TO BOYS COMMENCING BUSINESS.

Be on hand promptly in the morning at your place of business, and make it a point never to be late, and perform cheerfully every duty. Be respectful to your employers and all in authority over you, and be polite to every one; politeness costs nothing, and it will help you wonderfully in getting along in the world. And above all, be honest and truthful. The boy who starts in life with a sound mind in a sound body, who falls into no bad habits, who is honest, truthful and industrious who remembers with grateful love his father and mother, and who does not grow away from Church and Sunday school, has qualities of mind and heart that will ensure him success to a remarkable degree, even though he is endowed with only ordinary mental capacity; for honor, truth, and industry are more than genius.

Don't be fubfish in your dress, and don't buy anything before you have the money to pay for it. Shun billiard saloons and be careful how you spend your evenings. Cultivate a taste for reading and read only good books. With a love for reading, you will find in books friends ever true and full of cheer in times of gloom, and sweet companionship for lonely hours. Other friends may grow cold and forsake you, but books are always the same. And in closing, boys I would say again, that with truth, honesty and industry, and a living faith in God, you will succeed.

Honor and shame from no condition rise: Act well your part; there all the honor lies.

Rain machines do well in the way of novelty, but if it is a good, mizzling rain you want, wear your new summer suit down town and leave your umbrellas at home.

"Why are not our girls strong?" asks Lydia Holly. But they are strong. Many a one of 'em has been known to sit on a great, strapping man and hold him down a whole evening.

Now that the Weather Bureau is to become a part of the political machinery of the Agricultural Department, we may look for warmer days and a prevalence of western winds.

"Porter," said the gentleman as he left the car, "I haven't any change this morning."

"I reckon I can trust you, boss. Jes' gimme your address so's I can send de bill."
