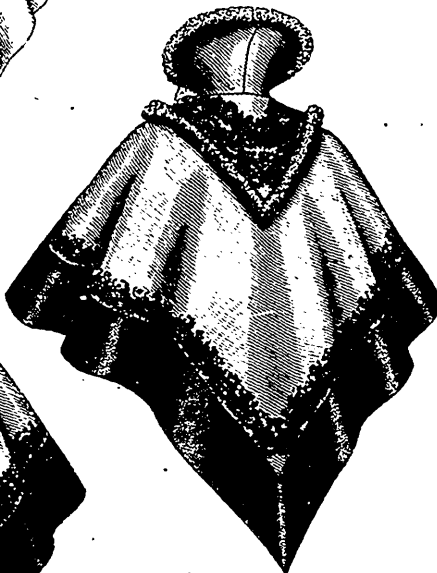

2081

Front View.

2074

2074

Back View.

LADIES' POINTED CIRCULAR CAPE. (TO BE MADE WITH OR WITHOUT THE POINTED COLLARETTE.)

(For Description see Page 540.)

2074

Front View.

extending from the point to the outer edge, which is coat having for its distinguishing feature a graduated circular lower part is here illustrated made of broadcloth and trimmed with fur. The circular lower part deepens gradually in a curve toward the back and falls in ripples all round; it is joined to the upper part of the coat, which has loose but smooth fronts and is closely adjusted at the back and sides by under-arm and side-back gores and a center seam that ends at the top of coat-

LADIES' LONG COAT, WITH GRADUATED CIRCULAR LOWER PART. (TO HAVE THE SLEEVES GATHERED OR PLAITED.)

(For Illustrations see Page 540.)

No. 2112.—A handsome long gracefully rolled. The coat is closely adjusted at the back and sides by under-arm darts, side-back gores and a center seam