AT THE CONSECRATION.

The voice of my beloved I hear: behold he cometh." &c.—CANT. ii. 8.

"The voice of my beloved I hear."
Lo! from his throne on high,
Descends my God and Saviour dear,—
The filial Deity.

Beneath these mystic veils concealed,
His majesty divine;
Though to his chosen friends reveal'd,
Deigns humbly to recline.

As sol appears behind a cloud
Shorn of his beauteous beams;
Tho' bright beyond the dark'ning shroud,
His glory boundless streams.

"Shew me thy face!" O, bless my sight,
With one endearing smile
From thy sweet count'nance beaming bright
To ease my care and toil!

"Behind the wall" he list'ning leans,
All-seeing, though unseen.
He speaks: his words from earthly scenes,
My soul inviting weans.

"Arise! he says, my love! my dove!
My beauteous one, and come!"
Secure with me, in Heav'n above,
Thou'lt find thy blissful home.

BUG IN THE EAR.—Yesterday, the Baltimore Patriot says, a color'd man was seen by a physician passing up Saratoga Street, apparently in pain; and when he enquired into the cause, found a Bug had entered, and remained in the ear. He immediately procured sweet oil—caused the man to lay down on the pavement—and filled the ear with oil. In a short time the bug, being unable to breathe, was forced to the surface, and thus removed. The intense agony suffered was shown by the fact, that the man—an athletic laborer—when the bug was taken away, became insensible, and remained so for a quarter of an hour, and was restored by the application of stimulating frictions.

We mention this case for the purpose of stating—what is perhaps not known by every one—that insects may be removed from the ear by the above method—filling it with oil; and as intense suffering—few causes produce greater—might be endured before a physician could be obtained, every one should be acquainted with the simple remedy. Attempts to remove the insect with an instrument, would probably fail or injure the lining of the ear, or kill the bug, and thus increase the difficulty. It cannot breathe through the oil, and being thus compelled to seek the surface, is removed without risk or pain.

INFORMATION wanted of William Quigley, formerly of the county of Kildare, Ireland. When last heard from, about two years since, he was leaving Kingston, as a seaman, for New Orleans. Any information respecting him will be thankfully received by his father, Darby Quigley, who resides in Paris, Canada. American exchange papers will please insert the above.

QUEEN'S HEAD HOTEL.

JAMES STREET, (NEAR BURLEY'S HOTEL.)

THE Subscriber respectfully acquaints his friends and the public generally, that he has fitted up the above named house in such a style as to render his guests as comfortable as at any other Hotel in Hamilton. His former experience in the wine and spirit trade enables him to select the best articles for his Bar that the Market affords; and it is admitted by all who have patronized his establishment, that his stabling and sheds are superior to any thing of the kind attached to a public Inn, in the District of Gore.

N. B.—The best of Hay and Oats, with civil and attentive Osters.

W. J. GILBERT.

Hamilton, Sept. 15, 1841.

FALL & WINTER FASHIONS

For 1841—1842.

THE Subscriber has just received the FALL & WINTER FASHIONS for 1841 and 1842, to which he would call the attention of his customers and the public generally, as there is a very great change in the style of the London and Paris garments.

The Subscriber would also mention, that his workmen being fully competent to make up the most fashionable work, the public may rely on every satisfaction being given.

SAMUEL McCURDY.
