QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Veterinary.

CHOREA IN DOG.

Collie dog was sick in the spring. He coughed, vomited, ran tears from the eyes, refused to eat, etc. He got better, but now has a twitching of the muscles and head continuously, whether awake or asleep. Is there danger of hydrophobia?
T. H. M.
Ans.—There is no danger of hydrophobia. The dog has chorea, a disease of the nervous system that frequently occurs as a sequel to distemper, from which your dog suffered in the spring. This is a very hard disease to treat, and frequently resists all attempts to alleviate the symptoms. Give him 10 grains of the bromide of potassium, night and morning. If in the course of three or four weeks you notice no improvement you may consider the case hopeless. V.

DIARRHŒA IN COW.

Cow became constipated. We gave her two doses of 1½ pounds Epsom salts each, which did not act for a week, since which time she has had diarrhœa. A lump has appeared between her jaws and another between fore legs. She does not eat much, and she grinds her teeth.
J. M.
The diarrhœa is not the effect of the doses of Epsom salts you gave her. These passed off the system without causing purgation, and the diarrhœa is of spontaneous origin, and its being so long continued indicates a serious condition. The lumps mentioned will probably disappear spontaneously. Give her ½ oz. powdered catechu, ½ oz. prepared chalk, and 3 drams powdered opium in a pint of cold water as a drench every five hours until diarrhœa ceases. Follow up with 2 drs. each of gentian, ginger and nux vomica three times daily, and gradually increase the quantity of food as her appetite improves. V.

POLL EVIL.

1. Mare got hurt by wearing poke, and it resulted in poll evil. How will I treat it?
2. Mare has calloused lumps on the points of her shoulders.
S. M.
Ans.—1. If pus has not formed, and there is simply a swelling and inflammation of the parts, apply cold, as pounded ice, or bathe long and often with cold water, until the inflammation is allayed; then blister to remove the enlargement. If pus has formed (which is probable) you must send for your veterinarian, as a surgical operation, which consists in cutting down to the bottom of all the sinuses, and probably removing some tissue, is necessary. None but a professional man can operate successfully, and it is not probable he will succeed with one operation. Two or three operations are often necessary.
2. These are fibrous tumors, and must be carefully dissected out, the wounds stitched and dressed three times daily with a five per cent. solution of carbolic acid until healed. V.

BARBED-WIRE WOUND.

Mare received a barbed-wire cut in front of the hock. It is about three inches long, crossways of the leg. The wound gapes about an inch. Should it be stitched. Tell me how to treat so as to prevent a scar or mark.
F. McR.
Ans.—You cannot avoid a scar, and usually considerable thickening of the parts from a wound of this nature in this locality. Unless directly in front of the joint it would have been wise to have had it carefully stitched, but this cannot be done now. Keep the mare in a nice, cool, well-ventilated but darkened box stall. Give her a slight purgative, of, say 6 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger; feed lightly on easily-digested food. Keep as quiet as possible. Keep the wound clean by careful bathing, twice daily, with warm water, and apply three times daily an antiseptic dressing, as a five per cent. solution of zenoleum, phenyle or carbolic acid. V.
