British Columbia Official Interviewed.

R. H. Palmer, fruit commissioner of British Columbia, was busy early this tish Columbia, was busy early this week superintending the arrangements for the exhibit of British Columbia fruit at the Western Horticultural exhibition. The stage of the Auditorium rink was assigned to British Columbia (Albert 1998).

Mr. Palmer says that everything in the line of fruit is good in British Columbia this season, the yield will be about five times as much as we had last year, and we could market fully five times as much as we have for export.

I cannot say at present whether we shall ship to Winnipeg this year, it depends entirely on the consumption of the Northwest Territories. The present outlook is that that drade will more than absorb all we have to sup-
