Should any unfavorable report of the beet sugar crop estimates arise, the market for cane sugar would strengthen fapidly. If prices for the latter resumes their normal condition, an immediate fimprovement in West Indian markets will result, a consummation that will be hafled with satisfaction by exporters of fish and lumber in this country. The following from the Boston Journal will give an idea of the difference in prices ruling now, as compared with hast year and the year previous:—

As Trefry did not return within several days, suspicions were entertained that something wrong had courred, and an enquiry was instituted, with the result that nothing could be found or heard of the missing man. He had not been to Kehoes' and the slightest trace could not be found of him, save that an Indian found apparent stains of blood on a part of the same road Trefry would have to pass over. These stains, were, however, obliterated, if they existed at all, before solid impection of them could be made. Some suggested that Trefry had gone away, but this is considered improbable as he was building a new house, and left all his money behind him at home.

A man named Benjamin Huribur was arrested, owing to his having stated that he could tell the searcher where to find Trefry's body, and actually gave them directions to search in a certain pot in siske near the locality. After an unsuccessful search had been made, Huriburt said it was a dream helad had. Supposed Murder.

In Yarmouth county a great excitement has been prevailing, consequent upon the mysterious disappearance of a man named Benjamin Trefry. It appears that he left his home on the 18th inst., to visit, it is presumed, a family named Kehoe who lived some distance away, through a lonely strip of woods.

The students on the advice of one or two clergymen, made an apology to the president, who accepted it; and the lectures dentified the professor of the Marning Chronicle and asysthe reports of the disturbance in the city press were highly colored.

In the college at Fredericton, trouble arose from a junior student firing a slipper, accidentally or intentionally in the direction of the professor of mathematics, while he was conducting his class. The slipper and in inquiry was made as to who was the author of the act, but none of the students upon the mysterious disappearance of the disturbance in the city press were highly colored.
