

The Weekly British Colonist and Chronicle

Saturday, February 27, 1869

We have before us a very elaborate report, addressed to Mr. McCulloch, the United States Secretary to the Treasury, by Israel T. Hatch, on the subject of the trade between the United States and Canada, and the results of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty recently in operation between these two nations.

Legislative Council, yesterday.—Before the minutes of the previous day were confirmed, the Attorney General moved that a protest signed by certain members of the Council be expunged from the books of the Council by one of the signers of the protest.

THE "BATTLE OF COLIMAN."—An advertisement appears in the journal, which will appear in Victoria on or about the 26th of March as a daily. Hon. John Robson will continue as the editor; and it is understood that the services of Mr. H. E. Seelye, formerly of the News and Cariboo Sentinel have been secured as business manager.

THE GREAT FIRE AT OTTAWA.—About 12:30 o'clock this morning the rear of the Queen's Printer's block was discovered to be on fire, the fire being in the wooden staircase behind the printing office.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The surveys are to be years after ratification, in five years and to be after the ratification, or fails.
