

NEWSPAPERMEN OF CANADA GUESTS OF THE EXHIBITION

Men Who Assist Materially in the Success of the Fair, Spent the Day Under the Auspices of the Management.

That unique brotherhood in Canadian business life, the Press, took formal possession of the Exhibition yesterday. All week a multitude of editorial eyes, ranging from all parts of the Dominion, had focussed in this centre of common interest. Yesterday they were all with one accord, in the one place, drinking, as it were, in actual observation from this great fountainhead of national inspiration. If there were bias on any problem, it was forgotten; if grievance, it was lost. Everything that favored of particularity was swallowed in a great wave of admiration and appreciation which surged thru the grounds. Scribes were never more distinguished by brotherly attributes than when they gazed together at the great panorama disposing itself beneath their hands.

But they did not come alone. All the family ties, big and little, were there, fringing bravely by their sides. Sportsmen editors with admirable patience carried little "sporting extras" in their arms up and down the midway till the little minds were satisfied. Conferences of the sage and deeper sort were relegated to the tasks of every day. It was one of those rare and happy occasions which come to the lot of the newspaper man, and which he knows so well how to enjoy.

"They own the grounds," said President Kent, and at his word every gate swung on its hinges. Registration brought a ticket for the best meal obtainable. In the evening the fireworks blazed with special fervor for them as they massed in the centre of the grand stand.

Some hundreds constituted a record attendance at the noon luncheon of the directors, and a jovial time was spent. Sir Mackenzie, the venerable figure of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, rising as the first on the rostrum, spoke the support of all newspaper men of this project. The directors had given them the freedom of the grounds. They would enjoy them in peculiar degree.

Wm. Banks, president of the Toronto Press Club, spoke of the hope of the newspaper played in national life. Above all, it was clean.

As one leaving the ranks, he spoke a word of eulogy on the part which the newspaper played in national life. Above all, it was clean.

SHOWING VALUES OF GOOD HORSES

Series of Experimental Lessons Being Given at the Exhibition.

TO PRACTICAL FARMERS

A Special Six-Horse Team is Shown as a Standard.

At the Exhibition yesterday a series of experimental lessons for the practical farmer, and designed to show him the value of high-bred cart horses on his farm, was launched by the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company of Chicago.

Realizing the great importance of this matter to farmers who are raising horses for farm use and market, also how much more valuable and satisfactory to dealers and patrons of the market would be a larger number of the right kind of horses to market, and that a larger and better trade in horses could be built up for both producers and buyers of horses on account of their superior usefulness, soundness and ability in service, the Horse Department of the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company of Chicago has decided to give the farmers of this country a series of special demonstrations of what constitutes a high-bred cart horse most in demand at market and for practical usefulness in the country.

They should also demonstrate in most impressive fashion to the people of the country the value of high-bred draught horses for the show rings of the country in Scotland, France or Belgium for them. Any one possessing skill in the purchase of horses and in their breeding, and in directing their subsequent development will profit.

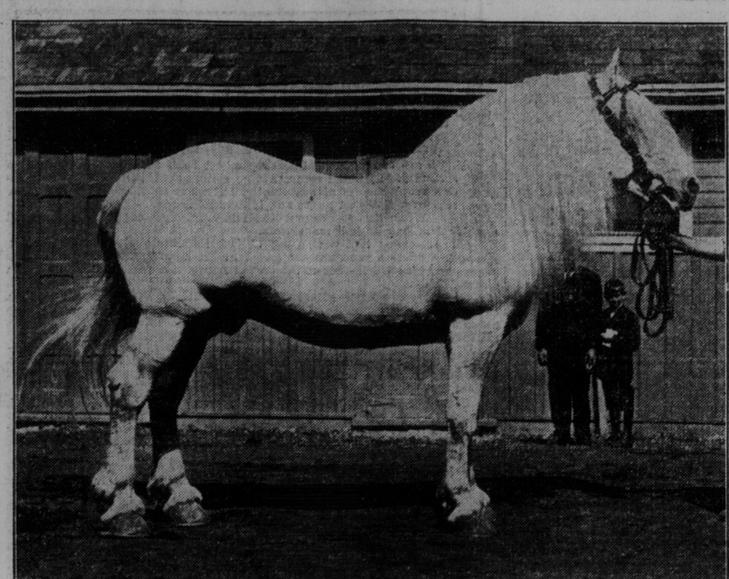

The demand for draught horses was never so great as it is today, especially for draught horses of good breeding. Lured by pure-bred stallions, which factor gives improved size, bone, action and quality, and the most profitable type of conformation. The invention of motors has had no other effect on the draught horse than to add value for draught horses, which are better in quality and higher in price than ever before.

In these "high-cost-of-living" days the question of scale is of vast importance to the housewife and to the buying public generally. 42-1-2 cents out of every dollar earned by the average family is spent for entables. Therefore, the exhibit of the Toledo Scale Company in the manufacturers' building, is of special interest. The famous Toledo scales contain no springs and guarantee honest weight. This assurance of a square deal on both sides of the counter establishes that confidence between the merchant and his customer that leads onward to success. This exhibit is well worth seeing.

Patrick Conway's band played between the hours of eight and ten in the main band stand, and will provide a program at that hour each day until the fair is closed. This arrangement will do much to take care of the huge daily surplus of people who cannot get on the ground and require some amusement lest they be walking up and down the midway.

It has been decided to hold the Labor Day baby show this year in the dairy amphitheatre, instead of judging the youngsters in a tent, as has been the custom in past years.

A VETERAN PRIZE WINNER

Cornelr, a beautiful imported stallion, owned by William Pears of West Toronto, which has won prizes for many years at the Exhibition.

PROMINENT EXHIBITORS

Foremost for Corsets.

The display of new models shown by the famous Woolnough Corsetiers in the manufacturers' building is exciting unbounded interest and excitement among the women folk. The discussions over the pantaloone corset are many, but the idea is certainly approved by the majority. This enterprising house has never displayed such delightful models and they must surely appeal to those who aspire to be "well turned out."

The prevailing tendency of the styles is low and medium-low bust in front, with slightly higher back. There are some charming lace-front models that promise to be extremely popular.

We understand this house has inaugurated a complimentary corset distribution, which is creating widespread interest among the ladies of the community, and you are requested to get particulars at the stand.

Fine Exhibition Number Out Today.

The second edition of "Exhibition Illustrated," which appears today, contains the most superb illustrations and information about the world's greatest annual exposition ever issued in any one publication. Newsdealers and newsboys—all on trains and boats—hotels and newsstands. 5c per copy.

A Useful Exhibit.

A useful exhibit is that of the Metal Shingle and Siding Company, Limited, of Toronto, with whom are associated the A. B. Ormsby Company, Limited, of Toronto. This exhibit consists of a modern steel barn, one of the many fireproof products of the associated companies. The barn shows many practical and useful features. The old-fashioned, clumsy cross beams and heavy posts are missing. Instead we find steel trusses, light, strong, and arranged so that there is no interior obstruction—the entire capacity of the barn being available. The barn is completely sheathed with galvanized iron, and is proof against fire and all kinds of weather, even dampness. The organization which produces these buildings have got the cost down to the minimum and any farmer can now buy a steel-barn complete for less than he could build a wooden one. This exhibit is well worth seeing because it shows a barn that is really useful to the farmer, giving his harvest crops, implements, etc., absolute protection from fire or the severest weather. To get to the exhibit, walk straight thru the arcade in the new live stock building, and along the main aisle of the cattle sheds to the end, only a short distance.

See the Free Kinemascope N. C. R. Pictures.

No visitor should miss this remarkable "exhibit," if such it can be called, consisting of a display of moving pictures in natural colors, accompanied by an interesting address. Here are shown pictures of the National Cash Register's gigantic plant at Dayton, Ohio, beautified by flowers, parks and also by the humane devices employed to improve the working conditions of the employees. Every minute of the working day a National Cash Register is finished and Canadian Government Railways.

The Government Railway exhibit in the federal government building continues to attract many people. The illuminated map is a fine feature, as it is both novel and instructive. The show the opportunities that exist in the eastern provinces for sportmen, and it is worthy of remark that it is now nearing the season for big game hunting. In this connection any one interested will be able to obtain information regarding guides etc., from the representatives in charge of the exhibit.

Martin-Orme Pianos and Players.

Only four feet three inches in height, but equal in power and quality of tone to the largest instruments, is the small player to which this firm are calling special attention this year. It contains every modern improvement.

Bird's Dining Hall.

When trying to find where you will eat, just turn to Bird's Dining Hall, situated in a convenient spot back of the grand stand, and don't hesitate to go in and try their 35c full course meal. In both their private hall at 55c and the 25c space they will satisfy you as to food and service. To satisfy is their motto.

Christie, Brown Biscuits.

Christie, Brown and Company, whose exhibit is to be found in the manufacturers' building this year, does not lose its attractive quality as the first

Maple Products.

Home candy-makers should not fail to visit the exhibit of Maples, Limited, this year. One may make delicious sweets, but Maples can give hints to improve, and show how with their products, tasties will come out of the pan 50 per cent. more dainty and delicious.

"Can-ice," a candy icing made from pure crystal granulated sugar and of the finest material, is one of the lines Maples, Limited, are at present pushing thru the retail stores. Any flavor or color in candy may be produced by the use of this product.

Fast-brooding household words in every family are "Lion Brand," "Honey Butter," "Maple Cream" Cheese, "Old Time" Maple Syrup and "Sweet Sixteen" Golden Syrup. All these specialties produced by the Maples, Limited, method.

No exhibition visitor should leave the grounds without first seeing what products of Maples, Limited, can do. One of their neat little pamphlets illustrating their specialties and advantages to be obtained by using "Maple" products.

week of the fair draws to a close. This is largely due to the fact that the exhibit is designed to demonstrate the purity and worth of the Christie food products rather than to emphasize any of the moment.

Nothing could be more tempting to the housewife with up-to-date ideas, than the sight of fruit cake studded with the most tasty fruits exhibited under glass. Beautiful as are the decorations with which the exhibit abounds, it is the goods which look best to the average Exhibition visitor.

Nasmith's Dining Hall. A visit to the spacious and attractive dining hall of the Nasmith Company, at the east end of the grand stand, will once meet with the visitor not thinking of the 50c which they paid for the excellent full course meal, but thinking of the splendid food accomodation they received.

The spacious hall will be found especially attractive and the cleanliness of the tables and the neatly attired waitresses for which the company is noted, will once meet with the visitor's approval. There is also an up-to-date grill room in the extreme west end of the stand.

The Chapman Double Ball Bearing Company Limited

This company has a most interesting and practical exhibit in the centre aisle of the machinery hall. In addition to the line shafting driving the machinery being equipped with the Chapman double ball-bearings, they have testing machines showing the saving in power effected by the use of their ball bearings over the ordinary rabbit journals. This should interest the factory manager and superintendent, who are aiming at economy in their plant. They are also exhibiting a full line of ball bearings for line shafting from six-inch jack shaft bearing that will transmit 500 horse-power driven by a spool of thread, which is, indeed, wonderful to the small power table-bearing for mill, ball-bearing truck wheels and various lines and sizes of ball-bearings, which, as stated, makes a very attractive exhibit.

But the practical or economical side of it is where it shines, and in this connection it may be well to note what a few of the users have to say: For year Oct. 1, 1910, to Sept. 30, 1911, our coal, duty and freight, was $4,238 24. For year Oct. 1, 1911, to Sept. 30, 1912, our coal, duty and freight, was $3,115 07. This was first year of ball-bearing showing a saving of $1,123.17, exclusive of maintenance.

Mr. Ashcraft of the Union Stock Yards, and Mr. T. Williamson of The World, have consented to supervise the inspection of the cards deposited in the selection of the winners.

Special Exhibit of Mammoth Cattle. A visit to the fair is not complete without seeing Murray's Big Living Monsters, the largest cattle in the world. These big animals are on view in a separate tent, and stand in regal prominence just opposite the new stock sheds, and on the left side of the street, running north from the grand stand.

An admission fee of 10 cents is charged, but is well worth the investment. This charge is made on account of the enormous expense entailed in bringing them to the fair. The management have announced that $100 in money will be presented to the one who succeeds nearest to the correct combined weight of the four mammoths.

Mr. Ashcraft of the Union Stock Yards, and Mr. T. Williamson of The World, have consented to supervise the inspection of the cards deposited in the selection of the winners.

An Interesting Exhibit and Where to Find it

DON'T wander around the Exhibition aimlessly. Make your visit profitable. Follow this plan and see the Modern Steel Barn. This exhibit shows the class of barns which are fast taking the place of the old fashioned wooden ones on account of their usefulness, being Fire and Weather proof, and having a greater storing capacity. Don't fail to examine it.

An Invitation

Two blocks from the Exhibition Grounds, at the corner of King and Dufferin streets, you will find our new factory. The buildings have a floor space of 160,000 square feet, and the plant will be the most modern of its kind on the continent. The plant is open to all visitors who wish to inspect it.

Architects, Builders and Contractors

We hope that you will take advantage of this opportunity to become better acquainted with our extensive line of fire-proofing products. Special representatives will look after you and help in every way to make your visit enjoyable and profitable. Our exhibit includes many handsome new products. Underwriters' Hollow Steel Interior Trim, Bronze, Copper and Iron-covered Interior Trim, Exterior Bronze and Copper-covered Window Frames and Sash. Folding and Revolving Doors.

We trust that you will all examine our new factory and exhibits at King and Dufferin streets and follow the above plan to see the Modern Steel Barn.
