Prince Henry and the Crown Prince wore naval uniforms.

The Emperor, notwithstanding the padded suit specially made for the occasion, showed in his wasted frame the avages of disease. He wast the rose-crowned corpse at the marriage feast.

The Emperor was strongly excited during the ceremony, and Dr. Mackenzie was very anxious for the result. Beyond-being much fatigued His Majesty does not appear to have suffered.

Thousands of people were assembled outside the castle. When Gen. Von Moltke arrived he was enthusiastically greeted by the multitude.

ultitude. The bride wore white peau de sole and flounced where must being flounced with rich lace. The train, of the same material as the dress, was square, and the sides of the skirts were ornamented with orange blossoms.

and the sides of the skirts were ornamented with orange blossoms. A last (Friday) night's Berlin cable says: Before the wedding ceremony yesterday the royal family assembled in the blue drawing-room where the Empress affixed the Princess' crown upon the bride's head, using a gold teilet service presented by the Car Alexander I? to Queen Louiss. Count Stolberg having registered the marriage, the procession started for the chapel. Count Radolinski led, followed by the bridal couple, the Grand Duke of Hesse escorting the Empress, the Prince of Wales escorting the Crown Princess, the Crown Princess, the bridal couple, the Grand Duke of Hesse escorting the Empress, the Prince of Wales escorting the Crown Princess, the Crown Prince escorting Grand Duchess Elizabeth (the wife of Grand Duke Sergius of Russia and sister of the bride), and others.

and others.

The floor of the chapel was covered with Persian carpet and the walls were suitably decorated. The Empress stood at the right of the altar and the Grand Duke of Hesse at the left. The dowager Empress, right of the altar and the Grand Duke or Hesse at the left. The dowager Empress, in widow's weeds, was wheeled in from a side door. The couple stepped up to her and kissed her hand, bowing low, the choir in the meantime singing a hynn. Then the Emperor, in the uniform of a grand marefial, walked in erect, with a firm gait and movement. He allowed his eyes to wander over the assembled company, smiling and bowing graciously.

Count: Herbert Distinct.

During the ceremony the Emperor did not lough or show a sign of discomfort or weakness. Dr. Mackenzie was near at high aya unon him. reakness. Dr. mackenzie was hand and kept a watchful eye upon him. The Castle of Augustenbery at Kiel has been prepared for the residence of the louple after the honeymoon.

Mr. Spurgeon on the Baptist Union. Mr. Spurgeon on the Baptist Union.

A London cable says: The Calvinist Methodists have, perhaps, an idea that it is possible to annex Mr. Spurgeon to their denomination, and they have been passing a vote of sympathy with him in his present ecclesiastical troubles. He replies in a remarkable letter, "mourning," he says, "over a great evil in some of the churches. I sacrifice peace, friendship and repute to be clear of it. My protest was resented and indeed to be needless." But he considers that the discussions have more than justified his charges, and repudiates again the compact which was made without his concurrence. He then adds: "It has cost me many wounds and much dishonor to have been the accuser of my brethren. It is still more painful to find their great errors not regarded as serious by the mass of professors. My only course is to follow a separate path; not, however, separating myself from any of any denomination who hold the faith once delivered to the saints." That is Mr. Spurgeon's way of saying that the Calvinist Methodist who agrees with him is a better Christian than the Baptist Union. Wider than ever, therefore, is the breach between the Baptists and their great preacher.

"My little boy is wonderfully polite," A London cable says: The Calvinis

"My little boy is wonderfully polite, said a doting mother the other day. Anyer it is recorded of the very polite little boy that he left a lady caller standing it the hall of his mother's home one dawhile he went the rounds of the house as grounds yelling at the top of his voice "Mother, mother, where be you? where he way? The new minister's wife.

WOOLD AND WON BY POST.

terday in a prominent ory goods store in this city. Mrs. North, of the western part of the city, was shopping, taking her infant of about 16 months with her. While she was making her purchases she placed the little girl on a revolving stool. Near by was a German woman, who had a child about the same age, that began to coo and manifest a desire for a closer acquaintance with the North baby.

The German woman lifted her child up close to the other, saying, "Kiss the baby." The little German then embraced the North baby, but, instead of kissing her, bit her cheek frightfully, causing the blood to flow and the cheek to puff and swell badly. Mrs. North thinks that the child will be disfigured as long as it lives, if the injury extends no further, and it is very ill to-day from the effects of the bite.

The German woman was so mortified that she at once left with her child, and her identity could not be discovered.

firm gait and movement. He allowed his eyes to wander over the assembled company, smiling and bowing graciously. Approaching his mother he bowed low and hissed her hand and then seated himself beside the Empress. Altogether it was an impressive and touching scene.

The ceremony now began. Chaplain Koeg delivered an eloquent sermon, in the course of which he referred to the Empress and Queen Victoria. Toward the end of the sermon the Empreor rose, leaning upon his sword, and remained standing during the rest of the ceremony. The choir sang an anthem by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

The bride wore a low-cut corresge trimmed along the edge with large diamonds, and a heavy necklace of gold. She held a fan set with diamonds. Her bosom ornaments, which were diamonds, and her bracelets were all ancient Royal jewels. The Empress was dressed in pale green silk with a plastron of silver brocade and a pale bite silk train. She wore a splendid diadem of diamonds, white feathers, riviered diamonds on her neck and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms.

Count Herbert Bismarck was present. During the ceremony the Emperor did not cough or show a sign_of discomfort or oweakness. Dr. Mackenzie was a near at the course of the ceremon with a constant of the course of the course of the course of the course of the ceremon with a course of the course of the ceremon of the course of the ceremon of the ceremon of the course of the ceremon of the foremost intellects in Tiverton without demur. Two wells are to be sunk at once and the contract is already placed. Good heavens!—London Truth. A Shower of Hats. A Shower of Hats.

For several hours the other day it literally rained straw hats in several towns in Norfolk County, Mass., and next day weather vanes, church steeples and other architectural peaks were decorated with them. The explanation is that a small tornado, struck the Excelsior straw works in Meddled at about midday, and several hundred etraw hats which were out drying burned.

A lady physician, Dr. Hattie Allen, has been appointed Associate Professor of Medicine in the University of Michigan. Now," says the Medical Record, "we hope Hattie will write herself Harries."

Perhaps the wealthest woman in her own right west of the Mississippi is Mrs. Warren, a Colorado lady who really deserves the title of catile queen. A correspondent says that her fortune is at least 10,000,000, in "hard, solid cash, every cent of which she made on catile."

FARMER KREITMEYER'S LUCK.

ing from delirium tremens took possession of the pulpit of Elgin Parish Church, and was proceeding to conduct the service when, he was forcibly ejected and conveyed to the At a recent jury trial in Dundee Sheriff

On Sunday night, 6th May, a man suffer-

At a recent jury frial in Dundee Sheriit Smith said that he "did not know but it would be better if the old Scottish law were in existence, which, when it found a habit and repute thief, hanged him at once and had done with him." had done with him."

The late Colonel Archibald Crawfurd was the youngest son of Moses Crawfurd, of Newfield. His recollections covered a period now historic, he having served during the reigns of four sovereigns, viz., George III., George IV., William IV. and Victoria.

them. The explanation is that sorrand, struck the Excelsior straw works in Medfield at about midday, and several hundred straw hats which were out drying were swept up by a funnel-shaped cloud, which carried them out of sight in a twinking. Next day the hats were picked up in Walpole, Foxboro, Sloughton, Mansheld and other places within a circle of more than ten miles in diameter. The tornado was strong enough to pick up from the bleach yard of the factory a large number of Canton hats, weighing as much as ten pounds apiece. These were whisked up in the air fully one hundred feet. The storm came without warning and disappeared as suddenly.

A Mother's Saerifice.

At Bristol, on Wednesday, an inquest was held on the body of Emily Hunt, wife of a tailor. She was preparing her hushand's Apper, when a parafini lamp fell to the floor and exploded close to the cradle containing her infafit child, and the flames set fire to the pillow. The deceased sized the infant, and her own clothes then took fire; but she ran with the child to the further corner of the room, Isid the child down, and then fell near the door. When the mother was dead, her body being terribly burned.

A lady physician, Dr. Hattie Allen, has

| The state of the content of the co

xtra premium. Umpires of baseball games, 100 percent Miners, seamen and river navigators

Miners, seamen and river navigators, 33 1.3 per cent. extra.
Aeronauts and trapeze performers, 100 per cent. extra.
House builders and submarine divers, 50 per cent. extra.
House servants who start fires with kerosene, 100 per cent. extra.
Employees of gunpowder or dynamite works, 500 per cent. extra.

the late Colonel Archiba.

As the youngest son of Mose Cu period now historic, he having severed during the reigns of four severeigns, vi group of the second of the period of the per

that will satisfy him."

Detroit has a colored youth who posseases a first-class soprano voice. The manager who engaged him says the boy was wreating with pots and kettles in a hotel kitchen when his voice attracted his Feeling utterly friendless and alone in disc. The size's sermon this year was based upon the words: "From a child the hastro-Pressian army and continued in the service of his Irish estates of 30,000 acres to the control of the hastro-Pressian and Franco-Pressian to his post, and the hast of his Irish estates of 30,000 acres to the canat under Lord Abstrare's adv.

Lord Largan is arranging for the disposal his bone was shot, under him. He can be the control of his Irish estates of 30,000 acres to the canat under Lord Abstrare's adv.

A Lord Largan is arranging for the days the hast of his Irish estates of 30,000 acres to the canat under Lord Abstrare's adv.

A Lord Largan is arranging for the days the hast been sent to the learnest under control of the his horse, was shot, under him. He can be a state of the his horse was shot to meet intered in the district of county was not so fortunate as his first. I control the his horse was a being the state of the was a fling the ship.

A Largan is a stranging for the days the his horse was shot his large than the his second wist to the same time from the control of the his horse was a state of the political protection and the his body.

A Largan is the body of the his body.

A Largan is the body of the his body.

A Largan is the body of the his body.

A Largan is the body of the was a substitute for white his largely used as a substitute for white his largely used as a substitute for white his largely used as a substitute for white is largely used as a substitute for the properties of the properties of the properties unwise to leave to other nations the entire control of routes and trade between the Zanzibar seaboard and the great equatorial lakes. They also say it will result in crushing the slave trade, as the territory in question is the great hunting ground of slave dealers. The region is a slarge as a great European State, almost wholly unexplored and undeveloped, and the scheme has been kept so quiet up to the final consummation that the English public have not yet recovered from their surprise or made up their mind about it.

How Long a Child Should Sleep.

A healthy baby for the first two months or so spends most of its time asleep. After that a baby should have at least two hours of sleep in the forenoon and one in the afternoon, and it is quite possible to teach almost any infant to adopt this as a regular habit. Even to the age of 4 or 5 years a child should have one hour of sleep, or at least rest in bed, before its dinner, and it should be put to bed at6 or 7 in the evening and left undisturbed for twelve or fourteen hours. After that age every one finds out how much he or she requires, though as a general rule at least six to eight hours are necessary. Eight hours' sleep will prevent more nervous, accitable or precoious a child is the longer sleep if the brain is to develop to its full extent, and the more nervous, excitable or precoious a child is the longer sleep in the or she requires in the least six to eight hours in the must be ample sleep if the brain is to develop to its full extent, and the more nervous, excitable or precoious a child is the longer sleep in the or the remains the same of the should it get if its intellectual progress is not to come to a premature standatill or its in the Chautauquan.

How the Europea Feed. How Long a Child Should Sleep.

Herr Standhaft, recently of Chatham, has been appointed leader of the 22nd Batt. Band, Woodstock.

A number of New York swells have lately made up what is known as "Raining in London" trousers. They have the bottoms neatly turned up and stitched in place.

There are probably 1,000 children in the There are probably 1,000 children in the city of Pittsburg who work in iron mills making bolts, nuts, hinges and barbed wire. Many of them are between the ages of 6 and 9 years.

An Oregon boy recently killed a companion for answering in Sunday-School a question on which he himself had failed.

POTTER PALMER'S QUEER WAY.

shoe."
"Well, what elth did he do?"
"He chewed up bad girls. Once, wh "Well, what elth did he do?"

"He ohewed up bad girls. Once, when he saw a young woman named Materna washing clothes, he grabbed her by the thin part of the neck and exclaimed: 'Gott sei dank, Ich habe Brunnhilde gerfunden."

"Anything else?"

"Yeth, thir. Well, I thay, Dip, who wath....?"

wath — ?"
But just then the postman rang and I secaped.—Richmond Baton.

The Pope as a Bird-Catcher.

When the Pope is not engaged in business or devotion he drives through his orange groves and shrubberies, ascends a hill whence he can see the whole city, the Campagna and the Sabine Mountains, or walks through the avenues of the Vatican, which he has had catefully kept in order, which he has had catefully kept in order, which he has had catefully kept in order, which he has been sent to him as presents by the wealthy "faithful," and in this vehicle he is driven ten or fitten times around the gardens. By the side of a ruin which stands on the top of the hill the Pope has planted vines with his own hand, and these he cultivates with assiduity, being rather proud of the wine which he obtains from them. A favorite amusement of His Holiness is to catch birds in a huge net, which has been specially made for him. After having layed with the feathered captives for a few moments he sets them at liberty. This is his principal occupation in fine weather, and he sometimes catches 1,000 birds or so in this manner.—Letter in London Telegraph.

The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck. Athur, who is forbidden to speak at the table, had his revenge the other day. As The Pope as a Bird-Catcher

The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck.
Athur, who is forbidden to speak at the table, had his revenge the other day. As dinner began he was uneasy, and finally said: "Ma, can't I speak just one word?"
"You know the rule, Arthur." "Not one word?" "No, Arthur; not until your father finishes the paper." Arthur subsided until the paper was finished, when he was asked what he wished to say. "Oh, nothing; only Nora put the custards outside the window to cool and the cat has been eating them up."

A Lawyer's Will.

The will of a French advocate contains the following bequest: "I give 100,000 francs to the local madhouse. I got this money aut of those who passed their lives in litigation; in bequeathing it for the use of lunatics I only make restitution," which to say the least of it, was rather rough on his clients.

A Pertinent Suggestion.

Guest—"Sirloin steak, waiter, well done, and I'm in a big hurry." Waiter—"Yes, sir; if yo' is in a big hurry, sah, why don' yo' hab dat steak cooked rah?"—New York Sun.

Joseph Haddon, of Liverpool, S.C., is probably the oldest engineer, in point of service, at least, in the United States. He has held a throttle since 1833, and in his youth was an apprentice of Robert Stevenson, at Newcastle-on-the-Tyne.

Mr. John Jones, of Fairburn, Ga., has a very wonderful house cat, if a tale that is told of it is to be believed. Several weeks ago this cat caught a rat, but, in very wonderful house cat, if a tale that is told of it is to be believed. Several weeks ago this cat caught a rat, but, instead of killing it, began to nurse and care for it, and now gives it as much careful attention as any of her kittens receives.

Fity years ago a man who lived on the upper Andreecoggin determined to defy the solutions of the control of the con

Mr. Palmer had not heard of the mistace and in all probability is not yet aware that the man he dismissed and the wages are one and the same. The other hotele employees have had a vast deal of fun over the incident.

A Largely-signed Address.

The following is the address signed by the individual of the employees have had a vast deal of fun over the incident.

The Editor's Troubles,

If I was married, and I had a son who had a procivity for asking questions—I'dl. Heard the heart of the content of the process of the goapel of the process of the goapel. It think she's a — : well, fill up the histus as you like. She's my sister; she's cyars old; she plays the piano; she sings (I'll back her to yell 'Barberry Bush') against any 6-year-old in tidewatry virginis), and waster a blee for a said the reasons one of the content of the process of the goapel and the virginish and the same believed to the process of the goapel and the same of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation and the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the goapel and the relation of the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation and the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the removal of the differences which for excitation the process of the removal of the din displays a spirit unworthy of the rulers of a free people, inconsistent with the best traditions of our public life and calculated to exasperate the Irish people. We are convinced that such a policy-goan never succeed, and in the resort to it we see a practical confession of the impossibility of maintaining the present state of things. We desire to see such a settlement of the Irish difficulty as shall satisfy the legitimate aspirations of the Irish nation without impairing the unity of the Empire or weakening the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament. Most sincerely do we hope and pray that to you, who have done so much to create a truer sympathy between the two peoples, may be given the fiorac of completing this great work of righteousness und peace."

monizes perfectly with dark materials and dark complexions, and it is comparatively free from oxidation. Barbarous? Not a bit of it! True, the aborigines made use of copper to adorn their persons, and in that they showed excellent judgment. In matters of taste we might frequently take a lesson from the savages.—Jewellers' Weckly.

Montreal Lady (to American financier)—
"Do you not find our Canadian climate rather cold, Mr. Boodler?" American financier—"Oh, not at all; it agrees with me. I left New York because it was too

Preaching and Practice. Presching and Practice.

Landlady (showing rooms)—My, there's Mr. Wilt's door open again, and how his room does look!
Visitor—What a slipshod person he must be. What is he? A cattle drover?
Landlady—Oh, my, no; he writes art books. "His last work is, "How to decorate and beautify 'our homes."

A rather novel device was introduced at a recent dinner given at the Harmonia Club.

mat, the sheik (sing) is dying.
At grand dinners in London the guests have offered them bear's ham from Russsis, sterlets from the Volga, haunch of reindeer from Lapland and cokis from Japan. The lashion of having game and fruits from far countries is the result of modern succeed, and in the resort to it we see a practical confession of the impossibility of maintaining the present state of things. We desire to see such a settlement of the Irish difficulty as shall satisfy the legitimate aspirations of the Irish nation without impairing the unity of the Empire or weakening the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament. Most sincerely do we hope and pray that to you, who have done so much to create a truer sympathy between the two peoples, may be given the hong of completing this great work of righteousness und peace."

Copper Becoming Fashlonable.

Copper is coming into fashion. What do I man ? Well, look at this lot of canes and umbrellas I have just imported. You will notice that each one of them has a piece of ordinary copper wire around the handle.

Gold and silver have become so common for these articles that people demand something new for a change, and you see the result before you. Just now great simplicity is affected in this respect, but I haven't the slightest doubt that when this metals becomes popular, as I believe it will, we shall see very elaborate personal ornaments. Its peculiar color harmonizes perfectly with dark materials and dark complexions, and it is comparatively a free from oxidation. Barbarous? Not a bit of it! True, the aborigines made use the tones of a frog.

There were 450 competitors for the prize offered by an English journal for the longest twelve-word telegram, and the winner put in the following, which was accepted by the telegraph officers for transmission for sixpence, the regular rate: "Administrator General's counter-revolutionary inter-communications uncircumstantiated. Quartermaster General's disproportionableness characteristically contra-distinguished unconstitutionalists' incomprehensibilities."

Here are some curious statistics concerning the French Canadian population in Maine. In 7 years it has increased 20 per cent. in Waterville and 50 per cent. in Waterville and 50 per cent. in Research Canadian family is decreasing in size. In 1881 the average was 5.23, nearly as large as the average Maine family of 1850. In 1882 it fell to 5.06, in 1883 to 4.93, in 1884 to 4.90, in 1885 to 4.88, in 1896 to 4.85, in 1887 to 4.82 and in 1898 to 4.80. The average Maine family has decreased from 5.64 in 1850 to 4.85 in 1880.

Allepice is not all spices at all, but one

Allspice is not all spices at all, but one spice, the product of the powdered berries of the Pimento or Jamaica ginger. Pimento trees are small evergreens, and the flowers grow in clusters, and are followed by small green aromatic berries, which are gathered tefore ripening and spread upon platforms to dry in the sun. The trees are never planted, but grow wild from seeds scattered by birds, and are thinned out and looked after by the farmers. A strong liquor is made from the berries by the Jamaica farmers.

A rather novel device was introduced at a recent dinner given at the Harmonia Club, of New York. A large aquarium filled with fine fish was the centre piece of the table and of attraction, while the convives were atting their clams. "There, gentlemen," said the host, "are your fish." Sure nough, the tank was soon removed, a flower piece substituted, and the guests because a tale green at the fish that had been swimming about.

Moscow Jackson, a sleeping-car porter on the Central Georgia, Railroad, has been in the employ of Southern railroads since in the special street in the special str