CROSS-EXAMINED BY THE PROSECUTOR

Q. Cpl. Willis, these marches you refer to as being in the spring and summer; do you know of any marches within the camp earlier when there was still snow on the ground?

A. No, I can't recall them, sir.

Q. You weren't present on any when you marched up and down the parade square in the snow?

A. No, sir.

Q. What sort of songs did you sing on the march?

A. We sang "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary", "Carry Me Back to Dear Old Blighty"--something like that--and several of our own Army songs. And also, on one or two occasions we sang a song that Sgt. Harvey had written himself.

Q. Do you know that song?

A. No, I don't, sir. I don't believe anybody did.

Q. Was it in English or a Japanese song?

A. In English, sir.

Q. In English?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember the words?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were the words?

A. Oh, no; I don't know, sir. I don't know the words myself, sir. We used to--I can't even remember what the tune was. It was written to the tune of our own songs, and nobody did get the words down pat.

Q. To the tune of "Carry Me Back to Dear Old Blighty"?

A. I think so.

Q. Do you remember any of the lines?

A. There was something about cherry blossoms or something.

Q. Do you remember a line, something about "On To Singapore."

A. No, sir.

Q. You told the Court something of the setting up of this committee--judiciary committee?

A. Yes, sir.
