NICHOLS' ERROR AND BAKER'S WORK IN BOX DEFEAT TECUMSEHS

South London Boy Holds London to Six Hits, But Was Wild as a Hawk-Hynes Pitched Winning Ball, But Hard Luck Lost Him the Game.

[Special to The Advertiser.] extremely lucky in today's first clash ation again got in its work, both makthirteen of the visitors being left the eleventh the teams battled on. something, and Baker did everything except allow base hits when runs were needed. He walked no less than eight Tecumsehs, punctured the anatomy of three more, and allowed six hits, four of which came in the first inning, netting two runs. Baker had great speed throughout the contest. Hynes also pitched a superb brand of ball, and it was rather a fluke victory which returned him the loser. A slow-hit ball down the third base line, which Nichols missed, allowed Courtney to score from third with the winning tally after two were out. Courtney had singled, with one out, and advanced to third on the hit and run by Coose, Lin-Coose at first.

"BILL" BAKER, LONDON SOUTH LAD IS MAKING GOOD WITH BRANTFORD

[BY JINX.]

London's defeat at Brantford yesterday marked the initial appearance of a young Londoner in fast company, and it was mainly owing to his work that Manager Bowerman's team lost. It is not really necessary to mention the London recruit's name, for everybody interested in baseball in London knows that it is Will Baker, of South London, Since Baker first has been watched with interest, and there is not a Londoner who did not want to see him make good. Yesterday Manager Kane gave him his first opportunity, and it was one that would have taken the nerve of many more experienced twirler than Baker. ondon has been playing great ball lately, and it takes great pitching to beat them. Also it was Baker's home team, and the task imposed upon him was no light one. He went in and pitched the game of his life. He was bright career for Baker as a bal He has got the curves and the speed and the stamina to go the distance. His chief fault at present is lack of control. This, however, will gradually be remedied as he becomes more seasoned, and there is no reason why "Bif!" should not develop into one of the best twirlers in the Canadian League. He is young yet, only celebrating his 21st birthday on Sunday last. He demonstrated to Brantford management yesterday that he has a clear title to a place on the take his regular turn in the box. London fans will watch Baker's work during the season with the keenest of interest. This is his home town, and he can always depend upon the fans of the city to pull for him first, last and all the time. There is no doubt about his making good in the Canadian League. But will he go higher? Everybody who knows Baker believes that he will. Ever since he gained fame by his great pitching in the Methodist League in this city it has been predicted that he had a big league career ahead of him. It looks now a triffe wild at first, but as the game grew older he steadied down and It was a truly remarkable perform as if he is beginning on that career, pitched like a veteran.
