Chief Pritchard was a busy man last night. The lightning burned out the fuse in the tapper in Fireman Side's house, last night, and as a result of the circuit being broken the bell gave a number of rings. It was thought at first that there was a fire, but the cause of the bell ringing was soon found out and remedied. The tapper at the waterworks station was also out of gear, but was also soon repaired.

Michael O'Halloran, an old resident of Bothwell, was in the city yesterday calling on James Marshall, Queen St. Mr. O'Halloran lives just outside of Bothwell, and was born in Ireland in 1813, coming to this country in 1841.

He has good sight and hearing and transacts his own business. His memory is almost perfect and he is this morning related many instances in his youngest life. He has done well in this country and is quite well off.

The giant hippopotamus with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. consolidated show has grown so large that a new den had to be constructed for his mightiness to ride in. It is the largest ever built and is handled by a team of twenty horses. The utmost care must be taken in loading it on the show trains because of its enormous size. The beast continues to grow and there seems to be no limit to his ultimate size. Already he is larger in the body than a majority of elephants. He easily is the leading feature of a wonderfully complete menagerie carried with the consolidation. It will exhibit here on Saturday, July 19.

At the face-off O'Brien secured the ball and started down the field until stopped by Bennett and Fetterly, the latter securing the ball and sending it to the other end of the field, where it landed in Knight's stick and was thrown back. It was at this point that Wilson made a beautiful one-hand catch and the ball returned to the Blenheim end, but to no avail, as the Blenheim defense was almost perfect. It was now Blenheim's turn to secure the ball and by some excellent combination work on the part of O'Brien and Shillington the ball got into the stick of McCallum, who shot Blenheim's first goal.

After the face-off the ball again wandered down into Chatham territory, where several hard rushes were stopped and some good stops made by "Judge" Richards in goal before the ball went between the flags on a good shot off Shillington's stick. As time was called for the first quarter the game was played throughout under protest. The player who assisted the Wallaceburg team in their game here last week, when he masqueraded under the name of Wilson, appeared with Blenheim yesterday, this time giving his own name, O'Brien of the London team. He made a somewhat sorry exhibition compared with his work of a week before, Fetterly literally playing him to a standstill in their various encounters. O'Brien is a very fair player, but is easily discounted by such speedy stick-handlers as little Nonie Shillington or Frank Knight.

The game was a gentlemanly one and was very enjoyable. The Blenheim players, while hard checks and vigorous workers, are fair and sportsmanlike in their conduct and the spectators joined heartily in the cheers which they were accorded at the close.

WORLD OF SPORT

LACROSSE

LANDED THE CUP.
"Well, well," commented a gloomy city spectator to Walter Elliott after Blenheim had scored their third consecutive goal in yesterday's lacrosse match and Chatham failed to get a look-in, "well, well, they've got you badly this time!"

The big point man turned round and smiled good naturedly.

"Nothing of the kind," he answered cheerily. "The Blenheim boys are very fast and clever and we've learned to expect their rushing start. But they'll fade. They never hold the pace, while our fellows are stayers. Watch Chatham's finish and keep up your spirits."

The sturdy defence player had the situation sized and, as he predicted, Chatham turned the trick in a long and stubborn contest.

The boys from the Harwich town are unmistakably the prettier players. They started with a delicious dash, and their clever stick-handling, clean combination and wonderful speed made the Chatham boys look like counterfeit coin for the first and second quarters. In the parlance of the small boy Blenheim "played rings around" the home players, scored three goals, and after the other, and would have had more but for the good work of Richards between the flags. The large throng of Blenheim enthusiasts made the Park ring with their applause.

But gradually, as the game progressed, Chatham's weight and superior staying powers began to assert themselves. From the vicinity of the counterfeit coin for the first and second quarters. In the parlance of the small boy Blenheim "played rings around" the home players, scored three goals, and after the other, and would have had more but for the good work of Richards between the flags. The large throng of Blenheim enthusiasts made the Park ring with their applause.

A few moments before time Blenheim made a magnificent spurt and tied the score. The whistle blew. Referee Winters ordered a continuance of the game and the teams again took their places, a protest being filed by H. L. Brackin on behalf of the Chatham club. Ten minutes later Chatham added the winning goal.

ball was hovering in the vicinity of the Blenheim goal.

The second quarter opened up with a fusillade on Chatham's goal, and Stevenson scored Blenheim's third goal.

Blenheim stock had now gone up, and their many enthusiastic backers ran around offering large odds.

In exactly one-half minute after the face-off Chatham scored its first goal. "Non" Shillington was accidentally struck on the head by Richards.

The little fellow was laid out for some minutes, but pluckily resumed the game and seemed to play even better than he had previously. So, at the end of the first half the score stood three to two in favor of Blenheim.

After a short interval play was resumed and the hard fight continued. Four minutes of the third quarter had elapsed when, by pretty passes among the home players, Angus, Brundage and McLeod, the ball snatched into the net of the Blenheim goal, and the score was tied.

By some very clever stick-work McLeod carried the ball down the field and scored the fourth goal for our boys, and when the last quarter began the score stood four to three in Chatham's favor.

The Kents right at the face-off worked their hardest, keeping the ball at Chatham, end and showering shots at "Judge" Richards. He made some beautiful stops, until at last Baird succeeded in pulling the ball between the poles in a scrimmage, making the score four-four.

It was now a battle to the bitter end, and never did Romans and Greeks fight harder than did the noble thirteen—the field captains worked as hard as the men—in yesterday's game. Near the end Angus had a good shot on goal, but it missed by a hair's breadth. Notwithstanding the hard play neither side had scored again before time was up.

A discussion now arose as to whether Chatham had to play extra time or not, but, according to the rules, the referee held he had the power to make them play any time, not exceeding 30 minutes. The referee then ordered 20 minutes' straight play, counting all stops. About ten minutes of the last quarter elapsed when by good combination and passes McLeod shot the winning goal.

After the face-off for the last goal Blenheim rushed down, only to be stopped by the good play of Elliott and Coupland, and when time was called no more goals had been scored, leaving it a splendid victory for Chatham by 5 to 4.

Referee Winters gave satisfaction in almost all his decisions. Sam Courtney and Wm. Geroe acted as time-keepers.

The scoring was as follows:—
1—Blenheim, by McCallum.
2—Blenheim, by Shillington.
3—Blenheim, by Stevenson.
4—Chatham, by Angus.
5—Chatham, by Brundage.
6—Chatham, by Wilson.
7—Chatham, by McGee.
8—Blenheim, by Baird.
9—Chatham, by McLeod.

McKee is a whirlwind.
Now it's seven straight!
Elliott is a team in himself.
"Judge" made some fine stops.
Cramps seemed to be contagious.
The Standard Bank trio, Elliott, McLeod and McKee, cannot be beaten.

Much credit belongs to Blenheim. Their combination work was brilliant.
Chatham won the cup—and won it with her own boys. Here's looking at you!

The cup is ours! Let's fill it to the brim and drink to the health of the Chatham Lacrosse Club.
Wilson, Sowerby, Angus and the two Macs were responsible for many a pretty piece of combination.

The collection and tickets sold amounted to $34.35, and the executive desire to thank those who assisted.

As a consistent worker and brilliant stick-handler, Frank Knight, of Blenheim, stands in a class by himself.

Officers Dezella and Dodson and Fire Chief Pritchard deserve congratulations on the order maintained in keeping the crowd back.

Ald. Fleming and S. J. Courtney each presented Field Captain Sheldon with a box of cigars for the Chatham team on their victory yesterday.

Mr. O'Brien, alias Wilson, alias Burke, was again seen on the Chatham field, but his pretty playing was considerably marred by Fetterly's good work.

That combination between Elliott and Coupland down by the Chatham goal may be the game, but it's very hard on the nerves of the spectators.

Dr. A. W. Thornton, one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the club, kept the players in excellent spirits by coaching, while he kept them in good condition with fine lemons at his own expense.

There was no more enthusiastic citizen in the throng than Caretaker Arthur Green. "I'm proud of the boys—real proud of them," he declared.
