Canada Might Take a Lesson.
Mr. D. F. Beatty, described as a thrice mayor of Washington, N.C., has been indicted by the postoffice authorities at Washington for using the mails for the transportation of a gift enterprise fraud. We do not do these things in Canada, and the public—chiefly the American public—is allowed to be satisfied by a series of devices under the guise of guessing puzzles and similar pretences. We know that the facts have been repeatedly told before the Postmaster-General and the Minister of Justice by the postmaster of Toronto, but no action has been taken. There are a chief inspector and several local officers whose easy duty it would seem to be to take cognizance of the frauds in question if the needed law were passed, but here in Canada perhaps we allow the liberty of the subject and the fear of introducing tyrannical legislation to weigh in a little too heavily against the reasonable administration of justice, as against those who are more promptly dealt with in the boatload of the free.

Cholera in Europe.
The latest advices from the Old World make it beyond doubt that cholera is spreading in Europe at such a rate as to gravely suggest its development into an epidemic. Notwithstanding the denial of the French authorities, the Spanish Government has established a quarantine against vessels arriving from French ports. At Hamburg efforts have been made to suppress reports of the sporadic occurrence of death from cholera during the winter, but the authorities now admit that it is rapidly increasing. They are also persuaded that it is reasonable and unwise to attempt to suppress or mislead reports of its existence, a fortunate thing for other localities that are trying to estimate the danger they are in and prepare against it accordingly.

It is gratifying to know that the Canadian Government is employing every precaution to keep the disease away from our shores. The health authorities of Europe express themselves as almost confident that the disease will not reach the American continent, but the Ottawa authorities believe that eternal vigilance is the price of security. While, therefore, there is reason to be careful, there is no great reason to fear that the exercise of such care will not prevent the invasion of the dread disease.

A firm in Minneapolis is now manufacturing electric cooking utensils on an extensive scale. A large club in that city does its cooking by electricity exclusively. It is claimed by the company that the cost of cooking by electricity is less than by gas. In cooking by the former medium the heat is applied to the utensil directly and not by means of a stove. This necessitates a current to each utensil and a special heating apparatus in connection with it. A complete outfit of these utensils is sold at about $75. If all that is said and nothing is proved, it is true it is destined soon to supplant gas and coal too for this purpose.

A correspondent would like to know if it is possible for a member of Parliament who visits England once a year and brings back five or six large trunks filled with the choicest goods he and his family can select in Regent, Oxford and Old Bond streets, London, to have any practical knowledge of the present "iniquitous" tariff, when his trunks are opened and inspected by the customs officers. Our correspondent suggests that Controller Walker should give his officers instructions to treat all such trunks as if they were carrying the name of an M.P., as they have been known to do, without going through the usual formalities.

SOME MATCHLESS HORSES.

The Great Sale of the Stock of the Grand National Stables.

In the Mutual-Street Ring on Monday, immediately after the sale of the magnificent collection of carriages, Mr. Silve's string of high-class horses will be offered for unsold horses. The best of the lot is a pair of dapple greys, perfect models in and in condition. Jack, a bay horse, is well bred, kind in harness and not first-class saddle horse for ladies. The black mare Kit is very handsome and is one of the greatest favorites of many stables. Good private families and professional men should not miss this sale. Here are the best of horses and carriages, which cannot be surpassed on this continent, and all without the slightest reserve.

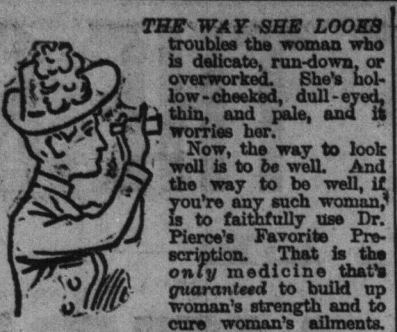

No Reflection on Mr. Jennings.
Messrs. McCarthy, Oiler, Harkin & Creelman, "Gentlemen," in reply to yours of yesterday's date re Mr. W. T. Jennings, I beg to say that what appears yesterday in "The World" newspaper, purporting to be a report of what I said at a meeting of the Ratepayers' Association, is utterly incorrect and untrue. I did not refer to Mr. Jennings or use his name. The remarks I made had no reference to him or to the time Mr. Jennings was City Engineer, and there was no reference to him directly or indirectly. Since Mr. Jennings brought the matter to my notice I have spoken to a number of the gentlemen who were present. They confirm the above statement. I may add that Mr. Jennings knows that I had always the highest opinion of Mr. Jennings' intelligence and his character as City Engineer, and thought it much against his interest when I lost his services. Yours truly, Wm. J. Ritchie & Co.,

Mr. William Elliott's Will.
Miss Cynthia J. Elliott is the executrix of the will of her father, William Elliott, deceased, a retired wholesale druggist, and John Galley and Scott and Thos. Sutherland & Co. are the executors. The estate is put at $28,707, divided as follows: Stocks, $50,282; mortgage, $20,706; life insurance, $10,000; cash, $12,000; real estate, $20,000; household effects, $1,500; accounts, $500. This is in full of all claims against the estate. The daughter, Cynthia, is given all the household effects, $5,000 before the estate is divided. One-fifth of the residue of the estate. Of this residue one-third goes to the son Robert, one-fifth to the daughter, Mrs. James Watson, one-fifth to John John G. Scott, one-fifth to Mrs. T. S. Sutherland, daughters of Mr. Elliott, and one-fifth to Mr. Robert Elliott's wife and their children.

THE WAY SHE LOOKS
troubles the woman who is delicate, prostrated, or overworked. She has low-colored, dull eyes, thin skin, and pale, and is worried by her. Now, the way to look well is to be well. And the way to be well, if you're any right, is to use Dr. P. J. Catarrh's Remedy. That is the only medicine that's guaranteed to build up woman's strength and to cure woman's ailments. In every "female complaint," irregularity or weakness, and in every exhausted condition of the female system—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

There is only one medicine for Catarrh worthy the name. Dozens are advertised, but only the proprietors of Dr. P. J. Catarrh's Remedy say this: "If we can't cure you, we'll pay you—$500 in cash!"

VACANT HOUSES OF THE CITY

CAN TORONTO BE PROSPEROUS AND HAVE MILES OF VACANT STORES?

In Business Dull, Or Does It Mean Concentration of Trade—Rapid Transit Enterprise and Wonderful Improvement Going on in the City.

A superficial observer passing through the streets of Toronto and seeing the great number of vacant stores might be inclined to attribute it to a general business depression in our city. Why, even some of our knowing ones at times seem to be of the same mind. "I have counted 90 vacant stores coming down Yonge-street yesterday, and times must be dull. Now this man's eyesight was all right, but his judgment was faulty. To understand why Toronto may be prosperous and yet have miles of vacant stores you must remember the wonderfully rapid increase in the population of Toronto, that forced the people to live outside the centre of the city, and as the means of intercommunication were the primitive horse cars, it was necessary that a number of small stores should spring up on all sides, expecting to make a living out of the local trade. But with our better roads, more rapid transit, and the wonderful enterprises of the central retailers, the small stores have had to go, as it is simply impossible for a small store to compete with a big one. The result is that a business of $5000 or $10,000 to compete with those doing one of $100,000 or $200,000. One must not say that the small store is not prosperous because the business that was spread over two hundred stores is now done in one. Before the

TALK ABOUT THIS IS THE MONTH FOR THEM.

To-day is one of them at Oak Hall. On Saturdays this great clothing house remains open until 10.30 at night. But of greater interest to Men, Youths and Boys is the fact that Oak Hall is clearing out its entire stock of well-made, good-looking and easy-fitting clothing, and that there's only about a week left in which it is sold at clearing prices in the old building. To-day we shall sell at these prices until 10.30 at night.

Lightweight Overcoats for cool nights for boating and driving.

Summer Suits for Men, Youths and Boys.

"Star" Shirt Waists for Boys 4 to 12 years.

Private Houses, but the business is done here. Why, there is the firm of Guinness Bros., 214 Yonge-street, that can't find room enough to hold one-third of their stock, owing to the unavoidable delay in the intended alterations and re-building of their premises, and are, as a consequence, forced, regardless of loss, to clear out $100,000 worth of boots and shoes at most ridiculous prices. For instance, men's tan shoes and lace boots that they were selling for $2.75 are offered for $1.25; ladies' $3 Russia calf Bluchers, $1.50; ladies' $2 white kid strap walking shoes, $1.00; men's $3 Cordovan, whole foxed, sewed lace boots, $1.00; men's $3 Cordovan walking shoes, actually marked down to $1.00. No business is not dull in Toronto, it is lively, and the improvement going on in the city, the wonderful concentration of trade into the centre of the city, and the which the people to direct their business to, they can get best value for their money, it is only to say that inside of 10 years the only shoe house in Toronto will be Guinness Bros., 214 Yonge-street.
