OFFICIAL.

LONDON, June 15.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
The situation in the Gallipoli Peninsula has developed into trench warfare. On the night of the 11th, two British regiments attacked, and, after fierce fighting, captured advanced Turkish trenches. The situation is favorable, but necessarily slow. The Turkish offensive is noticeably weakened.

The French Government reports that Belgian battalions have crossed the east bank of the Yser, and have organized ground. One German work east of Lobette was captured. Some trenches recently won north of Souchez Sugar Refinery, lost. Further progress made in Labyrinth, and enemy attacks southeast of Hebuterne, repulsed. In Lorraine District at Embermen in the Forest of Parvry, the French line was carried forward.

The Russian Government reports stubborn fighting on the San River, the enemy succeeding in advancing on certain points. Obsolete fighting on the Dniester continues. The Italian Government reports the occupation of Volaya and Valentini Passes in the Carni Alps, and bombardment of the forces of Albertetto. Positions won on the Isonzo are being consolidated. In Kamerun the town of Garua on the Venu River, surrendered unconditionally.

BONAR LAW.

REPORT UNTRUE.

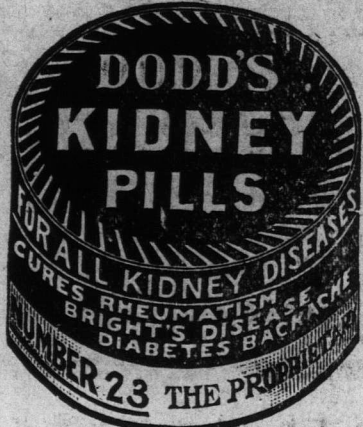

LONDON, June 15.
Official denial was made of a report circulated in the United States that the British battleship Agamemnon had been sent down in the Dardanelles by a German submarine. Further announcement was that no other fighting unit not already officially reported had been lost at Dardanelles.

A GALLANT EXPLOIT.

LONDON, June 15.
Mr. John Buchanan in a despatch from the British headquarters at the front to the Daily News says: Bombing plays a large part in the attacks, for it is the only way to clear the trenches. Chief exploits of our recent fighting have been amongst the grenade throwers. For example, a Company Sergeant and Major Barlock, of the Welsh Fusiliers, went out on a night attack on the 16th with seven men. He cleared with bombs and occupied five hundred yards of the German trenches, cut 11 mines and captured 102 prisoners, including three officers. This is an exploit which would be hard to parallel. One lesson of the war in its present phase is the value of young officers.

BRILLIANT WORK OF AVIATORS.

LONDON, June 15.
Another extraordinary adventure of two British aviators was recounted in an eye witness narrative dated June 12th, published yesterday. On Monday, says the writer, two comrades of the Royal Flying Corps had a most adventurous flight while performing reconnaissance about twenty miles from the front. They were attacked by several German aviators and during the engagement the pilot was shot through jaw and neck; at first he collapsed and lost control of the aeroplane, but quickly recovered sufficiently to right the machine. Then began a running fight in which our men were fired at by a succession of hostile aeroplanes. The pilot gradually became weaker and weaker through loss of blood and at last was scarcely conscious of what he was doing. His companion meanwhile bandaged him and helped in binding the wound which was a dangerous one. Despite these handicaps, the observer did not fail to take notice, performing a complete reconnaissance. In the end our men escaped from the German pursuers and landed safely with valuable information.

FIFTEEN MILLIONS A DAY.

LONDON, June 15.
Asquith in moving a vote of credit for £250,000,000 informed the Commons to-day that the expenditure the next three months would be not less than $15,000,000 a day.

PREMIER ASQUITH SPEAKS.

LONDON, June 15.
Referring to the construction of the new Government, Premier Asquith claimed for himself and his new colleagues the staunchest adherence of their respective political parties. The situation was without parallel in our history, the Premier said. The demand which it would make upon the energies of the nation, and on the patience and foresight of the Government, and the confidence felt by one in the other, could not be measured by any precedent, but our national policy remains unchanged, to pursue this war at any cost, to a victorious issue. Dealing with the situation since March, the Premier said that the importance of the accession of Italy to the cause of the Allies, it was impossible to overestimate the moral and material value thereof. (In concluding, he said: "In every speech, I have tried to strike two notes, a note of warning as to the gravity of our task, and a note of confidence as to the ultimate issue. There is no discord between the two sections. We shall do well to continue to pay no heed to blind counsel, hysteria and panic. We have for the moment one plain, paramount duty to perform, to bring to the service of the State, the willing, organized help of every part of the community. There is a fitting place and fitting work for every man and every woman in the land. Be it sooner or later, it will certainly come, when our cause has been vindicated, and there is once more peace on earth. May it be recorded on the proud day in the annals of this nation, that there was no home, no workshop in the whole of this United Kingdom, which did not take its part in the common struggle, and even its share in the common triumph."

IN THE DARDANELLES.

LONDON, June 15.
The following announcement concerning operations in the Dardanelles was given out officially to-day. The situation on the Gallipoli Peninsula has developed into trench warfare. After our success on the 4th inst., the Turks have evinced great respect for our offensive. By day and night they have to submit to captures of trenches. On the night of the 11th and 12th of June two regiments of the British regular brigade made simultaneous attacks on advanced Turkish trenches and after severe fighting, which included the killing of many snipers, succeeded in maintaining themselves in spite of bombs, and captured the position. On the morning of the 12th a counter-attack was made by the Turks, who rushed forward with bombs, but coming under the fire of the naval machine gun squadron, they were annihilated. Of fifty who attacked, thirty dead bodies were counted in the front part of our trenches. The situation is favorable for our troops, but it is necessarily slow on account of the difficulties of the ground. The Turkish offensive has sensibly weakened.

BRITISH NAVAL CASUALTIES.

Thirteen thousand, five hundred and forty-seven officers and men of the British Navy, including marines and members of the Naval Division, have been killed or wounded, or reported missing from the beginning of the war up to May 31st, according to an announcement made in London. Of this total, 8,245 were killed.

MCKENNA'S FINANCE.

LONDON, June 15.
In the course of a debate on the new credit, Reginald McKenna made his maiden speech as Chancellor of the Exchequer. The keynote of his remarks was the necessity for economy. Sir Frederick Banbury said he had heard that the Chancellor proposed to rehabilitate American changes by issuing a loan to the States, a step which he approved. Geoffrey Collins suggested the establishment of a central body to collect American securities in this country, which could be exchanged for Government scrip, and the securities he sold in New York to buy supplies received from the United States.

Amusements.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY.

The Million Dollar Mystery is the attraction at the Nickel Theatre to-day as the fourth episode will be shown. This is the most exciting and attractive of the chapters yet given. It is full of sensations and thrills, with brilliant photographs and settings. Nothing to equal it has ever been given here before. Mr. Howard Stanley sings "China Town" and the orchestra will render some high class selections. Do not miss to-day's performance it is a genuine holiday show.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

There was as usual a good attendance at the ever popular little house last night, and all were delighted with the show. To-night there will be a complete change of pictures in-teresting and amusing. Every photograph selected is of the highest class and if any preference is to be made it would in all likelihood be given to the beautiful and thrilling drama entitled "The Ethics of the Profession." This is a most remarkable story and it is one of the handsomest pieces of work turned out by the world-renowned Biograph Co. Summed up in few words: It is the intensity of excitement throughout. The entire entertainment is most varied. "The Upper Hand" is a strong play with a Western flavour; "Dick Potter's Wife" a subtle comedy of the first class; "Brought to Justice" a story of the "Plains" and the "Eugenic Girl," an athletic comedy of particular merit. Arthur Priestman, Cameron, The man from Yorkshire" and Miss Keating, pianist, complete a combination programme which may be equalled but can not be excelled.

PANTOMIME MATINEE A TREAT FOR ALL.

A splendid house, last night at Rossey's and the pantomime is declared by one and all to be the very best seen yet. The delightful transformation scene alone is worth ten times the price of admission. The costumes are all in keeping with the story and are very beautiful; there is a lot of fun in this pantomime, and while Miss Madge Locke and Jack Rossey hold the stage the house is in roars, especially when Jack, as Jolly Simon, shows the audience the watch he bought and the works fell out. There will be a special matinee for Monday which is under the patronage of His Excellency and Lady Davidson and the Misses Davidson. The various songs and dances are all new and the little troupe have no less than six changes of costume. The tickets are selling rapidly for the big contest on Friday night; the great double programme, don't miss this Friday's contest.

A. & S. RODGER.

I am always sorry for the woman who constantly sighs and says: "Well, they didn't do it that way when I was a girl." I am sorry for her because she has never grown in intelligence since she was a girl. If her children romp home from school fresh with new ideas on ventilation or a new method of working out their algebra, this selfsame woman will hold up her hands and exclaim that they didn't do it that way when she was a girl, etc.

She cannot realize that while she has not grown in intelligence for thirty years, the whole system of things has changed. She is one of the kind of people who retard progression. She is the "kind" of woman who cannot understand her daughter's desire to tango instead of polka, and she is the kind who nags, and fusses, and tries to turn the hands of time backward.

Don't be this kind for the sake of your children and progression. Accept things as they are and try to adjust yourself to the trend of the times.
