 The Arr. Parama. I alread like to be reasonable to the profession of the former and the composition of the former and the composition of the second Division of sought to be here at all, had there not ocen good reasons for supposeing that Mr. Thornton was about to turn his coat. It was believed that he was preparing to abandon his old politi-cal principles, and to ally himself to the party which he had formerly stood opposed. The fear of such political apostacy, on the part of Mr. Thornton, should he be re-elected, convert-ed many of his old supporters into desided opponents; and I was 'induced to become a candidate, in opposition to him, only because I knew that I could keep him out of the Assem-bly, if I did so. Docron Coxnov.--The preamble to the amend-ment submitted by the hon. And learned mem-ber for Charlottestown (the Hon. Mr. Palmer), since all that we mean ; and, in substance, all that I aid on the hustings. If explains our sentiments, and sets forth our intoution, with sufficient clearness and distinctness. We will not allow ourselves to be goaded preamaturely into action. We will not submit to be distated to, or to be taught, in any way, by our enemis; unless in so far as we may allow the solfish in-futation which has hurried them on to destruc-tion, to zerve us as a baccon to warm as against the dauger of pursuing a similiar course. Let the mangraph, submitted in amendment by the hon, and learned member for Charlottetowa, go forth as it now stands. It had my approbation before, it was brought into the Hones; and I have since seen no reason to be in the least dis-atisfied with it. At a proper time, we shall willing it to further explanation. . Mr. Darms.--I was present at a public meet-ing, held previous to the late elections, at which Mr. Gof, as a candidate, was also present; and I can testify that his conduct, on that occasion, was quite in a coordance with the astement which he has just made. He gave no pledge of any hind. I will support the amendment ab-mission by the form ther or we words; and it will now be seen with what statement which he has just made. He gave no pledge of any hind. Mr. WHELAN moved, in amendment to Mr. Haviland's amendment, "And all which have been passed since the establishment of Re-sponsible Government, with the exception of one, which is still under consideration." Throne. I have no amendment prepared to the paragraph of the Draft Address, now submit-ed, in reply to His Excellency's notice of that Return. T confess I know not how to frame one. If I went as far as my constituents would wish, my doing so would carry me fur-ther than, when addressing His Excellecy, courtesy to him would warrant. Our wiscast way, I think, will be to pass if over in soleann silence. Our doing so will shew that we con-sider any interference, on the part of the Crown, with respect to disputed elections, to be a breach of our privileges. I more that the paragraph just submitted be struck out of the Address. Mr. Frasme opposed the motion. The law shid the hon. member, directs that no Candi-date shall be returned duly elected, unless ho have a majority of votes, and it was cartainly the duty of the Government to direct the atton-no of the Honse to a Return of a Candidate having a minority of votes, in direct violation of the Hon. Mr. Patame. That the paragraph be struck out, it was agreed to on a division of 13 to9 7th PARGERTE.-STATE OF THE COLONY.

The original paragraph of the Draft Address having been read and submitted by the Chair-man,— Mr. Loscoworm moved, in amendment, a paragraph which was afterwards agreed, to on a division of 13 to 9. The original paragraph of the Draft Address, after giving a summary statement of the finan-cial detail contained in the Speech, concluded thus : "These facts clearly indicate the pros-perity of the Colony, and we cannot be too thankful to Providence for the bountful harvests which have so largely contributed to that result?" Mr. Loscoworm, in submitting his amend-ment atributed the prosperity of the country to the general improvement of trade throughout all Her Majesty's dominions, to the late abund-ant crops, and the new markets opened up for our agricultural produce ; and, particularly, to the increased demand for shipping, which, he maid, has, at a rise in the prices of 100 percent, been nearly doubled since 1850. The hon. member also particularly adverted to the relief Mordod with liabilities created by the crection of public buildings ; for which purpose, he said, £20,000 had been granted within a few years.

New Series. No. 119. Legislature, I was easily persuaded, on the dis-solution of the late House, to present myself bonor of representing them in the Assembly. The first step 1 then took, was to see Mr. Mas-eachem, who, I had heen given to understand, would also be a candidate, and consult with him about the propristy of commencing a cur-ras of the district. The result of our consults then was, that we agreed to start, not aware that there would be any other candidate. As-we went our rounds, we occasionally head Mr. John Macintosh named, as an individual not un-likely to firs himself as a candidate. They who spoke of him did not, however, appear to think it very probable that be would come for-ward; as they thought he could have no rea-sonable expectations of success. I made a very agreeable tour. I was well received by my old friends. They expressed great plassure at see-ing me again as a candidate for their elective suffages: and asid, they hoped I would not resign, as I did before ; but allow them an opportunity to meet me at the PolI, to express which I then used, in addressing the elections, i will accer retract, or be ashamed of. I then told them that I was traly liberal in any poli-tical sentiments, and that I words support Re-gonable Government in its purity. To Mr. Macceaten, I afterwards said, that the mode, in which the principles of Responsible Govern-ant question, and one which we ought to make a subject of future grave consideration. After this meeting I returned to Charlettetown ; and unch was the hearty welcome and encourage-ment which I, as a candidate, had received from the elections, that I fold convineed I about and supportar; but all the representations which hende to my prejudice were made in vin. At the election, we were triamphant; and base Mr. John Melintosh by 40 votes, and Mr. Cooper by ninety. 6th Panaonars. Return to the Writ for lat Distaict of Queen's County: The original paragraph of the Draft Address, having been read and submitted by the Chsir-man,---Hon. Mr. WHILAN observed that His Excel-lency had expressed no opinion concerning the Return, further than by calling it "an extraor-dinary one," and asying it was for the House to deside as to its legality. He had marely drawn the attention of the House to the fact, leaving them to deal with it as they should think fit. Hon. Mr. Params. If one passage of the Speech, more than sucher, was forced upon the Excellency's astention, it appears to me that its must have been that in which reference is made to the Rotourn to the Writ for the lat District of Queen's County.
