

NEW AND IMPORTANT WORK

BY THE REV. S. BARING-GOULD, M.A.,

RECTOR OF EAST MERSEA, NEAR COLCHESTER,

Author of "Curious Myths of the Middle Ages," "Post Mediæval Preachers," "The History and Development of Religious Belief," "The Ancient Colony and Church of Greenland," "The Silver Store," Compiler of "The Golden Gate," Editor of "The Sacristy," &c., &c.

LIVES OF THE SAINTS.

To be issued in 12 vols., crown 8vo., price $1.50. Vol. I. Jan. 1st, 1872.

Each volume will contain one month of the Calendar, and will be complete in itself.

A Second Edition of No. I. now ready.

"THE SACRISTY."

A Magazine of Ecclesiastical Art and Literature. Published in Quarterly numbers, price 75 cents each, post free. Contents of No. 1:—The Completion of St. Paul's Cathedral. (Illustrated.) The Symbolism of Animals in Christian Art. By Herr B. ECKL, of Cologne, and the Editor. I. The Fox. The Story of a Stolen MS. from the Royal Library, Paris. By S. BARING-GOULD, M.A. The Ravenna Mosaics. By R. W. TWISS. On Certain Representations of the Blessed Virgin Mary, with a child on either knee. Sketches in Foreign Churches. I. Dinant. Some thoughts on Modern Parish Churches. The Proper Tints for Frescoes and Embroidery. Hail! True Body (Ave Verum). The Ancient Parisian Melody. The Curiosity Corner. I. A Liturgical Curiosity. The Empty Socket. A Talmudic Legend. Reviews of Books, Architectural Notices (St. Barnabas, Oxford).

"The general quality of its contents is excellent."—Athenæum."The Sacristy is a half-crown quarterly of a very high character. It has made an excellent and even brilliant debut."—Church Times."Thoughts on Parish Churches is a really excellent Paper, full of practical suggestions, by a man of taste and experience. Altogether this is an unexceptionally good first number, and if the present standard be maintained, its success is certain."—Illustrated Review."Such a contribution to the folk lore of Europe cannot but be welcomed by all antiquarians . . . We do not know when we have experienced greater pleasure, or learned more from the perusal of any book. As in matter it is excellent, so in its get up it reflects the greatest credit on its publisher."—Weekly Register."The first number is certainly a success, and the names of the authors that are given promise well for the future. The 'Ave Verum' is most charming, and we predict that this beautiful melody will be heard in many churches by Easter-tide. There is so much that is interesting that our readers must get the Sacristy for themselves."—The Church Union Gazette.

No. II. ready.

Contents:—Christian Symbolical Zoology, by HERR ECKL, and the Editor. The Wolf, the Bear, and the Lions (With Illustrations). The new Chalices and Paten for St Paul's Cathedral. (With a 2-page Illustration). Thoughts on Modern Churches (continued). By J. T. MICKLETHWAITE, F.S.A. The Bible and Prayer-book versions of the Psalms. By Rev. MACKENZIE WILCOTT, B.D., Precentor of Chichester. Practical Hints on Church Embroidery. On the Pitch of Ecclesiastical Music. By Rev. J. R. LUNN, M.A. On the form of the Chasuble. (Illustrated). Propose, Alterations at Canterbury Cathedral. By R. EDGAR. Gregorian Music. By Rev. H. FLEETWOOD SHEPPARD, M.A. Ps. lxxviii. Exurgat Deus, to a Sarum Form of the 3rd Tone. Sketches in Foreign Churches. II. Hal. The Curiosity Corner. Limburg on Laon. A May Day Song, by Alfred Gurney. The Gift of the King, a Rabbinical Legend. Homer's Description of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Architectural Notices (Haggerstone Churches). Reviews of Books.

THE GOSPEL STORY.

A Plain Commentary on the Four Gospels, containing the narrative of Our Blessed Lord's Life and Ministry. Complete in 18 Parts at 6d., or 3 Vols. cloth, $1.00 each. Dedicated by permission to the Rev. CANON LIDDON, D.D., D.C.L., &c., &c.

This will be found useful for reading at family prayers, and by district visitors to the sick, being arranged in short chapters for this purpose.

"Practically more of a real 'Plain Commentary' than anything we have yet seen. It is readable, it involves the results of careful investigation, and it is so plain that the reader cannot help taking in the real general impression intended to be conveyed, almost without effort. Being cut up into short sections, it might be used with advantage for readings at family prayers, as well as for daily private reading, while for school purposes it is invaluable. It would be a good book, too, for clergy to put into the hands of district visitors for continuous reading to the aged or the sick. For pupil teachers, too, it would be simply invaluable. And now that the training of our elementary schoolmasters is becoming more than ever important, we should hope that the clergy will see to it that their pupil teachers are brought from the first to understand Scripture in its true sense. For this purpose no better help could be found than 'The Gospel Story.' It ought to be found in every parish and in every school."—Literary Churchman.

"This is exactly what has long been wanted, a clear, simple life of Our Lord, written for those not well educated or instructed. For putting into such hands nothing could be better."—Sacristy.

"Is what it calls itself—a really 'Plain Commentary on the Four Gospels.' It avoids the common faults of diffuseness and vagueness, and gives real explanation, followed by real practical application; and though the words are plain and the sentences short, the teaching is high and spiritual."—Guardian.

LONDON and FROME: JOHN HODGES.

TORONTO: ADAM, STEVENSON &amp; CO.