Scene in a Lodging House. Early this morning a tremendous commotion was created in a lodging house on H— street by an inveterate wag, who ought to be taken care of at once. The man was lodging in the house, and about 8 o'clock came down from his room and

By this time the frantic mother had the boy stretched on the bed, and was getting a square yard of mustard plaster ready. At the same time she dispatched three boys and a little girl for medical aid. "Here," said the wag, coolly, "I'll leave you the name of the chemical on a piece of paper: Chloride of Sodium. Make no mistake; any doctor will know what to do the minute he sees the paper. what to do the minute he sees the name It's all right; now, don't cry. It won't have the slightest effect under an hour. self;" and here the man started at a brisk pace down town and had several doctors routed out of their offices.

Meanwhile the boy, who was about nine years old, was bawling at the top of his voice, and some of the ladies from neighboring houses came in to help hold him on the bed while the mustard plaster was put on his stomach. Every woman who came in was shown the name of the poison written on the paper, and they ejaculated, "Mercy on us!" "Gracious me!" "Oh, my!" and "Merciful heavens!" in concert.

This season we make our announcement with more than usual confidence and satisaction, owing to the very great amount of encouragement received during the past. Our more than ever complete assortment, its stering worth, and the numerous advantages offered by our far-famed emporium have been so liberally acknowledged by our many patrons, that, redoubling our efforts and enlarging our operations, we are again prepared to supply to any extent—

Presently the doctors began to arrive.
Dr. Harris came a tearing up the alley with a stomach pump, followed by Webber. Anderson, Conn, Prichard, Grant, Heath, Bergstein, and, indeed, almost the entire faculty of the city, with medical cases, instruments and stomach pumps. At the sight of so formidable an array, the patient (on whom the plaster was drawing like a ten-mule team) set up a howl of despair.

"What has he taken, madam?" asked Dr. Harris, hurriedly.

"Here's the paper," cried the mother, sobbing. "That's the stuff he took."

The doctor read the inscription, passed it to the next man with a laugh, and it went round the group. Presently some one remarked,—

"Salt, by thunder!"

"Salt, by thunder!" The servant of a Prussian officer one day met a crony, who asked how he got along with his fiery master. "Oh, excellently!" answered the servant. "We live on very friendly terms; every morning we dust each other's coats. The only difference is, he takes his off to be dusted, and I keep mine on." They explained to the weeping mother that she had been made the victim, as well as themselves, of a cruel hoax. There was a big laugh, but when that wag gets home to his lodgings to-night salt won't

But it is one of the worst things in the world for preserving a man when he is leaving. If you want to keep a dead man put him in whisky; if you want to kill a living man put whisky into him." His wife who was in the back room getting supper ready, dropped a plate on the floor, stumbled over the baby and ran like a quarter horse to the window with, "Where? where? Tell me quick?" "The one with the long cloak—just at the corner." Then the woman at the window said in deep disgust: "Why, that's Brown's wife." "Yes, exactly," remarked the brutal husband, quietly. VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN AWAY.

The CATHOLIC RECORD, established in Oct. 1878, has met with the most unexpected sucless, has net with the most unexpected suc-cess and favor in all parts. This success is mainly due to its having fulfilled the pro-mises of its prospectus. It is now, and will continue to be, a Catholic family newspaper, having for its sole object the advancement of our holy religion and the defence of its doc-trines. It will contain from week to week concise and carefully selected articles from our most gifted Catholic writers, both lay

FAMILY READING.

Matter suitable for family reading, which will have a lendency to improve the mind and bring into play the better traits of our nature, will be carefully prepared and form a special feature of the paper.

DIOCESAN NEWS

Will be reported, as occasion arises, from the different parishes. The rev. clergy and people in all parts of the diocese will find in the RECORD a large amount of useful and interesting information touching local occurrences, such as church dedications, confirmations, the doings of the different Catholic societies, &c.

LCCAL EVENTS.

The most striking events of the week will be given in a condensed and readable form. Subscribers may rest assured that all the news which is worth having will appear in the RECOLD. We do not purpose to follow the example of some of our cotemporaries, whose columns contain little else than matter which is calculated to make us shudder at the degradation of some of our fellowbeings. Elaborate accounts of the most horrible crimes, blood curdling-pictures of sin and shame serve no good end. The minds of our children should be kept away from such as this. It works harm with the young; it will not be beneficial to mature persons. CONTINUED STORIES.

A particular feature of the paper will be the reproduction of the choicest works of fletion of some of our most brilliant Catholic writers. These stories will not only be of absorbing interest, but will also contain a vast fund of moral instruction. The present story will shortly be concluded, when we will give our readers another which we promise them will be well worth the price of the paper.

HUMOROUS. HUMOROUS.

This department will be most carefully elected, and will only contain such matter is will really be deserving the name of wit and humor. and humor.

Many other departments will also be introduced occasionally, all of which will serve to make the paper one of the best Catholic weeklies in America.

PREMIUMS FOR 1880.

In order to extend still more the usefulness of the RECOLD we have this year decided to offer premiums to those who can spare a few hours' canvassing for subscribers.

The price of the paper is $2 per annum. Those who form these clubs must obtain the money in advance, and send direct to this office in a registered letter, or by post office order, addressed as below. The premium will then besent free of charge to the person who forms the club.
