Mrs. Anthony was one of the few who remained who saw this Western country when it was but a dense wilderness, and passed through all the privations that surrounded pioneer life.

Deceased was born 73 years ago in old London, being daughter of Samuel Morrow, a member of King George III's body guard, and was christened at Westminster Abbey. Her father having received his honorable discharge after serving 21 years in the service, removed in 1833 with his wife and young family to Canada, and settled in the township of Metcalfe, on the farm next to where she spent almost all her life.

Testimonial to a Teacher.

On the eve of his departure from S. S. No. 7, Dunwich, D. G. Galbraith was presented with the following address. Mr. Galbraith has been teaching this school for the past year and resigned to accept the position of teacher at Tait's Corners:—

Dunwich, Dec. 21, 1899.

Dear Teacher:—We, your pupils, learn with deep regret that you are about to sever your connection with our school. You have labored faithfully for our advancement during the year you have spent with us, governing us with ever kindness, bearing patiently with all our shortcomings, and assisting us in our endeavors to obtain knowledge, so that our studies have seemed to us a pleasure rather than a task.

We, your pupils of S.S. No. 7, therefore take this opportunity of expressing our sorrow at your departure, and ask your assistance in this regard.

We appreciate a good thing. We hope it may bring to mind the many pleasant days we have enjoyed in the schoolroom, and trust that your future life may be blessed with every favor and that success may crown all your efforts.

Signed on behalf of the school:—MANSION MCCANN, DUNCAN L. MCINTYRE.
