REASONS WHY SCHLICHT'S STANDARD SYSTEM OF INDEXING IS SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.

First—It permits of readier reference to names than others.
Because of the many distinct and separate groups into which names are distributed.
Because of the correct and uniform adjustment of Divisions and Sub-Divisions to the relative frequency of different names.
Because of the simplicity and comprehensiveness of the Divisions and Sub-Divisions.
Because of the familiar appearance which names present on the Indexes.

Second—It is equally valuable in the Counting-Room and the Public Office for a large or small number of names.

Because of the adaptability to different uses of the forms of books in which it is embodied.
Because of the adjustability of its Divisions and Sub-Divisions to any number of names.
Because of the readiness with which it is understood.
Third—Because it is more economical than any other.
Because of the time and labour saved in looking for names.
Because of the time and labour spent in writing up the Indexes best secures the object for which indexes are kept.
