Words of the Wise.

IF God move us not we cannot move.

IT is the nature of error to run crooked. SALVATION, though dear to Christ, is free to us.

BETTER to lose our comforts than to lose our safety.

TRUE Christians commonly die very much as they live.

GRACE cannot be clearly and fully known without grace.

A DESIRE to love Christ more is a proof of love to Him.

We may easily do too much for the world, but not for God.

WHEN we have reached the haven we have done sailing.

SHALLOW brooks make more babbling than deep waters.

THOSE who are only almost Christians will be only almost saved.

THOUGH the way to heaven be rough, it should not be tedious.

CHRISTIANS must grow in knowledge in order to grow in grace. FALSE principles are as inconsistent with one another as with truth.

THE Gospel never fails to enlarge the hearts of those who embrace it.

GOD not only does for His people what is seasonable, but what is suitable.

IT is far more important that men should be holy than that they should exist.

THE departure of Christ from His people to the Father was a departure for them

HE who prepares a kingdom for His people prepares His people for a kingdom. God never brings a Christian so low but that he has more cause for joy than sorrow.

GOOD men are much more troubled with their own hearts than bad men are with theirs.

THE things of God which we handle are divine, but our mode of handling them is human.

To deny the fundamental principles of the Gospel is inseparably connected with eternal destruction.

THE servants of the world and of the devil are earnest and diligent; much more should Christians be.

NEVER did one obtain rest with God whose desire was not set upon Him above all things else in the world.

WHEN Christ comes with regenerating grace He finds no one sitting still—all are posting on to eternal ruin.

If men exist it is far more important that they should be holy than that they should be happy, either in this life or in the life to come.

GOD gives to every Christian evidence enough that he is born of the Spirit if he would only seriously and impartially attend to it

MANY Christians might be much more useful than they are if they would rather aim to edify than to gratify those with whom they converse.

My own experience is that the Bible is dull when I am dull. When I am really alive, and set in upon the text with a tidal pleasure of living affinities, it opens, it multiplies discoveries, and reveals depths even faster than I can note them. The worldly spirit shuts the Bible; the spirit of God makes it a fire, flaming out all meanings and glorious truths.—Horace Bushnell.

THE Gospel of Christ belongs to our age as perfectly as to the time of the apostles. It suits every condition of the heart of every man now as then. But the preacher and teacher must know the Gospel and preach its parts as suited to the various conditions he handles. The condition of men and of their handles. The condition of men and of their hearts as far as possible should be known so as to preach the right portions of the Gospel at the right times. It is easy to mistake
